GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ENGLAND

Contributed by G. Andrews Moriarty, Jr., A.M., LL.B., of Newport, R. I., and communicated by the Committee on English Research

From De Banco Rolls, Close Rolls, and Patent Rolls*

Thomas Gyffard, by William Rokesburgh, his guardian, claims against John Stokes and Isabel his wife the manor of Heliden, with appurtenances, which Robert, late parson of the church of Somerton, and Richard Malet, chaplain, gave to John Gyffard of Twyford, Knight, and Lucy his wife for the lives of the same John and Lucy, and after the deaths of the same John and Lucy the same manor was to remain to Thomas, son of the said John, and Elizabeth his wife, and after the deaths of John, Lucy, Thomas, son of John, and Elizabeth, and of Roger, son and heir of the same Thomas, son of John, the same ought to descend to Thomas Gyffard aforesaid, son and heir of the said Roger. And the same John Gyffard and Lucy were seised thereof by the same grant in the time of Edward III, and after their deaths the same remained to Thomas, son of John, and Elizabeth his wife, and they were thereof seised, Elizabeth as tenant, and Thomas, son of John, as of fee and right in the time of Edward III. And from the same Thomas, son of John, after Elizabeth's death, the right descended to Roger, as his son and heir, and from him to Thomas, who now claims, as his son and heir. And thereof produces suit.

And John Stokes and Isabel, by William Salman, their attorney, come and cannot deny the same.

Therefore it is agreed that the aforesaid Thomas Giffard recover his seisin aganist John Stokes and Isabel of the aforesaid manor, and the said John Stokes and Isabel in mercy, etc. (De Banco Rolls, Northamptonshire, Trinity Term, 3 Henry V [1415], 618, m. 317.)

For Thomas Chaumbre and others. John Stokes of Twyford, co. Bucks, and Thomas Giffard of Twyford, Esq., acknowledge to owe Thomas Chaumbre, Esq., William Vaux, Esq., and Thomas Tresham £200, payable to them at Easter next following; if not paid, to be levied from their lands and tenements in the said county and elsewhere. Given at Westminster, 5 February [1429/30].

*Preserved in the Public Record Office, London.

The condition of this bond is such that if Alianora, daughter of William Vaux, Esq., deceased, shall have sufficient estate for the term of her life of the manors of Astewell and Helydon, in co. Northants, and of 2 carucates of land, with appurtenances, in Water Stratford, Bucks, together with all lands, rents, reversions, and services which late were Roger Giffard's in the vills and fields of Astewell, Helydon, and Water Stratford, before the Feast of Easter next following the date of this bond, so that it shall be lawful for the said Alianora to make waste in the said manors, lands, and tenements and every parcel of the same without impeachment, vexation, or molestation whatsoever during her life, then this bond shall be void and of no effect. (Close Rolls, 8 Henry VI [1429–30], 280, m. 13 dorso.)

Release, dated 1 September, 9 Henry VI [1430], by THOMAS GIFFARD, son and heir of Roger Giffard, to John Stokys and Isabel, now his wife, formerly the wife of said Roger, of the manor of Twyford, in co. Bucks, and Bekbroke and Newnton, co. Oxford, which William Stretele and William Kyng conveyed to Roger Giffard aforesaid, now deceased, and the said Isabel, then his wife, and their issue, with remainder to the right heirs of the said Roger. (Close Rolls, 9 Henry VI [1430–31], 281, m. 14 dorso.)

Grant to NICHOLAS GIFFORD of Duston, co. Northants, Gent., he having paid £297. 14s. into the hands of the treasurer of the Court of Augmentations, of the house and site of the late monastery of St. James by Northampton, co. Northants, now dissolved, and of the grove called the Great Grove, containing about 10 acres, in a street called St. James End, in the parish of Duston by Northampton, late belonging to the said monastery, and of the water mill, houses, stables, orchards, gardens, etc., within the said site, and all pastures, meadows, and lands called Dovehouse Close, Oxclesae, Calves' Close, and the Geldyng Close, containing about 19 acres, 1 rood, and 16 perches, lying in the parish of Duston, and the 3 spinneys containing about 1 acre, 3 roods, 16 perches in Duston, whereof two lie next the North Gate of the said monastery and the other on the east of the great orchard of the said monastery, and all the meadow, containing about 38 acres, in the common field of Duston, and the field called Abbot's Meadow in Duston, and all the lands, about 152 acres, in the common fields of Duston, all belonging to the said monastery, as well as the trees, but excepting any lead, to hold as freely and fully as the late Abbot.

Whereas William Harryetts als Polle has the curtilage called the Feyre Yard within the said site, together with the tolls and other profits of the fair called St. James Fair, for the term of his life, the King grants the reversion of the same, after William Harryetts's death, to the said Nicholas Gifford.

The said house and site and the messuages, lands, fairs, etc., are of the clear yearly value of £16. 6s. 8d., and the same are granted to Nicholas Gifford, his heirs and assigns, for ever, to hold of the King in chief by the service of the fortieth part of a knight's fee and the yearly rental of 32s. 8d. Dated 12 September, 37 Henry VIII [1545]. (Patent Rolls, 37 Henry VIII [1545–46], part 1, no. 768, m. 34.)

FROM PROBATE RECORDS

The Will of THOMAS GEFFORD, dated 10 October 1511. To be buried in the parish church of Twyford [co. Bucks]. To Jane, my wife. I charge my son upon my blessing to come home and take his wife unto him. Thomas Langston and Richard Samwell to make my daughter Mary sure of her jointure. Residuary legatees: Jayne, my wife, Thomas Langston, and Richard Samwell, and they are to be my executors. Proved 18 November 1511 by Thomas Friser, proctor for Joan, the relict and executrix named in the will. (P.C.C., Fettiplace, 4.) [For longer abstract of this will see REGISTER, vol. 71, page 170.]

The Will of ROGER GYFFORDE of Mydle Cleydon, co. Bucks, Esq., dated 24 September 1538. To be buried in the parish church of All Saints in Mydle Cleydon. Whereas I hold the manor of Mydle Cleydon, with appurtenances, in the county of Bucks, of Raufe Verney of Penley in the county of Hertford, Esq., by his deed dated 14 November, 27 Henry VIII [1535], for the term of ninety-five years yet to come, which lease I purchased for the living of Mary, my wife, if she overlive me, and for my own natural sons, I will and bequeath said lease to George Gyfforde, my second son, to John Gyfforde, my eldest son, to Rauffe Gyfforde, my third son, to William Gyfforde, my fourth son, and to Nycholas Gyfforde, my youngest son, provided that the manner of occupation of said manor shall be observed as herein expressed: my son George solely to have the occupation of said farm for the term of forty-one years; but if said George die during the forty-one years, said grant is then to cease. Said George is to pay all rents and charges due by virtue of said lease, during his occupation thereof, and is also to pay my said son John Gyfforde during his occupation of said lease, at the two usual terms of the year, £20 yearly, and if said John die, said George shall pay £20 yearly, equally divided among his brethren. After the decease of said George said John Gyfforde shall have the occupation of said farm of Cleydon during the term of forty-one years; or if said George's term of forty-one years expires, said John shall hold the lease for forty-one years; and for lack of him the next brother in age, and so the remainder to follow to my other sons until the last of my said sons; and when my last son surviving shall die, then any years remaining shall be granted by him to the heir male of my eldest son John, to have and to hold to him, his heirs and assigns, the residue of years yet to come. All my other leases I will to my son George Gyfforde, to be ordered in like manner as the lease of the aforesaid manor of Cleydon. If I have not, at the time of my decease, paid the £100 I promised my son Nycholas Gyforde, then my executors shall pay said Nycholas £100 within one year of my decease. My said son George shall give to my said wife Mary the annuity of 100 markes [?] and meat and drink for her and her maid. To my son John Gyfford £100. I forgive my son George his debt of £220, he paying within thirteen months after my death to my son William Gyfforde £40 and to my son Nycholas £40. I freely forgive my son Rauffe Gyfforde the £35 he oweth me. Residuary legatee: my wife Mary. Executors: my wife Mary and my sons John Gyfforde, George, Rauffe, William, and Nycholas. I set my seal to this my last will and testament this 28 April, 34 Henry VIII [1542].

Bequests of household goods or money to my son John Gifforde, my son George, every other of my sons, my godson Roger (my son John Gifforde's son), my godson Roger (my son Rauffe Gifforde's son), my godson Thomas (my son George's son), my daughter Dawnsty, my sister Fongan, and my brother Robert Gyfforde, and mention of my wife Mary Gifforde.

[Signed] 2 December, 34 Henry VIII [1542], my mother Mary Gyfforde, William Smythe, John Mason, and Elyn Gyfforde being then present, on the Saturday in the morning, per me, George Gyfford, as commanded by my father, the said Roger, on the day and year last stated. Proved 8 February 1543/4 by Robert Alen, notary public, proctor for the relict, John Gyfford, George Gyfford, Rafe Gyfford, William Gyfford, and Nicholas Gyfford, the executors named, etc. (P.C.C., Pynnyng, 2.) [For longer abstract of this will see REGISTER, vol. 71, pages 170–171.]

The Will of JOHN GYFFORDE of Hillesdon, co. Bucks, Esq., dated 3 December 1545. To be buried in Hillesdon churchyard. To my three sons,

Roger, John, and Jerrard Gifford, and my two daughters, Anne and Mary Gifford, my lease of the farm of Sellesworth, to take the profits for six years, after which I bequeath the same to my eldest son in tail male, with contingent remainders to my second son Roger, my son John, my son Jerard in tail male, the eldest son of my brother George Gyfford, the eldest son of my brother Nicholas Gifford, the eldest son of my brother Ralph Gifford in tail male, and my right heirs. To my wife Dorothy the farm of the parsonage of Hillesdon and £20 a year; after her death the same to my second son. Executors: my wife Dorothy and my eldest and my second sons. Overseers: my cousin John Arden and Edward Gyfford. [Signed] John Gifford. [No witnesses.] Proved 19 November 1547 by the relict and William Gifford, the eldest son, with power reserved to Roger, the second son, when he shall apply for the same. (P. C. C., Alen, 49.)

The Will of Agnes Gyfford of St. James near Northampton, widow, dated 18 August 1581. To be buried in the chancel of the parish church of Duston, in said county of Northampton, on the south side of the grave of my husband, Nicholas Gyfford, Gent., if it do please God I depart this life in the parish of Duston. As to the order of my funeral I do refer to the discretion of Roger Gyfford, Gent., my son, whom I make sole executor of this my last will and testament. To the poor of Duston 3s. 4d. To the poor of Upton 6s. 8d. To the poor of Dallington 6s. 8d. To every poor household in St. James End 4d. To poor inhabitants of Northampton 10s. To the prisoners in the Castle and in the town gaol 10s. To the Vicar of Duston 10s. To every servant my son Roger shall happen to have at the time of my death 12d. To my daughter Amy Gyfford, my son Roger's wife, 40s. to make a memorial ring, my best velvet hat, and my cloth riding hood. To the children of my said son Roger Gyfford: to ffrauncis Gyfford, his son and heir, my mawdlyn boxx of sylver white; to Thomas Gyfford, his second son, 20s.; to Nicholas Gyfford, his third son, my best standing bedstead with feather bed, bolster, 2 pillows and a pair of blankets, a white coverlet and my best coverlet, 2 pairs of my best sheets, 2 pairs best pillowbeares, 2 chamber towels with little white work, a long coffer, a long cushion, a window cloth of old silk, and the great press standing in my chamber, to be given him at the age of twenty-one years, and if he die before that age, the above legacy shall go to his sister Marie Gyfford; to the said Marie Gyfford 20s.; to George Gyfford, son of my said son Roger Gyfford, 20s. To my said son Roger Gyffard the use of 3 bowls of sylver and 5 sylver spoons for his natural life, and on his death I will that they remain to his next heir male, and so from heir male to heir male. Whereas my son-in-law Hugh Sergent standeth bound to me in obligation of 20 marks, with condition he pay £10 unto such person or persons as I shall by my last will or other writing appoint, I bequeath 40s. thereof to my son Thomas Colwell, to make a ring, and if he die before me, then to my nephew Thomas Colwell; to my daughter Barbara Colwell 20s. of the said £10, to make a ring; to my son George Gyfford 40s., to make a ring; to my daughter Anne Gyfford, his wife, 20s., to make a ring; to his sons: to Richard Gyfford 20s., to Roger Gyfford 20s., and to Edward Gyfford 20s.; the 40s. residue of the £10 I give to Gerves Morton, my son-in-law, to buy him a mare. To my son Thomas Colwell the use of 1 goblet of silver which my father gave me, for life, and on his death it is to remain to Richard Colwell, his son, and then from next male heir to next male heir. To my son Thomas Colwell 3 silver spoons for life, and on his death they are to be divided between his sons, Richard, John, and Thomas. To Lucy Colwell my best petticoat and 40s. Certain sheep I gave to Thomas Colwell, my son, as the beginning of a stock to be divided among his children, I will my said executor do see the same divided among the said children, Richard Colwell, John Colwell, Thomas Colwell, Lucye Colwell, Tecla Colwell, Marie Colwell, and Agnes Colwell. To the said Thomas Colwell a gold piece of 20s. To my son George Gyfford the use of 1 silver salt and 6 silver spoons for life, to remain to his next heir male on his decease, and so from heir male to heir male, and 2 angels. To my daughter Margrett Sargeant my ring with the Turk's stone, half my linen wearing apparel and the chest wherein it lieth, my best cloth gown caped with velvet, and my cloke, safegarde, and skarff. The other half of my linen wearing apparel I give to the daughters of my daughter Margrett, to be divided between them at her discretion, saving that I will out of my said linen wearing apparel Elizabeth Edwards and Agnes Sergeant shall have each of them one of my best smocks, all my fine neckerchers made and unmade, and 4 pairs of cuffes, except my third best smock, my best kercher and neckkercher of holland, and 1 pair of cuffes that I bequeathed to Elizabeth Allyne. To Elizabeth Edwards my cloth gowne furred and my second best kirtle. To my son-in-law Thomas Waldram 20s., for a ring. To my daughter Marie Waldram, his wife, my best stuff gown, my best kirtle, and my french hood. Whereas my said son-in-law Gervis Morton has already had of me £3. 6s. 8d. for a stock of sheep to benefit his children, I require my said executor to see such flock be continued to such time as the said children come to the age of twenty-one or be married. To my maid my working-daie petticoat, my working-day kirtle, one smock, and one of my working-daie neckerchers. Residuary legatee and executor: my son Roger Gyfford. [No witnesses.] Proved 28 March 1584 by the executor named in the will.

I, Agnes Gyfford of St. James nigh Northampton, wydow, commonly called Anne Gyfford, ordain this my last will and testament concerning the disposition of such lands and hereditaments as I am seized of in fee simple, in manner following:

One messuage and backsyde, with appurtenances, lying in St. James End, nigh Northampton, having the street called Harper Street on the north and my purchased close called Abbot's Close on the south and west, which said messuage I purchased of Roger Carrell, Gent. And the Abbott's Close lying in St. James End aforesaid, having the highway to Duston on the east side and a close now Frauncis Samwell's, Gent., and Duston Common Meade on the south and a close called the Gridiron Close on the west, which I purchased of Edward Watson and Henry Herdson, Gent. And am likewise seised in fee of 2 parcels of pasture lying in St. James, one piece on the east side by the late Church of St. Margrett's in St. James and the other on the west side of the churchyard, with 2 pieces I bought from Roger Carrell.

My will is that George Gyffard, my son, shall have all and single the said messuage and backside, Abbott's Close, and 2 parcels of pasture, with all premises and appurtenances thereto belonging, for and during his life, and on his death they shall remain to such person as is his wife, and on her death to the next heir male of the said George, and in default of such issue to Thomas Colwell, my son, and Barbary Colwell, his wife, to them and their heirs male, and in default of such issue to Roger Gyfford, my son, and to his heirs male, and in default of such issue to the right heirs of me, Agnes Gyfford, for ever.

In witness whereof I do set my hand and seal the 16th January 1569.

Proved 28 March 1584 by Roger Gyfford, the executor named in the will. (Northampton Wills, Book V, 1578–1589, pages 138 et seq.)

The nuncupative Will of Roger Giffarde of St. James near Northampton, declared 26 September 1591.

I have made no will and therefore I pray you that are present to bear witness that this is my last will and testament:

To divide my goods among my children, they would be very small amongst them; therefore my will is my wife shall have all my goods to the use and benefit of herself and my children towards her living, and in consideration she shall be good to her poor children and mine. Also my will is that she shall have two parts of my lands, and the third part must descend to my son ffrauncis according to the course of law, which I cannot give from him. Also, as there are some debts between my brothers George Giffarde, Thomas Colwell, and Hughe Sargiant, and myself, my will is to forgive them all and any, though the debt that my brother Colewell oweth me "was a part of thy legacy given to thee by thy good father, yet I pray thee forgive it him for my sake."

This was the last will which Roger Giffarde of St. James in the county of Northampton hath declared the 26th of September 1591, in the presence of the parties hereunder specified, viz., Amye Giffarde, ffrauncis Giffarde, George Giffarde, John Brocke.

Commission to administer the goods of the deceased was granted 29 October 1591 to Amye, relict of the deceased, in the person of William Paynter, notary public and procurator for the said Amye. (Northampton Wills, Book Y, 1591–1594, page 2.)

To my son James Maister and the heirs of his body lawfully begotten all that manor of Est Langdon, co. Kent, with all the lands, etc., thereto belonging. If James, my son, die without heirs, said manor of Est Langdon, with all lands, etc., shall remain to John Maister, my son, and his heirs, and for lack of such issue to the heirs of me, John Maister, and Elizabeth, my wife. To James Maister, my son, my mershe called Bexley Lees and the mersh called the Harp thereto adjoining. My friends Thomas Colwell, William Payne, Robert Thompson, and Thomas Severne, by an indenture made by me, shall receive the rents, profits, etc., during the minority of James, my son, until he reach the age of twenty-one years, and shall pay to my wife Elizabeth £10 for her own use, and also for every of the children of me and said Elizabeth £10 during her widowhood for the bringing up of said children, the residue of such issues to be accounted for by said four trustees when said children or the survivors of them attain the age of twenty-one years or day of marriage. If Elizabeth, my wife, marry again, she shall have no part of said issues, but said Thomas Colwell, my executor, shall have £4 yearly for his pains and £10 yearly for the finding of schooling, meat and drink, and apparell for each child. Concerning my little piece of ground at the Mayden Towre, my executors shall receive the yearly rents thereof until my son James come to the age of twenty-one years, employing the same yearly in buying wood to be distributed among the poor in the town of Sandwich; and when said James shall attain the age of twenty-one years, I will the said land to him and his heirs for ever, providing yearly for ever four loads of wood for distribution to the poor of Sandwiche.

Touching the disposition of my plate: To Thomas Maister, my son, a goblett, etc. To Peter Maister, my son, a goblet, etc. To Agnes Gifforde, my daughter, a goblet of silver, partly gilt, a pot of silver, partly gilt, and four silver spoons. The residue of my plate shall be divided between my wife and the children of me and her.

[Witnesses named.] Proved 14 June 1559 by Thomas Colwell and Elizabeth Maister, in the person of said Thomas Colwell, the executor named in the will. (P.C.C., Chaynay, 27.) [For longer abstract of this will see REGISTER, vol. 71, pages 171–173.]

COL. JOHN BROWN'S EXPEDITION AGAINST TICONDEROGA AND DIAMOND ISLAND, 1777

Communicated by Capt. WILLIAM BUTLER CLARKE of Belmont, Mass.

To the REGISTER of April 1872 (vol. 26, pages 147–152) Rev. B. F. DeCosta communicated an article entitled "The Fight at Diamond Island," in which he gave British accounts of the operations of Col. John Brown's command against Ticonderoga and Diamond Island in Sept. 1777 and also the text of two letters from Colonel Brown to General Lincoln describing his attack on these posts. Other letters relating to this expedition from Colonel Brown to General Lincoln and other officers and also letters from General Lincoln to Colonel Brown have been for several years in the possession of the contributor of the present article, who is a great-great-grandson of Colonel Brown, and they are given below, together with the text of the two letters from Colonel Brown which appeared in the REGISTER in 1872, the convenience of having all these letters in print in one place justifying the reprinting of the two previously published. In his letter of 4 Oct. 1777 (vide infra) Colonel Brown states that he received orders from General Lincoln to make this expedition on 13 Sept. of that year, and the first letter printed below, dated on the day on which he received his orders, shows him already on the march.*

Dear Sir

I find by my march thus far, that I shall be in Castletown tomorrow by 10 oclock P M. Should I fail of the Pork by way of Skeenbr, I must be detained perhaps the whole Day at Castletown, which retard my march that time butt, hope that the Cattle may be fowarded tomorrow morning as soon as possible as you know that half a Days detention this side the Bay, may be the Means of detaining me an Whole Day the other side and a consequent facture [sic] in the whole opperation.

I have been favoured with good success in my Attempts upon the Enemy this way, as I heartily wish you may in your Department on the Mount. I took possession of the Landing here this Morning, & the Mills, & a block house near them, & Mount Defiance, as also the old french Lines on Ticonderoga side; & have sent in a flagg & demanded the immediate surrender of Ticonderoga & Mount Independence. I have not as yet heared what Success you may have had. The Number of Prisoners taken at these several places is as follows 12 British Commissioned officers viz 2 Captns. 7 Lieut. 2 Ensigns. 1 Commissary. Non Commissioned officers 1 Gentleman & privates 143 British. 119 Canadians. 18 Artificers, & retook more than 100 of our own Men total. 293. exclusive of our own Prisoners 150 Batteaus below the falls in Lake Champlain fell into my hands, as also 50 above the falls including 17 Gun Boats, & 1 armed Sloop. Our loss of Men in these several Actions is not more than 3 or 4 killed & 5 wounded the Enemys Loss is less still. I have taken Arms perhaps equal to the Number of Prisoners, & some Cannon & Ammunition. Your spirited Exertions will much facilitate my opperations on this side, as mine may be of Service to you on the other side. I am not without hope of those places being speedily in our possesion. If Recruits should not come in to the Enemy soon, I think there is some probability of so agreeable an Event. I am informed by an officer of ours retaken that a Rinforcemnt from Canada are on their Way. You will put wt. weight to this you think proper, I am sending of the Prisoners as fast as possible. have recved no Express from you.

Sir,

With great fatigue after marching all last night I arrived at this place at the break of day, and after the best disposition of the men, I could make, immediately began the attack, and in a few minutes, carried the place. I then without any loss of time detatched a considerable part of my men to the mills, where a greater number of the enemy were posted, who also were soon made prisoners, a small number of whom having taken possession of a block house in that Vicinity were with more difficulty bro't to submission; but at the sight of a Cannon they surrendered. during this season of success, Mount Defiance also fell into our hands. I have taken possession of the old french lines at Ticonderoga, and have sent a flag demanding the surrender of Ty: and mount independence in strong and peremptory terms. I have had as yet no information of the event of Colo. Johnsons attack on the mount. My loss of men in these several actions are not more than 3 or 4 killed and 5 wounded. the enemy's loss: is less. I find myself in possession of 293 prisoners. Vizt 2 captains, 9 subs. 2 Commissaries. non Commissioned officers and privates 143. British 119 Canadians, 18 artificers and retook more than 100 of our men. total 293, exclusive of the prisoners retaken.—The watercraft I have taken, is 150 batteaus below the falls on lake Champlain 50 above the falls including 17 gun boats and one armed sloop. arms equal to the number of prisoners. Some ammunition and many other things which I cannot now ascertain. I must not forget to mention a few Cannon which may be of great service to us. Tho: my success has hitherto answered my most sanguine expectations, I cannot promise myself great things, the events of war being so dubious in their nature, but shall do my best to distress the enemy all in my power, having regard to my retreat—There is but a small quantity of provisions at this place which I think will necessitate my retreat in case we do not carry Ty and independence—I hope you will use your utmost endeavor to give me assistance should I need in crossing the lake &c—The enemy but a very small force at fort George. Their boats are on an island about 14 miles from this guarded by six companies, having artillery—I have much fear with respect to the prisoners, being obliged to send them under a small guard—I am well informed that considerable reinforcements is hourly expected at the lake under command of Sir John Johnson—This minute received Genl. Powals answer to my demand in these words, "The garrison intrusted to my charge I shall defend to the last." Indeed I have little hopes of putting him to the necessity of giving it up unless by the force under Colonel Johnson.

Dear Genl.

I have nothing Material to advise you this Morning have kept up a canonade from within the Lines on Ty, all Night have not heard this Morning whether to any purpose. It is most certainly out of my Power to cast the Enemy from that place, should they chuse to keep it, without too great loss of Men.

I have in Contemplation to cross the Bay this Night to Independence, and in conjunction with Genl. Warner attack the post, but this depends on

*This letter is reprinted from Register, vol. 26, p. 150, but the date, printed there as "thursday Sep 10th 1777," has been changed here to "thursday Sep 18th 1777," since it is clear from Gen. Burgoyne's statement (ib., vol. 26, p. 149) and from other letters printed in the present article that "Sep 18th" is the correct date and that the reading "Sep 10th" was due to an error, probably either of the copyist or of the printer. The letter is said (ib., vol. 26, p. 150) to have been taken from the Gates Papers, p. 194. Cf. Colonel Brown's letter of 4 Oct. 1777 to General ———, infra, p. 292.

certain Contingencies—I have a large Quantity of Plunder on hand particularly of Cloathing which I have taken out of the thereabouts [?] under Ty. Should therefore wish for a reinforcement that it might be in my Power to move [?] it round. I think of sending it in Boats up to the lake George some Distance, by which Means it may be transported across to Defiance [?] fort, as it will be of great service to the Army—I have before the attack for the Incouragemt. of the Men, given them all the Plunder—this is going beyond the Letter of the Law, but as it had been so often superceeded [?] in this way thought myself warranted and hope my ingagemts. may be confirmed—

I recved yours of Yesterday by Mr. Potter. My Letter of Yesterd and Mr. Potters information will give you my Situation

I know of nothing new hapned since last Night we have kept up a fire from within the French Lines at Ty on the Mnt most of the Night, know of no Material Consequence which has hapned, the Enemy Yesterday seemed to be about to abandon Ty whether they will do it or not cant say. 'tis out of my Power to force them to do it.

I look on myself not in the best Situation being liable to be attacked—by way of both Lakes, but shall not quit the ground untill such an Event shall happen. I mean to examine the Situation of the Enemy this Morning, and as I understand you have in Contemplation an Attack by way of Storm on Independence shall before night give you my oppinion on the propriety of such a Measure together with the Assistance you are to expect from me. Dear Genl.

Have not heard any thing from you this Several Days, Have reason to fear that our Communication is interupted. I am this moment informd by two Men express from the Officer commanding at the Narrows that at noon Yesterday he had received no intiligence from me—The Prisoners must have arrived at that Place before this—Have taken about 20 Prisoners since the First attack in three Boats from Fort George—I this Minute am advised that a large Number of tracks have been discovered this side of Crownpoint, perhaps to indeavour to surprise us, shall be better informed of this Matter very soon the Boats mentioned in my Letter of yesterday have fallen into my hands—Have this Morning sent off 160 Prisoners Shall indeavour to cross them to Genl Warner I have still on hand about 25 sick prisoners not able to be removed, while I am writing Express arrives from Genl. Warner with your advice for us to retreat by order Genl. Gates this is impracticable at present without the loss of Many Prisoners and a vast Quantity of Stores. I wrote you in my last that I should attack Ty at all Events, but on more Mature consideration think that the advantages of carying that Post with Independence will not compensate for the probible loss altho I am certain of carrying the Posts, indeed I begin to be censured by Officers and Men for not suffering them to make the attempt.

By intelligence from up the Lake I am sure that I shall have it in my Power to command this Lake. the Enemy have a Post at Dimond Islelandt [?] consisting of 3 Companies of German Troops, and almost all the Boats in the lake exclusive of those I have taken they have but little Provision and cannot be reinforced or supplyed from this Quarter Shall indeavour to set out tomorrow morning with a small Sloop Mounting 3 Carriage Guns 7 pounds. one Gun Boat with one Brass 18 Do. in her Bow and one other Boat Mounting one 7 Do. and about 400 Men in Boats I can Retreat much easier from 20 Miles up the Lake then from this Place do not mean however to abandon this Place unless necessitated to do it untill the Event of this Expedition is known—

I must not omit doing Justice to the Officers and Soldiers under my Command in the late attack never were Men more furious, and even fool hardy in the instance of attacking the Block house by which Means I lost several Men. Capt. Ebr. Allin of the Vermont Rangers with his Compy alone attacked mount Defiance supported by double his Number and previously advertized by my attack at this Place, and paraded on the top of the Mount on which was a Block House about half finished and every other advantage he ascended the precipice and drove them in 6 Minutes killing a Number and took 21 Prisoners Cannon &c &c the remainder got headlong down the mountain. Desire you by all Means to give me every Piece of Inteligence—

Wishing you Success

I this minute arrived at this place by the way of Fort Ann, was induced to take this rout on ac^t of my Ignorance of the situation of every part of the continental Army—

On the 22 inst at 4 o'clk P.M. I set sail from the north end Lake George with 20 sail of Boats three of which were armed, Viz one small sloop mounting 3 guns. and 2 British Gun Boats having on Board the whole about 420 Men officers included with a Determined resolution to attack Diamond Island which lies within 5 miles Fort George at the break of Day the next Morning, but a very heavy storm coming on prevented—I arrived Sabbath Day point abt midnight where I tarried all night, during which time I [sic] small Boat in the fleet taken the Day before coming from Fort George, conducted by one Ferry lately a sutler in our army, I put Ferry on his Parole, but in the night he found Means to escape with his Boat, and informed the Enemy of our approach, on the 23d I advanced as far as 12 Mile Island, the Wind continuing too high for an attack I suspended it untill the Morning of the 24th at 9 oclock at which Time I advanced with the 3 armed Boats in front and the other Boats, I ordered to wing to the Right and left of Island to attempt a landing if practicable, and to support the Gun Boats in case they should need assistance, I was induced to make this experiment to find the strength of the Island as also to carry it if practicable—the enemy gave me the first fire which I returned in good earnest, and advanced as nigh as I thought prudent, I soon found that the enemy had been advertised of our approach and well prepared for our reception having a great number of cannon well mounted with good Breast Works, I however approached within a small Distance giving the Enemy as hot a fire as in my Power, untill the sloop was hulled between wind and Water and obliged to toe her off and one of the boats so damaged as I was obliged to quit her in the action. I had two men killed two Mortally wounded and several others wounded in such Manner as I was obliged to leave them under the Care of the Inhabitants, who I had taken Prisoners giving them a sufficient reward for their services.

I Run my Boats up a Bay a considerable distance and burnt them with all the Baggage that was not portable—The Enemy have on Diamond Island as near as could be collected are about three hundred, and about 40 at Fort George with orders if they are attacked to retreat to the Island—Genl Borgoine has about 4 Weeks Provision with his army and no more, he is determined to cut his Road through to Albany at all events, for this

I have the last authority, still I think him under a small mistake—Most of the Horses and Cattle taken at Ty and thereabouts were left in the Woods. Genl Warner has put out a party in quest of them.

NB You may Depend on it that after the British Army were supply with six Weeks provision which was two weeks from the Communication between Lake George and Fort Edward was ordered by Genl. Burgoine to be stor'd and no passes given—

The attack on the Island continued with interruption 2 Hours.

Dear Colonel,

I think it unnecessary for you to seal my letter to General Warner it will be best to give it to him open—

You will be so good when you arrive at Pawlet as to send a party of men consisting of two or three hundred with ten or twelve days provision (the bread they can carry the beef may be on foot) between Fort Edward and Fort George in order to cut off all communication between these posts and to harrass and distress the enemy you will appoint some person of known bravery, ability and experience to command them if there should not be a number sufficient at Pawlet you will please to send to General Bailey at Manchester requesting such aid from the militia there as you may need. if you should fail of succour there, you will send to the commanding officer at white creek for it. I will replace them by troops from Falls mils.—You will please to give the party instructions to cut off all communication between Fort Edward and Fort George. If in their power, prevent any supplies going to the enemy to harrass and distress them and report to General Gates every piece of information of importance which may come to their knowledge—

I am sorry to give you this trouble but I know not how to avoid it and prosecute the plan agreed on

You promised no more to the troops when you assured them that they should

Dear Sir

This Minute received your favr of this Day Am sorry you did not hint in your letter the oppinion of Genl. Gates with regard to the Plunder, as possibly that might have given satisfaction could wish you would do it the first Express.

Shall execute your Orders respecting the Party to be put between Fort Edward & Lake George. Whitcomb or Wirt must have the Command I think your Scouts ought to be advertized of this party least, they annoy each other—

I have confered with Genl. Fellows with Regard to the Berkshire Militia, it was almost impossible to retain them at any rate, the Genl. therefore with advice of the Officers of his Brigade thought it most advisable to limit the time for those Militia as it seemed they would consent to tarry [?] Ten Days, although it was apparent they would all desist, they have therfore mostly agreed to tarry [?] the Ten Days—Genl. Fellows desired me to advertise you of this Matter, hope you will make up of the Militia before that time is expired—

Wishing you the greatest Success Am respectfully

Dear Colo.

I forgot in my last to request you to order the commissary at Pawlet to make a return of the stores there which he will do and send it by the bearer.

You will mention to General Warner if you think proper that General Gates is of opinion that the party with you who took the plunder hath the sole right to it.

I am dear Sir

[Colonel Brown to General ———*]

Pawlet October 4th 1777

Dear General

Permit me to present you the Continental Standard retaken at Ticonderoga on the 18th Ult. Please to Present my Compliments to those Gentlemen who in their hurry slipt off and forgot them,—hope never to have the like Occasion to present Them or your Honour with our own Colours; Should have done myself the honour to make this Presentation in Person when I had the honour of waiting on You, but conceived the Colours to have belonged to an armed Vessel until this Minute when upon Opening them find they are the Continental Standard, hope they may be flourished in your Camp and soon replaced in Ticonderoga

Agreeable to your desire I send your Honor the Particular Occurrences of my Expedition to the North End of Lake George

On the 13th of Septr receiv'd Orders from Genl. Lincoln to make this Expedition, On the 17th arrived on the Heights above the Landing near Mount Defiance where I made what Discoveries I could of the Situation of the Enemy at their several Posts at Ticonda, Independance and the Landing; At Daybreak the next Morning attacked the Enemy at the Landing and at Mt Defiance, I made such a Disposition at the Landing as intirely to invest the Enemy, so that not one Man Escaped, Two of our Officers were Wounded and several of the Enemy killed in this Attack but the Enemy were so surprized that they could make no Considerable Defence. Mount Defiance was at the same Time stormed by one Company of the Rangers under the Command of Capt Ebenr Allen consisting of 40 Men, the Post being defended by Double that Number was however carried in 6 Minutes without the loss of a Man killed or wounded on our Side, they had two killed and several Wounded and upwards of 20 taken Prisoners—Captn. Allen deserves Immortal Honor for his spirited Conduct in this Attack, being obliged to ascend a craggy Precipice under the Fire of the Enemy to make the Attempt. Immediately on carrying the Landing I detached a considerable Number of the Party to the Bridge who surprized the Enemy there, The Falls making such a Noise that they never heard the Attack at the Landing, the Party being reinforced by me Proceeded on to the Houses and Barn near Mr. Intoss, toward the French Lines where was a Considerable Number of our Prisoners and one Company of British Troops who were surprized in like Manner and taken Prisoners to a Man, We relieved in the whole of our own Prisoners at all the Posts 118 Who had been confined, fatigued and dejected to such a degree that one could scarcely conjecture what they were, They come out of their Holes and Cells with Wonder and Amazement, indeed the Transition was almost too much for them, I immediately armed them and changed the Tables with the Enemy, I found the French Lines undefended and but one Company in the old Fort, I immediately demanded a Surrendery of Ty. & Independance, but receiv'd a Manly denial from General Powel, I heard nothing from Colonel Johnson this Day, on the 19th I receiv'd an Express from the Colol, and found that his attempt on Independance was not made with a View to carry it, Indeed the Enemy have fortifyed Independance in such a Manner that by the block Houses and Redoubts which they have erected, together with their Shipping, they can cover and defend the whole of the Ground on Independce the Enemy have about 700 Men in the Mount 500 of which they can turn out on an Emergency, considering these Particulars, I thought it Proper not to advise to a Joint Attack of that Post, which I had in Contemplation before I discovered their true situation. The old Fort could have been carried by my Party but did not think that the Acquisition would have been a Compensation for the Probable loss, since if Independance was not carried this Post must have been soon evacuated

By the Boats that come in dayly from Fort George and Diamond Island, I found that the Island were not apprized of us and therefore determined that it was my Object rather than Ty I therefore after Canonading the old Fort a Considerable Time, from within the old french Lines and from mount defiance, from which with one Ball two Men within the Parade were killed, and after having destroyed all the Carriges and Boats except 20 in lake George and after having burnt most of the Stores about Ticonderoga and killed and sent off all the Cattle and Horses, on the 24th I imbarked for the Island, having 5 Cannon mounted on the small sloop and gun Boats, but an unluky Circumstance happened; One Terry lately a setler [sic] in our Army being a Prisoner, I suffered him to go at large on Parole but on my sailing from the landing I ordered Terry & his Associates on board the Gun Boats, unhappily an Officer coming on in the rear ordered Terry out of the Gun Boats into his own Boat and fall under his stern, altho this Officer had no bad intent in this Order yet it Proved our overthrow at the Island, for Night coming on with a great Storm Terry made his Escape to the Enemy which gave them sufficient Oppertunity to mount their Cannon and Prepare for our reception I however Proceeded and made the Attempt, but finding the Enemy too well Prepared was obliged to quit after two hours Engagement, in which the Enemy huld the sloop between wind and water in such Manner I was obliged to toe her off, one of the Gun Boats also being Wounded and many other Boats shattered to Pieces, I thought Proper to retreat and after having burnd all the boats on the East shore quit the Lake and got safely into Skeensboro', I left behind me in the whole killed and wounded ten Men—the Number of Prisoners on Parole shall transmit your honor very soon

Am Sr with the utmost respect

Your Honors most Obedient humble Servt,

John Brown

26. ARTHUR FORRESTER[7] DEVEREUX (George Humphrey,[6] Humphrey,[5] Burrill,[4] Humphrey,[3] Robert,[2] John[1]), born at Salem 27 Apr. 1836, died 14 Feb. 1906. He married in Boston, 24 Dec. 1859, CLARA ANNA RICH of Haverhill, born in East Boston 14 Nov. 1838, died 26 Feb. 1910, daughter of Zoeth and Phebe A. and a descendant of Gov. Thomas Prence of the Plymouth Colony and of Elder William Brewster of the Mayflower. He and his wife are buried in Spring Grove Cemetery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

He studied at Harvard and at West Point, when Robert E. Lee was instructor there, but he was not a graduate of either institution. He was captain of the Salem Light Infantry in 1857, and after the outbreak of the Civil War entered the service of the United States as captain of this company, which was known as the Salem Zouaves and formed Company J of the Eighth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. He was in command of this company, in the Eighth Regiment, from 18 Apr. to 1 Aug. 1861, and made a brilliant record in this capacity. The Eighth Regiment was mustered out, after its three months of service, on 1 Aug. 1861. Its colonel, Edward W. Hinks, was made colonel of the Nineteenth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, then being organized and drilled at Lynnfield, and Captain Devereux was commissioned as lieutenant colonel and assigned to this new regiment, 3 Aug. 1861. The regiment entrained at Lynnfield 28

Aug. 1861, and proceeded via Boston, Fall River, and New York to Washington, where it arrived at midnight on 30 Aug. With this regiment Lieutenant Colonel Devereux was in active service for nearly two years, participating, among other engagements, in the Battle of Ball's Bluff (Oct. 1861), the battles of the Peninsula campaign (1862), and the Battles of Antietam, where he was slightly wounded (17 Sept. 1862), Fredericksburg (Dec. 1862), and Gettysburg (1–3 July 1863). On the third day of the Battle of Gettysburg he led his regiment in the repulse of Pickett's Charge, and his regiment captured the battle flags of four Virginia regiments on that day. He had been commissioned a colonel on 1 May 1863, to date from 29 Nov. 1862, and after the Gettysburg campaign he was sent to Massachusetts on detached service, being absent from the front for several months. He resigned his commission on 27 Feb. 1864, and received his discharge from the service on 4 Mar. following. On 13 Mar. 1865 he was brevetted as brigadier general of Volunteers for gallant service during the War.

Colonel Devereux's portrait appears in Batchelder's great painting of the third day at Gettysburg and also in the picture of the Battle of Gettysburg in the grand stairway of the State House at Harrisburg, Pa., the repulse of Pickett's Charge being the scene presented in each of these paintings.* Several swords belonging to Colonel Devereux, including one presented to him by the city of Salem and one given to him by the city of Baltimore, Md., when he was in command there early in the Civil War, are now preserved in the Essex Institute at Salem, and a tablet to his memory, recounting his military services, was erected in 1911 by his comrades in arms in the Devereux tomb in the Broad Street Cemetery, Salem.

After the Civil War Colonel Devereux was for several years commandant of the National Soldiers' Home at Marion, Ind., and he served in the Ohio Legislature in 1882 and 1883. He was one of those receiving a special medal conferred by Congress for distinguished service, and for years was the only living officer to whom a monument was placed on the field of Gettysburg.

*Edmund Cearley, son of Larkin and Mary (Barnes), was born near Taylorsville, N. C., 27 Sept. 1806, and died at Vallejo's Mills (now Niles), Cal., 21 Apr. 1881. He married, 3 Aug. 1845, Lucretia Polk, born 16 July 1829, died at San Jose, Cal., 28 Mar. 1895. He and his wife are buried at Irvington, Cal.

The name Cearley is variously spelled in the Colonial records of Massachusetts and Connecticut, and later in Virginia, where Edmund's great-grandfather, William, Sr., held a land patent in Lunenburg County in 1751, and in North Carolina, whither the family moved after the Revolution, as Carley, Carly, Cerly, Carlye, Cearley, Kerley, and Kearley. William, Sr., married Martha Carter. His son William married Rachel Neale, and their son Larkin, born in Halifax Co., Va., 3 Jan. 1775, died in North Carolina 2 Oct. 1841 and was buried at Three Fork Church, Alexander Co., N. C. He married Mary Barnes, born 20 Dec. 1781, died 12 Nov. 1864, daughter of Solomon and Elizabeth (Murphy) of Alexander Co., N. C., and also of New England ancestors, who went to North Carolina via Virginia.

Lucretia Polk was sixth in descent from Robert and Magdalen (Tasker) (Porter) Polk, who emigrated to Maryland several years after the Restoration. Robert Polk was a captain in Colonel Porter's regiment, which served under Cromwell. His wife was the younger daughter of Colonel Tasker, a chancellor of Ireland, whose seat was Broomfield Castle, near Londonderry, which was left to her elder sister, Barbara. Colonel Tasker had another estate called Moneen, near the village of Strabane, Ire., which was left to Magdalen, and which in her will of 7 Apr. 1726, on file in Somerset Co., Md., she bequeathed to her youngest son, Joseph. In 1689 Robert Polk's name is given in a list of loyal subjects of Somerset Co., Md., who addressed a letter to King William and Queen Mary. His grandson, William Polk, moved to North Carolina about 1750, and the latter's four sons, Charles, Thomas, John, and Ezekiel, settled in the neighborhood of Charlotte, Mecklenburg Co., and were all officers in the Revolution. John Polk, who was the great-grandfather of Lucretia (Polk) Cearley, married Eleanor Shelby, daughter of Gen. Evan Shelby. He was a captain, and for his services in the Revolution received from the Assembly of North Carolina a section of land in Davidson Co., Tenn., then a county of North Carolina. His family moved to Tennessee, as did at different times those of all his brothers, and they became known as the "Tennessee Polks." President James Knox Polk and Bishop Leonidas Polk, the well-known Confederate general, were descendants of the Tennessee Polks.

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Rev. Stephen Bachiler.—An interesting bit of information relating to the life of Rev. Stephen Bachiler before his emigration to New England may be found in the printed volumes of "Acts of the Privy Council," where, in the record of a meeting of the Council in the Star Chamber on 29 May 1593, the following entry occurs:

"A letter to the Lord Buishop of Winton, Mr Doctor Bilson and the rest:

"Whereas we perceave by your letters of the xxvijth of this presente moneth and the examinacions therewith sent, that Steven Bachiler, vicar of Wherwel in your Dioces, hath uttered in a sermon at Newbuiry verie lewd speeches tending sediciously to the derogacion of her Majesties government, and that you have examined and comitted him til farther direction from us in this behalf:

New Brunswick Burgesses.—An interesting list of informations relating to the life of Rev. Stephen Bentley before his emigration to New Brunswick may be found in the printed volumes of "Acts of the Privy Council," which, in the record of a meeting of the Council in the Star Chamber on 28 May 1603, the following entry occurs:

"A letter to the Lord Bishop of Winton, Mr Doctor Bilson and the rest.

"Whereas we perceive, by your letter of the xxviiith of this present month and the examination therewith sent, that Steven Bentley, vicar of Wiverne in your Diocese, hath utered in a sermon at Newbury very hard speeches tending seditiously to the dishonoure of her Majesties government, and that you have examined and punished him in further direction then we in our letter."

"This charge is grave and merits your Lordship's care, in such the royal Bishop Bentley under arts conducte up hither to an the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury with such further matter and proof as hath sithenc fallen owt, to be proceded with acording the nature and quallitie of his offenc and the laws of this realm:

"So, not doubting of your care in the due performaunce hereof, etc."*

Few original references to Bachiler's early life in England have come down to us. In Winthrop's "History of New England," in the account of Bachiler's excommunication from the Hampton church, it is said that he "had suffered much at the hands of the bishops in England."† Thomas Prince, in his short account of Bachiler, said that "(From governor Winslow and captain Johnson we learn, that) he was an ancient minister in England; had been a man of fame in his day;" etc.‡

We know that Bachiler was presented, 17 July 1587, by William West, Lord de la Warr, to the vicarage of Wherwell in Hampshire, and that on 9 Aug. 1605 John Bate was made vicar there because of the "ejection of Stephen Bachiler."§ No record has been found of the date of this ejection.

Bachiler was still living at Wherwell in 1596 and in 1607. William Spencer of Cheriton, Hants, in his will, dated 14 Aug. 1596 and proved 20 Sept. 1596, appointed "Mr Stephen Bacheler, minister of Wherwell," one of his overseers and trustees,|| and Henry Shipton, a tanner of Shaw, Berkshire, in his will, undated but proved 24 Mar. 1606/7, left a legacy of forty shillings to "Mr Stephen Batcheler of Horell, co. Southton."¶ Bachiler does not appear on the Lay Subsidy Roll for Hampshire in 7 James I [1609–10], but in 1622 and 1629 he bought two properties in Newton Stacy, Hants, and his name appears on the Lay Subsidy Roll of 4 Charles I [1628–9] under Newton Stacy.

The New England sojourn of Stephen Bachiler lasted from 1632 to 1654. He was upwards of seventy when he landed in Boston from the William and Francis. He was more than ninety-three when he returned to England. His score of years here was embittered by strife. Nearly every year was marked by his revolt against the harsh and arbitrary rule of the Bay oligarchs. The same spirit of unrest and revolt was manifest in his early years. In 1593 he was but seven years out of Oxford, and he had been but six years vicar of the quiet little parish on the Test.

The year 1593 marked the close of the first chapter of Whitgift's persecution of the Puritans, in his struggle to enforce uniformity on the unwilling English Church. On 6 Apr. 1593 Barrowe and Greenwood had died on the scaffold for nonconformity. On 29 May, the very date of the order cited above, John Penry was executed for the same cause. Bachiler was summoned from his peaceful Hampshire vicarage for no idle jaunt to London. Danger, torture, perhaps death itself lurked behind Canterbury's vestments.

John Whitgift was an unfortunate successor in the primacy to Edmund Grindal, whose wise and gentle rule had recognized the spread of Puritanism in the Church of England. But Whitgift had the full approval of his royal mistress, who saw no merit but in force.

The vicar of Wherwell also had a strong majority of his diocesan superiors against him. Cooper, the bishop of Winchester, had prepared the first categorical answer to the Mar-Prelate pamphlets, whose author had just died on the scaffold. Bilson, the warden of Winchester School, was all for uniformity; in a few short years he was to be Cooper's successor. Martin Heton, the dean and the future bishop of Ely, was anti-Puritan. All but two or three of the canons were uniformists—among them Henry Cotton, soon to be bishop of Salisbury. Scant mercy could Bachiler expect from the stern Archbishop or from his own diocese.

Save for this mention, there is no record of the sermon at Newbury which had so roused the Archbishop and the Bishop. Nor do we know the result of Bachiler's visit to the Star Chamber. For forty years more he remained in Hampshire, preaching the Puritan doctrines. But both in England and in New England he fought, all his long life, against the arbitrary misuse of authority, both by the Lords Bishops and the Lords Brethren.

Historical Intelligence

Heraldry.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

Genealogies in Preparation.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Knowles.—Henry, born in England in 1609, died at Warwick, R. I., between 2 and 20 Jan. 1670/1, by Stanwood Knowles Bolton, 48 Allerton Street, Brookline, Mass.

Nelson.—Thomas, of Rowley, Mass., born in England, died (probably in England) not earlier than 6 Aug. 1648, by Mrs. Cora A. Turner-Hunt, 174 Oakland Avenue, Methuen, Mass.

Resident Members

Mrs. Frank B. Kingsbury of Keene, N. H.
Alfred Worcester Fuller of Newton, Mass.
Mrs. J. E. Robinson of Bloomington, Ill.
George Chapman of New York City
Edward Hall Sargent of Lexington, Mass.
Florence Andyman Miller of Cambridge, Mass.

The Council also reported the names of thirteen candidates for Pilgrim Tercentenary Membership and eight candidates for Resident Membership, stating that action by the Council on these names would be in order after they had been posted for thirty days, in accordance with the By-Laws.

On motion it was Voted, That the annual reports of the Council, including its committees, the Librarian, the Corresponding Secretary, the Trustees of the Kidder Fund, the Treasurer, and the Historian, being presented in print and now in the hands of the meeting, be accepted and ordered filed with the originals.

The election of officers and councillors being in order, the Chair announced that the Nominating Committee, at the stated meeting of 3 December 1919, had reported to the Society the name of SAMUEL MERRILL of Cambridge, Mass., as a candidate for Councillor for the term of three years ending in February 1923, but that Mr. MERRILL, in a letter to the Recording Secretary, had declined the nomination and had requested that his name should not appear on the ballot. The Chair then called for nominations for Councillor, and J. GARDNER BARTLETT nominated WILLIAM EBEN STONE of Cambridge, Mass., for that position. This nomination having been seconded and no other nominations having been made, it was on motion Voted, That the Society proceed to the election of officers and councillors, agreeable to the provisions of the By-Laws.

That three tellers be appointed by the Chair, and that said tellers shall distribute, receive, sort, and count the ballots, and make a report to this meeting.

That the polls be now opened, and stand open until every member present has had opportunity to vote.

The Chair appointed as tellers DAVID GREENE HASKINS, JR., WILLIAM OGILVIE COMSTOCK, and Rev. LEWIS WILDER HICKS, and the election by ballot of officers and councillors took place.

During the voting the Chair read a letter from President BAXTER, in which he expressed his regret that he was not able to be present at the annual meeting.

After the polls had been closed, the Chair presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, Hon. HOWARD RANDOLPH BAYNE, M.A., LL.B., of

New York City, who read a carefully prepared and valuable paper on The Administration of George Washington.

On motion it was Voted, That the thanks of the Society be extended to Mr. BAYNE for his interesting, instructive, and scholarly address.

The tellers then made their report, which showed that officers and councillors had been elected as follows:

President

JAMES PHINNEY BAXTER, of Portland, Me.

Vice-Presidents

JOHN CARROLL CHASE, of Brookline, Mass.

ALFRED JOHNSON, of Belfast, Me.

ALBERT HENRY LAMSON, of New London, N. H.

WILLIAM WALLACE STICKNEY, of Ludlow, Vt.

GEORGE ANDREWS MORIARTY, JR., of Newport, R. I.

GEORGE SEYMOUR GODARD, of Hartford, Conn.

Recording Secretary

HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT, of Medford, Mass.

Corresponding Secretary

THORNTON KIRKLAND LOTHROP, JR., of Boston, Mass.

Treasurer

GEORGE LAMBERT GOULD, of Topsfield, Mass.

Librarian

WILLIAM PRESCOTT GREENLAW, of Winthrop, Mass.

Councillors for the term of three years, 1920, 1921, 1922

MRS. IDA MARION CHASE BAKER, of Concord, Mass.

CLEMENT STEVENS HOUGHTON, of Chestnut Hill, Mass.

WILLIAM EBEN STONE, of Cambridge, Mass.

On motion it was

Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society enters on its records at this time its appreciation of the services rendered by the retiring Corresponding Secretary, GEORGE ANDREWS MORIARTY, JR., and by the retiring Councillors, MRS. ANNIE CORINNE ELLISON, NATHAN MATTHEWS, and JAMES MELVILLE HUNNEWELL, who have during their terms of office given of their time, their thought, and their counsel that the broad purposes of the Society, the collection and preservation of genealogical records for the public benefit, might be attained.

On motion it was Voted, That the proceedings of this meeting, with the annual reports accepted and the biographical notices of deceased members, be printed as a supplement to the April, 1920, number of the NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL

REGISTER, that a copy of said supplement be mailed to every member of the Society not receiving the REGISTER, to the families of members deceased during the past year, and to exchanging societies, and that the Council be charged with the execution of this order.

On motion of DAVID GREENE HASKINS, JR., it was Voted, That the Society send its affectionate greetings to President BAXTER, with an expression of its regret that he is unable to be present at the meeting to-day.

No further business being presented, Vice-President CHASE, at 4 P. M., declared the meeting dissolved, and light refreshments were served to the members of the Society and their guests in the adjoining reception hall.

HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT,
Recording Secretary.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL

Prepared by John Carroll Chase

This institution was seventy-five years old as an organization in 1919 and will celebrate its seventy-fifth anniversary as a corporation in 1920. It was three-quarters of a century ago, in October 1844, that several gentlemen met at the home of Mr. William H. Montague, in Orange Street, Boston, to discuss the advisability of organizing a society for the purpose of awakening and stimulating interest in genealogical and heraldic studies. On Friday evening, 1 November, following, Mr. Montague and his associates, Messrs. Charles Ewer, Samuel Gardner Drake, John Wingate Thornton, and Lemuel Shattuck, met at Mr. Shattuck's residence, 79 Harrison Avenue, and organized the New England Historic Genealogical Society, which was incorporated by a special act of the General Court, 18 March 1845.

The seventy-fifth year of this institution has been, in many ways, one of the best in its whole history.

During the two and a quarter centuries that elapsed between the Landing of the Pilgrims and the birth of the Society, very little interest was manifested in the objects which the Society was organized to promote. Measured by the genealogical publications issued in America, the total output up to 1844 would not fill a three-foot shelf. Conditions changed with the advent of the new Society. Interest in its objects was soon aroused by its officers, its library, and its publications, and this soon manifested itself in the publication of genealogies and local histories with genealogical registers. The interest thus awakened steadily increased from year to year and brought with it, for the Society, serious problems of housing its library and financing its work.

During the first twenty-five years of its existence the Society occupied rented quarters and depended on voluntary assistance to carry on its work. Then it purchased and remodelled a building which furnished accommodations for its growth for about forty years. The erection of the present commodious and safe building in 1912 solved the housing problem for many years to come.

The practical cessation of the World War in November 1918 again made it feasible to appeal to the public for support, and a campaign to solve the financial problem was immediately begun. On 14 November Mr. George Lambert Gould, Treasurer of the Society, pledged $1000; and on 5 December Mr. James Melville Hunnewell, a Councillor of the Society, pledged $5000. These pledges have resulted in the creation of two new funds, the George Lambert Gould Fund and the Robert Cushman Hunnewell Memorial Fund. In December 1918 a preliminary committee was appointed to consider ways and means, and at the January meeting of the Council, upon recommendation of that committee, a Special Committee on Endowment and Members was appointed, to serve through the two years 1919 and 1920. This committee was selected largely from the Committees on Ways and Means and on Increase of Membership, including the heads of both committees, and has been very active throughout the year. Its work for the year 1920 is already under way, and it is believed that the financial problem of the Society will be permanently settled, through its efforts, by the end of the year 1920.

The three-hundredth anniversary of the Landing of the Pilgrims occurs in 1920. The New England Historic Genealogical Society proposes that its chief observance of this important occasion shall take the form of a substantial increase of its membership and its endowment funds. It is believed that there can be no more fitting or useful memorial to the Pilgrims than the continued maintenance of the work of this Society, and this will be assured by the Pilgrim Tercentenary Memorial Fund, now being raised by the Special Committee on Endowment and Members.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON FINANCE, by George Lambert Gould, Treasurer:

Early in 1919 the Society received from George W. MacWha, Esq., executor of the estate of Mrs. Jennie B. Fuller, its proportion of the residue of her estate, amounting to $1425.09, which, with receipts of dues from members, enabled the Society to pay to the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company the balance of the floating indebtedness which was due and which was incurred at the completion of the Society's building seven years ago.

During the year the Committee decided to pay off the mortgage on the front building on Ashburton Place, amounting to $23,000 and interest, which also was held by the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company. It was enabled to do this because of the successful efforts of the Special Committee on Endowment and Members in securing Pilgrim Tercentenary Members and also by the large increase in the number of Life Members.

On 12 October the Society received the sum of $162.38, being the interest for the second year on the legacy of $5,000 from the estate of Dr. Moses Greeley Parker, in the hands of the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company, Trustee. Members of the Committee on Finance and of the Council were surprised and disappointed at the meagre return, especially as the same institution had charged the Society, on floating and mortgage indebtedness, 6% per annum until the amounts were paid, as stated above.

The Society will probably receive during the coming year the sum of $4,000 from the estate of Albert Crane of Stamford, Conn.,

appointed to consider ways and means, and at the January meeting of the Council, upon recommendation of that committee, a Special Committee on Endowment and Members was appointed, to serve through the two years 1919 and 1920. This committee was selected largely from the Committee on Ways and Means and on Increase of Membership, including the heads of both committees, and has been very active throughout the year. Its work for the year 1920 is already under way, and it is believed that the financial position of the Society will be permanently settled, through its efforts, by the end of the year 1920.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON FINANCE, by George Lamfert Gould, Treasurer:

Early in 1919 the Society received from George W. MacWhe, Esq., executor of the estate of Mrs. Jennie H. Fuller, its proportion of the residue of her estate, amounting to $1425.09, which, with receipts of dues from members, enabled the Society to pay to the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company the balance of the floating indebtedness which was due and which was incurred at the completion of the Society's building seven years ago.

During the year the Committee decided to pay off the mortgage on the front building on Ashburton Place, amounting to $32,000 and interest, which also was held by the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company. It was enabled to do this because of the successful efforts of the Special Committee on Endowment and Members in securing Pilgrim Tercentenary Members and also by the large increase in the number of Life Members.

On 12 October the Society received the sum of $1025.25, being the interest for the second year on the legacy of $5,000 from the estate of Dr. Moses Greely Parker, in the hands of the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company, Trustee. Members of the Committee on Finance and of the Council were appointed and designated at the meeting noting, specially as the same institution had charged the Society, on floating and mortgage indebtedness, 5½ per annum until the amounts were paid, as stated above.

The Society will probably receive during the coming year the sum of $4,000 from the estate of Albert Chase of Stoneham, Chas.

to be added to the Thomas Crane Fund, which was created several years ago by Mr. Crane in memory of his father, Thomas Crane. The income of this legacy is to be applied "first to the binding and preservation of the pamphlets of the Society, and secondly to the general purposes of the Society." The Society is also named in Mr. Crane's will, as one of the residuary legatees, for a larger sum, payable on the death of the principal beneficiary.

The Committee reports, with much gratification, the receipt of United States bonds and other donations from Society members and also the increased returns from membership dues, including mainly those from the new Pilgrim Tercentenary class, details of which will be given by other committees.

While the amounts thus received are comparatively large, still the needs of the Society are very large, and much more will be required before the institution will be on a self-supporting basis.

The net sums received have been closely and carefully invested in accordance with votes of the Council, so that the net returns on money invested will be very much larger proportionately than what is received on securities bought years ago.

The Report of the Committee on Ways and Means, by William Streeter Richardson, Chairman:

The Committee takes pleasure in reporting that the recommendation referred to in its annual report for 1918 as to the adoption of new methods has been vigorously followed, and that it has resulted in a material measure of success.

Not only has the course pursued produced immediate substantial gains, but the work already done affords strong encouragement that its continuance during the next year or two on the same lines will yield equally good results. It is true that the efforts of the Committee must not be in any way relaxed, but it seems that a further improvement in the financial condition of the Society may be confidently expected.

The Report of the Committee on Increase of Membership, by Mrs. Florence Reynolds Conant Howes, Chairman:

As the field of work of the Committee on Increase of Membership was effectively and comprehensively covered during the past year by the Special Committee on Endowment and Members, no meeting of the Committee has been held.

The Report of the Committee on Sale of Publications, by Charles Eliot Goodspeed, Chairman:

The miscellaneous publications on hand for sale at the beginning of the year (exclusive of Registers, Vital Records, and special fund books) were valued at $3259.48, and the sales amounted to $379.05. Gross returns and net revenue from this source are very satisfactory.

As the field of work of the Committee on Increase of Membership was effectively and comprehensively covered during the past year by the Special Committee on Endowment and Membership, no meeting of the Committee has been held.

The Report of the Committee on Sale of Publications, by Charles Eliot Goodspeed, Chairman:

The miscellaneous publications on hand for sale at the beginning of the year (exclusive of Register, Vital Records, and special local books) were valued at $2329.48, and the sales amounted to $179.66. Gross returns and net revenue from this source are very satisfactory.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATIONS, by James Parker Parmenter, A.M., LL.B., Chairman:

The Committee on Publications reports that on 14 January 1919, acting under authority conferred on it by the Council on 6 November 1918, it voted that the title-pages and indexes of the REGISTER, hitherto printed in the October number of each year, should hereafter appear with the January number of the following year. Accordingly the title-pages and indexes for Volume 73 (1919) will be sent out as a supplement to the REGISTER for January 1920, in such form that they can be bound as usual with the quarterly numbers of the volume to which they belong.

Letters and circulars asking for subscriptions to enable the Society to continue the publication of the Vital Records of Massachusetts towns prior to 1850, which was suspended after the repeal of the Vital Records Act of 1902 by the Massachusetts General Court of 1918, were sent out by the Committee in the spring of 1919 to the public libraries of Massachusetts and to the leading libraries and historical societies throughout the United States. Favorable responses have been received from many of these institutions, and the Council has authorized the Committee on Publications to proceed as soon as possible with the publication of the Vital Records of Plympton and of Nantucket. It is hoped that additional subscriptions will enable the Society to publish other volumes and eventually to complete this important series of printed Vital Records.

The Report of the COMMITTEE TO ASSIST THE HISTORIAN, by Andrew Fiske, Ph.D., LL.B., Chairman:

The Committee has held one meeting during the year 1919, on 17 December, at which it transacted such business as was presented by the Historian.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON ENGLISH RESEARCH, by George Andrews Moriarty, Jr., A.M., LL.B., Chairman:

The Committee on English Research reports that through the courtesy of Hon. Frederick Samuel Fish, A.B., of South Bend, Ind., it was enabled to communicate to the REGISTER, for publication in the issue of January 1919, important records relating to the English connections of John Coggeshall, first president of the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, and that Mr. Alfred Rudulph Justice of Ardmore, Pa., has placed at the disposal of the Committee, for publication in the REGISTER in the early part of 1920, his proofs of the English ancestry and family connections of Jeremiah Clarke of Newport, R. I. Other material in the possession of the Committee is being examined and prepared for publication, and researches made in England at the expense of one of the members of the Committee have brought to light additional records that will be incorporated in a forthcoming article.

The Council has appropriated the sum of $200, which is to be expended in 1920, under the direction of the Committee, in securing English genealogical records and preparing them for publication in the REGISTER.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON HERALDRY, by Robert Dickson Weston, A.B., Chairman:

The Committee on Heraldry has little to report. During the War the thoughts of men were concentrated on the conflict, to the exclusion of less important subjects. The return to normal conditions, so far as an interest in heraldry is concerned, is slow. But signs of reviving interest are perceived, and the Committee anticipates that for it the coming year will be one of much greater activity.

A room, furnished with bookshelves, desks, and chairs, has been provided for the Committee, on the street floor of the Society's building, and there selected works on heraldry, representations of coats of arms, and the archives of the Committee have been placed.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE LIBRARY, by Mrs. Mary Stickney Randall, Secretary:

The Committee on the Library has met regularly each month throughout the year, with the exception of the summer months, for the transaction of such routine business as comes within its jurisdiction, and has also attended to special matters which have been referred to the Committee.

During the seven years in which the Society has occupied the present building, only absolutely necessary repairs to the building have been made. The building now is greatly in need of having its walls, ceilings, and woodwork thoroughly cleaned and renovated. This should be done before the seventy-fifth anniversary of the incorporation of the Society, which is to be celebrated in March 1920.

The most pressing need of the Society at the present time is a complete and comprehensive guide to genealogical data in print in relation to American families. It is now several years since the last issue of the Durrie-Munsell series of Indexes was published, and the later issues of these Indexes are very incomplete. Such a vast amount of genealogical information has been published since these Indexes were issued that it is extremely desirable and necessary that new and improved indexes be compiled which will make this information available, and which will eliminate the waste of time on the part of the searcher and unnecessary expense on the part of the Society in handling and consulting many books not useful in each particular search.

Some years ago the Librarian and his staff devised an index card, on which the amount of data, the period of time covered, and the geographical location of the families indexed are shown briefly, thus enabling the reader to choose only such books as would be useful to him. A sufficient beginning of the index was made at that time to prove that the idea was practical, but important problems of housing the Society's collection and financing its work made it expanded in 1920, under the direction of the Committee, is securing English genealogical records and preparing them for publication in the Herald.

The most pressing need of the Society at the present time is a complete and comprehensive guide to genealogical data in print in relation to American families. It is now several years since the last issue of the Dorris-Munsell series of indexes was published, and the later issues of these indexes are very incomplete. Such a vast amount of genealogical information has been published since these indexes were issued that it is extremely desirable and necessary that new and improved indexes be compiled which will make this information available, and which will eliminate the waste of time on the part of the searcher and unnecessary expense on the part of the Society in handling and consulting many books not useful in each particular search.

Some years ago the Librarian and his staff devised an index card, on which the amount of data, the period of time covered, and the geographical location of the families indexed are shown briefly, thus enabling the reader to choose only such books as would be useful to him. A sufficient beginning of the index was made at that time to prove that the idea was practical, but important problems of housing the Society's collections and financing the work made it necessary to suspend this indexing. The Committee recommends that work on this index be resumed as soon as funds can be obtained for it, and that plans be made for bringing and keeping it up to date.

When the new building was erected in 1912, the fireproof vault was equipped with temporary wooden shelves, constructed from lumber brought from the old building, as it was thought inexpedient at that time to go to the expense of putting in metal stacks. These temporary wooden shelves have now been used for seven years and are far from satisfactory. The Committee recommends that modern steel bookstacks be erected in the vault at an early date.

Through funds given and bequeathed by the late Albert Crane of Stamford, Conn., a substantial binding fund will eventually be created. Until the whole amount is available, however, more money will be needed for binding.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON EPITAPHS, by Myles Standish, A.M., M.D., S.D., Chairman:

The Committee on Epitaphs held no meeting in the year 1919. It notes, however, with satisfaction, that from time to time new collections of inscriptions from New England burial grounds are sent to the REGISTER for publication, and that occasionally space is found in the REGISTER for the printing of some of the typewritten or manuscript collections in the possession of the Library.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PAPERS AND ESSAYS, by John McKinstry Merriam, A.M., Chairman:

The Committee on Papers and Essays has provided eight lectures for the stated meetings of the year, as follows:

2 January.—"In the Wake of the War," by Fred E. Marble, Ph.D., of Cambridge, Mass.

5 February.—"Liberty and Law," by Hon. Arthur Holbrook Wellman, M.A., LL.B., of Topsfield, Mass.

5 March.—"The Training of the Twenty-Sixth Division," by Capt. H. D. Cormerais, U. S. A., of the One Hundred and First Infantry.

2 April.—"Backgrounds of Present-Day Immigration," by George William Tupper, Ph.D., of Brookline, Mass.

7 May.—"Aviation—its Progress and Prospect," by Albert Hatton Gilmer, A.M., of Medford, Mass.

1 October.—"Ancestor Hunting in England," by J. Gardner Bartlett of Boston and London.

5 November.—"Three Centuries of Historic Trees in Massachusetts," by James Raymond Simmons, A.B., B.S., of Syracuse, N. Y.

3 December.—"The Eugenics of Genealogy," by Walter Elmore Fernald, M.D., of Waverley, Mass.

Five of the lectures were illustrated with stereopticon slides, and all were followed by refreshments.

Many of the speakers gave their services without compensation, and several members of the Society contributed toward defraying expenses; therefore the Committee has not been obliged, in spite of the advance in prices, to use the full amount ($250) of the appropriation granted by the Council.

7 May—"Aviation—Its Progress and Prospect," by Albert Hanna Ostrom, A.M., of Medford, Mass.

4 October—"Amusing Dealing in Espionage," by A. Carlos Morton of Boston and London.

4 November—"Three Centuries of Historic Trees in Massachusetts," by James Harwood Stimson, A.B., B.S., of Syracuse, N. Y.

3 December—"The Bagpipe of Classics," by Walter Eaton Farrell, M.D., of Waverley, Mass.

Five of the lectures were illustrated with stereopticon views, and all were followed by refreshments.

Many of the speakers gave their services without compensation, and several members of the Society contributed toward defraying expenses; therefore the Committee has not been obliged, in spite of the advance in prices, to use the full amount ($500) of the appropriation granted by the Council.

The Report of the SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON ENDOWMENT AND MEMBERS, by William Prescott Greenlaw, Chairman:

This Committee was appointed 2 January 1919 to serve through the two years 1919 and 1920, for the purpose of conducting an active campaign for money to pay off the Society's indebtedness, to obtain members, and to secure special endowment funds. Four of its seven members had served on a committee appointed 4 December 1918 to consider ways and means of raising money for these purposes.

The earlier committee recommended that the dues of Resident Members be increased from five to ten dollars; that the Life Membership fee be increased from fifty to one hundred dollars; and that provision be made as soon as possible, by an addition to the By-Laws of the Society, for a new class of members, to consist of those persons who pay three hundred dollars at one time into a special endowment fund to commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the incorporation of the Society and the three-hundredth anniversary of the Landing of the Pilgrims, both of which occur in 1920, these members to have all the privileges of Life Members, together with the right of transmitting the membership in perpetuity by will or written notice to the Society.

At the annual meeting of the Society, 5 February 1919, the By-Laws were amended in accordance with the Committee's recommendations. The members of this new class were designated Pilgrim Tercentenary Members and limited to those who qualified before 1 January 1921.

The committee appointed in December began a canvass of the Resident Membership, inviting the members to change to Life Membership, and this resulted in securing about one thousand dollars during the month. It also secured the promise of two donations, which materialized later, and amounted to six thousand dollars. The Special Committee completed this canvass for Life Members during the months of January and February, securing a little over five thousand dollars more from this source. One hundred and thirty-five Resident Members were transferred to Life Membership in the three months. The Treasurer's records show that the payments of these members in annual dues and Life Membership fees averaged almost ninety-five dollars each, an amount only five dollars less than the present Life Membership fee.

The Special Committee, during the early part of the year, issued a limited number of engraved invitations seeking the creation of special memorial endowment funds; and in two instances the chairman has been advised of wills having been executed by which the Society will eventually benefit.

The main work of the year, however, has been the canvass for Pilgrim Tercentenary Members. The Committee, with the co-operation of several gentlemen of international reputation in various callings, has sent out engraved invitations to a number of persons who, it was believed, would be interested in the work of the Society and would be willing to contribute a Pilgrim Tercentenary Membership fee for the support of its work in the future. The Report of the Special Committee on Endowment are presented, by William Prescott Greenlaw, Chairman:

This Committee was appointed 2 January 1919 to serve through the two years 1919 and 1920, for the purpose of conducting an active campaign for money to pay off the Society's indebtedness, to obtain members, and to secure special endowment funds. Part of its seven members had served on a committee appointed 4 December 1918 to consider ways and means of raising money for these purposes.

The earlier committee recommended that the dues of Resident Members be increased from five to ten dollars; that the Life Membership fee be increased from fifty to one hundred dollars; and that provision be made as soon as possible, by an addition to the By-Laws of the Society, for a new class of members, to consist of those persons who pay three hundred dollars at one time into a special endowment fund to commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the incorporation of the Society and the three-hundredth anniversary of the Landing of the Pilgrims, both of which occur in 1920, these members to have all the privileges of Life Members, together with the right of transmitting the membership in perpetuity by will or written notice to the Society.

At the annual meeting of the Society, 4 February 1919, the By-Laws were amended in accordance with the Committee's recommendations. The members of this new class were designated Pilgrim Tercentenary Members and limited to those who qualified before 1 January 1921.

The committee appointed in December began a canvass of the Resident Membership, inviting the members to change to Life Membership, and the results in securing about one thousand dollars during the month. It also secured the pledge of two donations, which materialized later, and amounted to six thousand dollars. The Special Committee completed this canvass for Life Members during the months of January and February, securing a bill over five thousand dollars more from this source. One hundred and thirty-five Resident Members were transferred to Life Membership in the three months. The Treasurer's records show that the payments of these members in annual dues and Life Membership fees averaged almost ninety-five dollars each, an amount only five dollars less than the present Life Membership fee.

The Special Committee during the early part of the year, issued a limited number of engraved invitations soliciting the gifts of special memorial endowment funds; and in two instances the gentlemen has been advised of wills having been executed by which the Society will eventually benefit.

The main work of the year, however, has been the canvass for Pilgrim Tercentenary Members. The Committee, with the co-operation of several gentlemen of professional reputation in various callings, has sent out engraved invitations to a number of persons who, it was believed, would be interested in the work of the Society and would be willing to constitute a Pilgrim Tercentenary Membership fee for the support of its work in the future. The results of this part of the Committee's undertaking have been very satisfactory. Over three hundred persons have accepted the invitation.

Through the endeavors of this Committee a greater amount of money has been received by the Treasurer than in any previous year of the Society's history, amounting to more than one hundred thousand dollars; and the number of members secured is more than double the record of the best previous year.

The Committee expects to continue this work and also to canvass for Life and Resident Members throughout the year 1920. It is also planning to make appeals for money for special purposes, to take care of pressing needs, such as additional equipment, upkeep, cataloguing, and binding.

The success so far achieved and the outlook for 1920 warrant the belief that the Society will be able to continue its liberal policy of maintaining a free library, where all interested can seek information about the Pilgrims, their neighbors of the American Colonies, their successors of later immigrations, and their descendants. As almost the entire patriotic-society movement in this country is based upon the interest in family history awakened and stimulated by this Society during its seventy-five years of existence, the value of maintaining its work can scarcely be overestimated.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

Presented by William Prescott Greenlaw

The total accessions for the year 1919 number 794 volumes, 473 pamphlets, and 49 miscellaneous articles. Of these, 265 volumes and 100 pamphlets were purchased; 179 volumes, 371 pamphlets, and 49 miscellaneous articles were given; 55 volumes and 2 pamphlets were received in exchange; and 295 volumes were received on deposit. Two hundred and three genealogies were acquired during the year.

As predicted in the report of the Council last year, a decided increase in the use of the Library has taken place; the Visitors' Register for the year shows twenty-eight per cent more visitors than in 1918, and the record of use by members and visitors combined shows a twenty per cent increase. In 1920 it is expected that the Pilgrim Tercentenary will arouse considerable interest in family history and cause a greater demand for information at the Library.

The Librarian has devoted the larger part of his time since the signing of the armistice in November 1918 to the task of securing endowment funds to carry on the work of the Society in the future, and this work will require a part of his services through the year 1920. Because of this, it has been necessary to add another assistant to the Library Staff. Miss Edith Grierson Mac Brine was chosen for this position and began work in July.

A thorough renovation of the building is in progress; and this will allow the Society's portraits, engravings, and prints to be hung permanently, and add largely to the attractiveness of the entire building.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE KIDDER FUND

BOSTON, 31 DECEMBER 1919.

Balance on hand, 31 December 1918	$571.65
Dividend No. 16, 1 February 1919	225.00
Dividend No. 17, 1 August 1919	100.00
Extra Dividend, No. 18, 18 November 1919	250.00
Interest	11.29
	$1,157.94
Books	225.00
Balance on hand, Merchants National Bank	$932.94

The Trustees have received from the Farwell Mills an offer of $329 per share for the twenty-five shares of Cabot Manufacturing Company stock representing the assets of the Kidder Fund—a total of $8225. Mr. Frederic Kidder, in that clause of his will establishing the Kidder Fund, has the following to say: "and I further desire that said Shares in the said Cabot Manufacturing Company may not be sold unless there should be some urgent necessity for it, and then by a vote of the Society with the approval of the Judge of Probate for the County of Suffolk, and then the proceeds to be carefully re-invested under his direction and all future changes of the Fund to be made in the same manner." The Trustees have given this offer from the Farwell Mills careful consideration and have decided to reject it. The Kidder Fund will accordingly remain, as Mr. Kidder wished that it should, except in case of "urgent necessity," in the shares of the Cabot Manufacturing Company, of which he thought so highly. His judgment has been amply justified by the event, and the Trustees can only hope that their judgment will be equally to the Society's benefit.

Prepared by Rev. Lewis Wilder Hicks, M.A., Historian

The following pages contain obituary notices of members who died during the year 1919, with the addition of four who died in preceding years. The notices are arranged in the order in which the deaths occurred.

Harry Wadley Cumner of Brookline, Mass., a resident member since 1916, was born at Manchester, N. H., 18 July 1860, the son of Nathaniel Cumner, and died at Brookline 18 May 1917.

The family came to Boston when he was young, and he became a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, but did not graduate there, preferring to enter upon a business career. He started with the Cumner-Jones Company, dealing in tailor trimmings, at 90 Chauncy Street, Boston, a firm of which his father was the founder; and, when his father died, he succeeded to the presidency. The house maintained a Chicago branch, known as Cumner, Jones & Company, Inc., of which he became president and director.

Mr. Cumner was president of the Boylston National Bank, a trustee and member of the executive committee of the Home Savings Bank, a director of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, vice-president and director of the Thayer, McNeil Company, and president and director of the Frank W. Greaves Company of Minneapolis, Minn. He was a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and had been a vice-president and director of the old Merchants' Association before it was merged with the Chamber of Commerce.

He was a member of the Boston Art Club, the Beacon Society, the Algonquin Club, the Exchange Club, the Brae-Burn Country Club, and the Boston Athletic Association. He was also connected with the Masonic fraternity and held membership in many of its organizations.

The promotion of the interests of his home town occupied much of his attention, and for some years he was chairman of the Brookline Gymnasium and Bath Commission and had served on the Playground Commission. He was deeply interested in Red Cross activities and in relief work for war sufferers.

He married Nellie Buckingham Pope, daughter of Edwin Pope

THE following pages contain obituary notices of members who died during the year 1919, with the addition of four who died in preceding years. The notices are arranged in the order in which the deaths occurred.

HENRY WALDEN CONNER of Brookline, Mass., a resident member since 1910, was born at Manchester, N. H., on July 1870, the son of Nathaniel Conner, and died at Brookline in May 1917.

The family came to Boston when he was young, and he became a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, but did not graduate there, preferring to enter upon a business career. He started with the Conner-Jones Company, dealing in tailor trimmings, at 50 Chauncy Street, Boston, a firm of which his father was the founder, and, when his father died, he succeeded to the presidency. The house maintained a Chicago branch, known as Conner, Jones & Company, Inc., of which he became president and director.

Mr. Conner was president of the Boylston National Bank, a trustee and member of the executive committee of the Home Savings Bank, a director of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, vice-president and director of the Thayer, McNeil Company, and president and director of the Frank W. Gunsaulus Company of Minneapolis, Minn. He was a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and had been a vice-president and director of the old Merchants' Association before it was merged with the Chamber of Commerce.

He was a member of the Boston Art Club, the Beacon Society, the Algonquin Club, the Exchange Club, the Brae-Burn Country Club, and the Boston Athletic Association. He was also connected with the Masonic fraternity and held membership in many of its organizations.

The promotion of the interests of his home town occupied much of his attention, and for some years he was chairman of the Brookline Committee and Exit Commission and had served on the Playground Commission. He was deeply interested in Red Cross activities and in relief work for war sufferers.

He married Nellie Burbidgeham Pope, daughter of Edwin Pope of Boston, who survives him, together with three daughters and a son—Mrs. Andrew Washburn of Brookline, Mrs. August H. Vogel, Jr., of Milwaukee, Wis., Mrs. Everett Pevere of Boston, and Prescott T. Cumner.

Charles Wellington Burt, LL.B., of Brookline, Mass., a life member since 1916, was born at Saginaw, Mich., 21 March 1871, the son of Wellington R. and Mary Amina (Richardson) Burt, and died at Saginaw 31 July 1917. He was a descendant of Henry[1] Burt of Roxbury, 1639, and Springfield, Mass., 1640, through Jonathan,[2] Henry,[3] Joseph,[4] Joseph,[5] Luther,[6] Luther,[7] and Wellington R.,[8] his father.

He was graduated at the Michigan Military Academy, Orchard Lake, Mich., in 1889, was a student at Cornell University, 1891–1893, and received the degree of LL.B. from that institution in 1893. In the same year he was admitted to the Michigan bar.

Entering business with a lumber concern controlled by his father at Ford, Ky., he developed this into a lucrative business, with an office at London, England, for export trade.

He married, 14 October 1898, Mary Bell Halley, daughter of Henry Simpson and Alice Hunter (Bell) Halley and granddaughter of Samuel Halley, one of the pioneers and foremost citizens of Kentucky. Mrs. Burt survives her husband, together with three daughters, Alice Amina, Lady Bell, and Marion Stone.

Ashton Rollins Willard, A.B., of Boston, a resident member since 1899, was born at Montpelier, Vt., 14 April 1858, the son of Charles Wesley and Emily Doane (Reed) Willard, and died in Boston 3 October 1918. He traced his descent from Maj. Simon[1] Willard of Cambridge, Concord, Lancaster, and Groton, Mass., through Henry,[2] Josiah,[3] Josiah,[4] Solomon,[5] Josiah Cahoon,[6] and Charles Wesley,[7] his father.

He was graduated at Dartmouth College, receiving there the degree of A.B. with the Class of 1879.

In 1887 he took up his abode in Boston, but lived abroad from 1904 to 1908, passing much of his time in Italy. He was an author of note, writing on art subjects for magazines and producing several books, among which were the following: "Sketch of the Life and Work of the Painter Domenico Morelli," Houghton, Mifflin & Company, 1895; "History of Modern Italian Art," Longmans, Green & Company, 1898; and "The Land of the Latins," 1902. In this last-mentioned year he was made a chevalier of the Order of the Crown of Italy. He was a member of the Boston Authors' Club and of the Circolo Italiano.

He married, 19 September 1888, Agnes Fairbanks, daughter of Gov. Horace and Mary Elizabeth (Taylor) Fairbanks of Vermont. She died 15 March 1910. They had two daughters, of whom the elder died in infancy and the younger, Theodora, survives her parents.

CHARLES WELLINGTON BURR, LL.B., of Brookline, Mass., a life member since 1918, was born at Saginaw, Mich., 21 March 1871, the son of Wellington R. and Mary Anna (Hodgkins) Burr, and died at Saginaw 31 July 1917. He was a descendant of Henry Burr of Roxbury, 1639, and Springfield, Mass., 1640, through Jonathan,[4] Henry,[5] Joseph,[6] Joseph,[7] Luther,[8] and Wellington R.,[9] his father.

He was graduated at the Michigan Military Academy, Orchard Lake, Mich., in 1889, was a student at Cornell University 1891-1893, and received the degree of LL.B. from that institution in 1893. In the same year he was admitted to the Michigan bar.

Entering business with a number concerns controlled by his father at Fort, Ky., he developed this into a massive business, with an office at London, England, for export trade.

He married, 14 October 1898, Mary Hall Halley, daughter of Henry Simpson and Alice Hunter (Hall) Halley and great-daughter of Samuel Halley, one of the pioneers and foremost citizens of Kentucky. Mrs. Burr survives her husband, together with three daughters, Alice Adams, Lady Hall, and Marion Stone.

ABNER ROLLINS WILLARD, A.B., of Boston, a resident member since 1899, was born at Montpelier, Vt., 14 April 1859, the son of Charles Wesley and Emily Dunne (Hood) Willard, and died in Boston 3 October 1918. He traced his descent from Maj. Simon Willard of Cambridge, Concord, Lancaster, and Groton, Mass., through Henry,[4] Josiah,[5] Josiah,[6] Solomon,[7] Josiah Cushing,[8] and Charles Wesley,[9] his father.

He was graduated at Dartmouth College, receiving there the degree of A.B. with the Class of 1879.

In 1887 he took up his abode in Boston, but lived almost from 1901 to 1908 passing much of his time in Italy. He was an author of note, writing on art subjects for magazines and producing several books, among which were the following: "Sketch of the Life and Work of the Painter Domenico Morelli," Houghton, Mifflin & Company, 1895; "History of Modern Italian Art," Longmans, Green & Company, 1898; and "The Land of the Lotus," 1902. In this last-mentioned year he was made a chevalier of the Order of the Crown of Italy. He was a member of the Boston Authors' Club and of the Church Italiana.

He married, 19 September 1893, Agnes Fairbanks, daughter of Gov. Horace and Mary Elizabeth (Taylor) Fairbanks of Vermont. She died 15 March 1919. They had two daughters, of whom the elder died in infancy and the younger, Theodora, survives her parents.

Mrs. Josephine (Drew) Hills of Boston, a life member since 1912, was born in Boston 18 August 1840, the daughter of Joseph Lawrence and Amelia (Smith) Drew, and died there 29 November 1918. On her father's side she was descended from Elder William Brewster and John Alden of the Mayflower. Her mother was born in England, the daughter of Henry and Jane (Morgan) Smith.

Mrs. Hills's life was uneventful. Her charities, which were many, were bestowed quietly and unostentatiously. She had a special interest in the New England Historic Genealogical Society, largely on account of her husband's deep interest in all that pertained to genealogy, and she was a contributor to its building fund in 1912. She was a member also of the Society of Daughters of the Revolution, by reason of her descent from Sergeant Job Drew.

She married, 6 September 1877, as his second wife, Thomas Hills of Boston, whose first wife had been her sister, Amelia Ellen Drew. Mr. Hills, who died 19 September 1910, aged eighty-two years, had been a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society since 1897, and was the editor of "The Hills Family in America," published in 1906, a book that was largely the result of the labors of the late William Sanford Hills of Boston. A memoir of Thomas Hills may be found in the Register, vol. 65, page lxi.

Franklin Pierce Rice of Worcester, Mass., a life member since 1903, was born at Marlborough, Mass., 29 July 1852, the son of Minot and Mary Berry (Felton) Rice, and died at Worcester 3 January 1919. He was a descendant of Edmund[1] Rice of Sudbury, Mass., through Joseph,[2] Caleb,[3] Jabez,[4] Jabez,[5] Abel,[6] and Minot,[7] his father. Among his ancestors in other lines were Rev. Samuel Skelton, the first minister at Salem, Mass., and Nathaniel Felton of Salem.

He received his elementary education from his mother, and did not enter a public school until he was eleven years old. Even after that time his attendance at public schools was not uninterrupted. When a young man he intended to enter the medical profession, and began the study of chemistry, anatomy, and physiology; but adverse circumstances prevented the realization of this plan, and he turned his attention to writing historical and biographical sketches and to editing, printing, and publishing the records of Massachusetts towns, especially those in Worcester County.

In 1871 he had purchased a small printing press, which he exchanged within a few months for a better one. A few years later, in 1880, he bought a Columbia press, and used it for more than thirty years. As a printer he was self-educated, and did not learn the trade by working for any regular printer. By himself and on his own press he began the task of preserving in print the vital records of Worcester County towns.

Many records were printed by Mr. Rice on his own press. Many others, including the Worcester town records, which he edited, were published by the Worcester Society of Antiquity, of which he was

Mrs. Lawrence (Dana) Hill of Boston, a life member since 1912, was born in Boston 18 August 1840, the daughter of Joseph Lawrence and Amelia (Sands) Dana, and died there 29 November 1918. On her father's side she was descended from Elder William Brewster and John Alden of the Mayflower. Her mother was born in England, the daughter of Henry and Jane (Morgan) Smith.

Mrs. Hill's life was uneventful. Her charities, which were many, were bestowed quietly and unostentatiously. She was a member also of the Society of Daughters of the Revolution, by reason of her descent from Sergeant Jos. Ellis.

She married, 6 September 1877, as his second wife, Thomas Hill of Boston, whose first wife had been her sister, Amelia Ellis Dana. Mr. Hill, who died 19 September 1910, aged eighty-two years, had been a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society since 1897, and was the editor of "The Hill Family in America," published in 1903, a book that was largely the result of the labors of the late William Sanford Hill of Boston. A memoir of Thomas Hill may be found in the Register, vol. 65, page 84.

Franklin Pierce Rice of Worcester, Mass., a life member since 1903, was born at Marlborough, Mass., 23 July 1832, the son of Minot and Mary Berry (Felton) Rice, and died at Worcester 3 January 1919. He was a descendant of Edmund Rice of Sudbury, Mass., through Joseph,[4] Caleb,[3] Jabez,[2] Jabez,[1] Abel,[1] and Minot.[1] His father. Among his ancestors in other lines were Rev. Samuel Skelton, the first minister at Salem, Mass., and Nathaniel Felton of Salem.

He received his elementary education from his mother, and did not enter a public school until he was eleven years old. Even after that time his attendance at public schools was not uninterrupted. When a young man he intended to enter the medical profession, and began the study of chemistry, anatomy, and physiology; but adverse circumstances prevented the realization of this plan, and he turned his attention to writing, bookkeeping and business, and to editing, printing, and publishing the records of Massachusetts towns, especially those in Worcester County.

In 1871 he had purchased a small printing press, which he exchanged within a few months for a better one. A few years later, in 1880, he bought a Columbia press, and used it for more than thirty years. As a printer he was self-educated, and did not learn the trade by working for any regular printer. By himself and on his own press he began the task of preserving in print the vital records of Worcester County towns.

Many records were printed by Mr. Rice on his own press. Many others, including the Worcester town records, which he edited, were published by the Worcester Society of Antiquity, of which he was one of the four founders. But his greatest service as a publisher of vital records was rendered under the provisions of the Vital Records Act approved by the Governor of Massachusetts in 1902, in accordance with which the Commonwealth undertook to purchase, at a fixed rate per page, five hundred copies of the printed vital records of each Massachusetts town prior to 1850, provided that the books were compiled and published in the manner required by certain State officials and that not more than $15,000 was spent for this purpose in any one year. The New England Historic Genealogical Society, to whose representations the passage of the Vital Records Act of 1902 was chiefly due, entered the field immediately as a publisher of vital records, and Mr. Rice, as trustee of the Systematic History Fund, together with the Essex Institute, the Topsfield Historical Society, and, later, Mr. Thomas W. Baldwin, joined in the work. From 1902 until the repeal of the Act in 1918, a period of more than sixteen years, 169 different volumes, containing the vital records prior to 1850 of 149 Massachusetts towns and a part of the vital records of two other towns, were delivered to the Secretary of the Commonwealth and distributed by him without charge to the public offices, libraries, and historical societies entitled under the provisions of the Act to receive them. Mr. Rice's part in this important work consisted in compiling and publishing the vital records of more than thirty towns in Worcester County, the last volumes contributed by him to this series of vital records appearing in 1911. Besides his painstaking work in compiling and publishing town records Mr. Rice was a contributor on his favorite antiquarian themes to newspapers and encyclopædias, and was the author also of "Reminiscences of Rev. George Allen," "Life of Eli Thayer," and other works.

In addition to his connection with the Systematic History Fund and with the Worcester Society of Antiquity, Mr. Rice was a member of the American Antiquarian Society, the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Worcester Natural History Society, of which he was a director from 1894 to 1909, and the Bunker Hill Monument Association, and was a corresponding member of several other historical societies.

Mr. Rice never married. His home life was centred around his mother. At the annual meeting of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, in 1919, the following tribute was paid to his memory:

> "Franklin Pierce Rice, an enthusiast by nature in the local history and antiquities of his surroundings, whose timely solicitude and personal industry have rescued many a valuable town record from oblivion, and whose chief claim to his reputation for eccentricity consisted in an unusual diligence in the work he loved and a life-long devotion to his mother."

Edward Adams Richardson of Ayer, Mass., a resident member since 1914, was born in that part of Groton which is now Ayer 24 November 1859, the son of Joseph H. and Mary A. (Hartwell) Richardson, and died at Ayer 4 January 1919. He traced his paternal line from Ezekiel Richardson, who was at Charlestown, Mass., in 1630, and helped in the founding of Woburn, while on his mother's side he was descended from William Hartwell of Concord, William Shattuck of Watertown, John Whitney, and ancestors belonging to other well-known early New England families.

He attended the Groton public schools, was graduated at Lawrence Academy in 1875, and then entered Yale College, but after three years he was obliged to leave college on account of illness in his family. Later he entered the law office of the late Judge Clark A. Batchelder at Ayer. Soon afterwards he became ticket agent at the local railroad station, and held this position for about five years. In September 1887 he moved to Shirley, Mass., to operate a cotton mill of which he was the owner. During his residence in Shirley he became interested in public affairs and was elected a selectman of the town. He returned to Ayer in 1891, although he retained his business in Shirley for some time longer. After his return to Ayer Mr. Richardson devoted his time to various business and manufacturing interests, to the development of his large real-estate holdings, to public affairs, and to literary and historical work. He was clerk of the Union Furniture Company and the Merrill-James Shoe Company, a trustee of the North Middlesex Savings Bank, and president of the Ayer Board of Trade. He was largely instrumental in establishing Camp Devens at Ayer, and helped in securing leases of the land for the United States Government.

Mr. Richardson always manifested a deep interest in public matters and took a prominent part in town affairs. For the four years following 2 April 1906 he was a selectman of Ayer. He was chosen a member of the School Committee in 1913 and a trustee of the Ayer Library the same year, holding both offices up to the time of his death. He was a delegate to the State Constitutional Convention from the Twelfth Middlesex District in 1917–18. In politics he was a Republican, and had given long and faithful service on the Ayer Republican town committee. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and that of the Odd Fellows, and was prominent in the work of both organizations.

He was a man of culture, with a love for travel, art, and literature. Much of his leisure time was devoted to historical research, and he was the author of many articles on local history and also of two books, "Moors School" and "The Community," both dealing with Groton local history, which were published in 1911. His last work, completed only a few days before his death, was the compiling of a list of Ayer men in the military and naval service in the World War. He was a member of the Groton Historical Society.

He married, 24 November 1885, Clara E. Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Page of Ayer, who survives him, together with two sons, Alfred P. and Ralph H. Richardson.

Lieut. John Henry Westfall, U.S.N., of Allston, Mass., a resident member since 1912, was born at West Brighton, N. Y., 12 August 1861, the son of Taylor Hutchins and Samantha Betsey (Wright) Westfall, and died at Chelsea, Mass., 19 January 1919. His father was a son of Abram Westfall and a grandson of Gilbert Westfall. Among his ancestors on his mother's side were Elder Samuel Wright, Dr. Comfort Starr, and John Gay.

He was a member of the Groton Historical Society.

He married, 24 November 1885, Clara E. Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Page of Ayer, who survive him, together with two sons, Alfred P. and Ralph H. Richardson.

Laurt Jones Hunter Wentwaxx, B.S.N., of Clinton, Mass., a resident member since 1912, was born at West Brighton, N. Y., 12 August 1861, the son of Taylor Hutchins and Samantha Hetty (Wright) Wentwall, and died at Clinton, Mass., 19 January 1919. His father was a son of Abram Wentwall and a grandson of Oliver Wentwall. Among his ancestors on his mother's side were Major Samuel Wright, Dr. Comfort Starr, and John Clap.

He was educated in the public schools of Rochester, N. Y., and in naval schools. He entered the United States Navy as an apprentice in 1877, and was promoted to be a gunner by President Cleveland in 1886. He was in the great hurricane at the Samoan Islands, in which the U.S. Ship Trenton was among the wrecked vessels. As a result of his experiences at that time he was invalided from service, being placed on the retired list by President Harrison in 1892 because of disabilities contracted in line of duty. He settled in Allston, Mass., and for some years was attendance officer of the Boston public schools. When the United States entered the World War he was recalled to the naval service and became commandant of the Naval Coal Station at East Lamoine, Me., receiving there his commission as lieutenant. He had long suffered from heart trouble, and his last days were spent at the Naval Hospital in Chelsea.

He was a member and governor of the Founders and Patriots of America, of which he was one of the organizers, of the Society of American Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and of the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the Revolution, of which he had been recently reëlected registrar. He was also a member of the Knights Templars and of other Masonic organizations.

A widow and a young son, John H. Westfall, Jr., survive him.

Ensign George Allen Hunt, U.S.N., of Wollaston, Mass., a resident member since 1918, was born at Rockland, Mass., 10 September 1889, the son of George Harford and Joanna (Reed) Hunt, and died in Philadelphia, Pa., 1 February 1919. He traced his descent from Enoch[1] Hunt of Weymouth, Mass., through Ephraim,[2] Ephraim,[3] Thomas,[4] Thomas,[5] Thomas,[6] David,[7] Gridley,[8] and George Harford,[9] his father.

He was educated in the Rockland grammar and high schools and at Worcester Academy. He engaged in business, and, while a clerk in the Old Colony Trust Company in Boston, he joined the United States Naval Reserve in 1917, was made an ensign, served as assistant paymaster, and while on duty met with an accident which caused his death.

He married, 1 October 1913, Frances Rachel Eldridge, daughter of Lewis William and Minnie (Gray) Eldridge, who survives him, together with two children, Dorothy and David Eldridge Hunt.

Ethan Wilcox of Westerly, R. I., a resident member since 1913, was born at Norwich, Conn., 5 July 1841, the son of Silas and Eunice (Swan) Wilcox, and died at Westerly 6 February 1919.

His father died when Ethan was two years old, leaving his wife with six children to care for, and Ethan, who was next to the youngest child, had few opportunities to secure more than the rudiments of an education. But he attended the common schools of Connecticut, and, being of a studious nature, was enabled for a time to pursue his studies at the high school at Westerly.

When sixteen years old he entered the employ of the White Rock Mill in Westerly, and was soon made the manager of the company's store, a position which he held for many years. In 1877 he started

He was educated in the public schools of Rochester, N. Y., and in naval schools. He entered the United States Navy as an apprentice in 1877, and was promoted to boy gunner by President Cleveland in 1886. He was in the great hurricane at the Samoan Islands, in which the U.S. Ship Trenton was among the wrecked vessels. As a result of his experience at that time he was invalided from service, being placed on the retired list by President Harrison in 1892 because of disabilities contracted in line of duty. He settled in Allston, Mass., and for some years was attendance officer of the Boston public schools. When the United States entered the World War he was recalled to the naval service and became commandant of the Naval Coal Station at East Lamoine, Me., receiving there his commission as lieutenant. He had long suffered from heart trouble, and his last days were spent at the Naval Hospital in Chelsea.

He was a member and governor of the Mounten and Patriots of America, of which he was one of the organizers, of the Society of American Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and of the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the Revolution, of which he had been recently reelected registrar. He was also a member of the Knights Templars and of other Masonic organizations.

A widow and a young son, John R. Wardell, Jr., survive him.

Hudson Clemons Adams Hunt, U.S.N., of Wollaston, Mass., a resident member since 1918, was born at Hoosick, Mass., 10 September 1880, the son of George Hartwell and Jessie (Hood) Hunt, and died in Philadelphia, Pa., 1 February 1919. He traced his descent from Lincoln Hunt of Weymouth, Mass., through Ephraim,[7] Ephraim,[6] Thomas,[5] Thomas,[4] Thomas,[3] David,[2] Cordley,[1] and George Hartwell,[0] his father.

He was educated in the Hoosick grammar and high schools and at Worcester Academy. He engaged in business, and, while a clerk in the Old Colony Trust Company in Boston, he joined the United States Naval Reserve in 1917, was made an ensign, served as assistant paymaster, and while on duty met with an accident which caused his death.

He married, 1 October 1913, Frances Hazel Eldridge, daughter of Lewis William and Minnie (Gray) Eldridge, who survive him, together with two children, Dorothy and David Eldridge Hunt.

Ethan Wheeler of Westerly, R. I., a resident member since 1914, was born at Norwich, Conn., 5 July 1841, the son of Silas and Rosina (Swan) Wheeler, and died at Westerly 6 February 1919.

His father died when Ethan was two years old, leaving his wife with six children to care for, and Ethan, who was next to the youngest child, had few opportunities to secure more than the rudiments of an education. But he attended the common schools of Connecticut, and, being of a studious nature, was enabled for a time to pursue his studies at the high school at Westerly.

When sixteen years old he entered the employ of the White Rock Mill in Westerly, and was soon made the manager of the company's store, a position which he held for many years. In 1877 he started in business for himself at Westerly, conducting a general merchandise store until he was burned out in 1891. He then became manager of the Smith Granite Company's store, where he remained until he was called in 1894 to take up the duties of librarian of the Westerly Public Library. He had already become interested in library work many years before, having been in 1882 a member of the reorganization committee of the Pawcatuck Library Association, in 1886 secretary of this association, and librarian of the Pawcatuck Library from 1882 to 1894, when its books were absorbed in the Westerly Public Library. In this new library he served as librarian until 1908, when he was made librarian emeritus, and during this period the number of volumes in the library grew from 5000 to nearly 21,000. He served as first vice-president (1903–1905) and president (1907–8) of the Rhode Island Library Association, and was for many years one of the editors of the Rhode Island Bulletin. He was also a member of the American Library Association.

Mr. Wilcox was much interested in historical matters. He was a charter member of the Westerly Historical Society and its president since 1914.

From 1891 till 1901 he served the town of Westerly as overseer of the poor, he was superintendent of health from 1894 until 1897, and for years was one of the record commissioners. For twenty years he was clerk of the First Baptist Church in Westerly, was for a time one of its deacons, and was for over twenty-five years superintendent of the Sunday School connected with this church.

He married, 24 November 1864, Ruth Johnson Greene of Westerly, who died 16 May 1909, daughter of Stephen Allen and Abby (Hopkins) Greene. A daughter, Fanny Emma, and a son, Frederick Randall Wilcox, survive him.

Rev. Henry Ainsworth Parker, A. M., of Cambridge, Mass., a resident member since 1885, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., 19 October 1841, the son of William Ainsworth and Mary (Iddings) Parker, and died at Cambridge 17 February 1919. He traced his descent from Abraham[1] Parker of Woburn and Chelmsford, Mass., through Moses,[2] Aaron,[3] Samuel,[4] Abel,[5] Isaac,[6] and William Ainsworth,[7] his father. On his father's side his ancestors were chiefly of New England Puritan families, while his mother's ancestors were residents of Pennsylvania and Maryland, and were adherents of the Church of England, Quakers, and (in one line) Roman Catholics.

His father was a resident of Philadelphia at the time of the son's birth, but soon afterwards removed to Boston, where he was a member of the firm of Parker, Wilder & Parker, afterwards Parker, Wilder & Company. He died in 1850, and his widow (Henry Ainsworth Parker's mother) removed to Concord, N. H., and a year and a half later to Cambridge, Mass.

Henry Ainsworth Parker was educated at various schools in Boston, in Concord, N. H., and in Cambridge, among which was the well-known school of Epes S. Dixwell in Boston. He also studied under private tutors, among whom were John Noble, James Chase, and Albert Stickney. He was graduated at Harvard University,

For twenty years he was clerk of the First Baptist Church in Westerly, was for a time one of its deacons, and was for over twenty-five years superintendent of the Sunday School connected with this church.

He married, 24 November 1894, Ruth Johnson Greene of Westerly, who died 16 May 1909, daughter of Stephen Allen and Abby (Hopkins) Greene. A daughter, Nancy Emma, and a son, Frederick Randall Wilcox, survive him.

Rev. Henry Ainsworth Parker, A. M., of Cambridge, Mass., a resident member since 1883, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., 10 October 1861, the son of William Ainsworth and Mary (Collins) Parker, and died at Cambridge 17 February 1919. He traced his descent from Abraham Parker of Woburn and Chelmsford, Mass., through Moses,[1] Aaron,[2] Samuel,[3] Abel,[4] Isaac,[5] and William Ainsworth,[6] his father. On his father's side his ancestors were chiefly of New England Puritan families, while his mother's ancestors were residents of Pennsylvania and Maryland, and were adherents of the Church of England, Quakers, and (in one line) Roman Catholics.

He died in 1880, and his widow (Mary Ainsworth Parker's mother) removed to Concord, N. H., and a year and a half later to Cambridge, Mass.

Henry Ainsworth Parker was educated at various schools in Boston, in Concord, N. H., and in Cambridge, among which was the well-known school of Epes S. Dixwell in Boston. He also studied under private tutors, among whom were John Noble, James Cross, and Albert Stickney. He was graduated at Harvard University with the degree of A. B., in 1864, and received the degree of A. M. from the same institution in 1867. He spent three years at the General Theological Seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church in New York, graduating there in 1867.

During the year 1867–8 he had charge of a Sunday School and instructed private pupils in New York, and in September 1868 went to Hartford, Conn., where for two years he was a tutor in the family of Mrs. Samuel Colt. He was ordained a deacon by Bishop Williams, in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Hartford, 1 Nov. 1870. In the fall of 1871 he took charge of the parish of St. Luke, at Bustleton in Philadelphia, and continued there until 5 April 1874. He was ordained priest by Bishop Stevens in St. Peter's Church, Philadelphia, 21 December 1872. After leaving the parish at Bustleton he spent four months in Albany, N. Y., as temporary assistant at the Cathedral. The next winter he passed in New York City, and in the spring of 1875 accepted the rectorship of Christ Church in North Conway, N. H. He retained this charge until February 1886, when he resigned it. He had already spent the first five months of 1879 in California and the West and the winter of 1884 in Cambridge, where he had charge of the mission of the Ascension in East Cambridge. This charge he resigned 23 May 1889, but he continued to live in Cambridge, holding religious services in various places as occasion offered, and studying theology and history.

He wrote much and printed little, most of that little being in the publications of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, of which he was a member. He also contributed articles and letters to The Church Journal and The Churchman.

He married in New York City, 6 December 1870, Mary Seabury, daughter of Rev. Samuel; D. D., professor in the General Theological Seminary, and Hannah Amelia (Jones) Seabury, and great-granddaughter of Right Rev. Samuel Seabury. She died 29 May 1918. Two children, a son and a daughter, died in infancy, but five sons survive him: William Ainsworth, A. B. (Harvard, 1896), LL. B. (Harvard, 1905), Gurdon Saltonstall, S. B. (Harvard, 1900), Stanley Brampton, Henry Seabury, A. B. (Harvard, 1904), and Reginald Seabury Parker, A. B. (Harvard, 1912).

Mrs. Louise Snow (Prosser) Bates, A. M., of Cranston, R. I., a resident member since 1908, was born at Mystic, Conn., 13 May 1857, the daughter of John Gardner and Maria Louise (Palmer) Prosser, and died at Cranston 22 February 1919. She was a descendant of John[1] Prosser, who was in Stonington, Conn., or Westerly, R. I., about 1708, through ———,[2] Arnold,[3] John,[4] John Kenyon,[5] and John Gardner,[6] her father. On her mother's side she was descended from the immigrant Walter Palmer of Charlestown and Rehoboth, Mass., and Stonington, Conn., and his wife Rebecca (Short).

She was educated at a private school in Providence, R. I., until she reached the age of thirteen years. Then she attended the Bridgham Street Grammar School, and was graduated at the Providence High School (Classical Department) in 1877. She was graduated at Boston University with the Class of 1881, receiving the degree of A. B., and she received the degree of A. M. in 1893 from Brown University, being the first woman to receive a degree from that institution. In 1917 she was honored by an election to the Phi Beta Kappa chapter of her alma mater, an honor delayed because at the time of her graduation the society admitted only men to its membership.

Mrs. Bates was a genealogist by profession. Her interest in genealogical subjects began about 1900 in searching original records for data in regard to her own family and that of her husband. She became familiar with the vital records of many States and was skilled in deciphering them and in solving intricate problems. Many valuable records which she gleaned from many sources are now on file in the Rhode Island Historical Society's building in Providence.

In 1910 Mrs. Bates was made the "Keeper of Graduate Records" of Brown University, a position which she retained until failing health in 1918 compelled her resignation. Her chief monument is the "Historical Catalogue of Brown University, 1764–1914," which was printed for the celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of that institution.

For twenty-seven years Mrs. Bates was an officer of the Children's Friend Society of Providence, serving for fifteen years of that time as its president. She was a member also of the Rhode Island Historical Society and of the Newport Historical Society.

She was married, 3 May 1882, to Francis Eliot Bates, son of Albert Greene and Edith Ann (Haydon) Bates, who, together with a daughter, Hope Angell, A. B. (Wellesley College, 1909), wife of Asa Sheldon Briggs, Ph.B. (Brown University, 1907), M. D. (Harvard, 1911), survives her. Two other children died young.

Mrs. Sarah Delina (Lyle) Cropley of Dorchester, Mass., a life member since 1905, was born at Port La Tour, Shelburne Co., Nova Scotia, 5 February 1852, the daughter of Capt. Seth Snow and Sophia (Snow) Lyle, and died at Dorchester 24 February 1919. Her mother, Sophia Snow, was seventh in descent from Stephen Hopkins of the Mayflower, through his daughter Constance, who married Nicholas Snow.

She received her education in a private school at Port La Tour, and from private tutors at Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, and at Quincy Point and Marblehead, Mass.

She travelled extensively, both in this country and in Europe, journeyed at various times to and along the western coast of the United States, and visited the British Isles and the Continent, including Denmark, Sweden, and Norway. She was a delegate to the World's Sunday School Convention in London in 1898. She was the author of "Prismatic Thoughts," a work that was published in 1894.

She was married, 21 May 1872, to Jacob Miller Cropley, son of John and Louise (Miller) Cropley. Four sons, Eugene Irving, Jacob Howard, Walter Lyle, and Ralph Edward Cropley, survive her.

School (Classical Department) in 1877. She was graduated at Boston University with the Class of 1881, receiving the degree of A. B., and she received the degree of A. She was married, 21 May 1872, to Jacob Miller Cowley, son of John and Louisa (Miller) Cowley. Four sons, Hyram Irving, Jacob Howard, Walter Lyle, and Ralph Edward Cowley, survive her.

Edward Doubleday Harris of Yonkers, N. Y., a life member since 1882, was born at Cambridge, Mass., 20 September 1839, the son of Thaddeus William and Catherine (Holbrook) Harris, and died at Yonkers 2 March 1919. He traced his descent from Thomas[1] Harris of Boston, through Benjamin,[2] Cary,[3] William,[4] Thaddeus Mason,[5] and Thaddeus William,[6] his father.

The immigrant ancestor of this Harris family, Thomas Harris of Boston, baptized in the parish of Ottery St. Mary, Devonshire, England, in July 1637, came to Boston between 1670 and 1675. His great-grandson, Capt. William Harris, was a schoolmaster at Charlestown, Mass., and an officer in the Revolution. The latter's son, Thaddeus Mason Harris, was graduated at Harvard in 1787, received the degree of A.M. in course, and was for forty-three years pastor of the First Church at Dorchester, Mass. He received from his alma mater the degree of S.T.D. in 1813. He died in 1842. He was widely known by his published sermons, his works on natural history, and his historical and antiquarian researches. Thaddeus William Harris, son of Thaddeus Mason Harris and father of the subject of this memoir, was graduated at Harvard in 1815, took the degree of A.M. in course, and received from Harvard the degree of M.D. in 1820. For seven years he practised his profession as a physician at Milton, Mass., and then succeeded Benjamin Peirce as librarian of Harvard College, holding this position until his death on 16 January 1856. He was the acknowledged American authority on entomology and an antiquary of high repute. William Thaddeus Harris, son of Thaddeus William and elder brother of Edward Doubleday Harris, was born at Milton 25 January 1826, was graduated at Harvard with the Class of 1846, and received the degrees of A.M. and LL.B. from Harvard in 1848. In 1849 the degree of M.A. was bestowed on him by Yale, Amherst, and Williams Colleges. In spite of physical infirmities, from which he had suffered since infancy, he won high rank as a scholar and proved himself to be a learned antiquarian and genealogist. On 6 August 1845, before he had taken his bachelor's degree, he was elected a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and in 1849 served as Editor of the Register, then in its third volume, the April, July, and October issues of that year being edited by him. In his death, on 19 October 1854, the Society lost one of its most promising members.

Edward Doubleday Harris was a worthy successor of his grandfather, father, and brother in the field of antiquarian and genealogical research, although the college training which they had enjoyed was denied to him. He was educated at the Hopkins Classical School and the Cambridge High School, graduating at the latter school in 1855. He adopted architecture as his profession, was a member of the successful Boston firm of Ryder & Harris for some ten years from 1863 on, and went in 1872 to New York City to be the private architect and adviser of Alexander Turney Stewart. After the death of the latter in 1876 he was employed by the executors of Mr. Stewart's estate, and resided in New York City, Saratoga Springs, and Brooklyn.

While he was still young his record of the Vassall family revealed his ability as a genealogist, and in the course of his busy life genealogy became his means of relaxation. As a boy, too, he had been often the companion of his gifted father, and had become interested in entomology, to which in his later years he turned with whole-hearted zeal, attaining a considerable reputation in science.

Mr. Harris's genealogical writings and the records collected and published by him include "The Vassalls of New England," in the REGISTER, vol. 17 (1863); "An Account of some Descendants of Capt. Thomas Brattle," 1867; "Epitaphs from the Old Burying Ground in Watertown, collected by William Thaddeus Harris, LL.B., Author of the Cambridge Epitaphs, with Notes by Edward Doubleday Harris," 1869; "A Genealogical Record of Thomas Bascom and his Descendants," 1870; "A Genealogical Record of Daniel Pond and his Descendants," 1873; a memoir of his brother, William Thaddeus Harris, A.M., LL.B., in "Memorial Biographies of the New England Historic Genealogical Society," vol. 2, pages 294–304 (Boston, 1881); "Some Account of the Early Streeters of Massachusetts," in the REGISTER, vol. 36, pages 161–164 (1882); "Memoir of Thaddeus William Harris, M.D.," 1882, reprinted from the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society; "A Copy of the Old Epitaphs in the Burying Ground of Block Island, R. I.," 1883; "Rev. Peter Thacher's Record of Marriages at Milton," in the REGISTER, vols. 36 (1882) and 38 (1884); "The New England Royalls," in the REGISTER, vol. 39, pages 348–358 (1885), which was reprinted in 1885 with important additions; "The Trotts of Dorchester and Boston," in the REGISTER, vol. 43, pages 79–80 (1889); "William and Anne Robinson of Dorchester, Mass., their Ancestors and Descendants," 1890; "The Dolbeares of Boston," in the REGISTER, vol. 47, pages 24–27 (1893); and "Dorothy Stanton," in the REGISTER, vol. 48, pages 421–423 (1894).

Mr. Harris married Katherine Brattle Wheelock, daughter of Hiram and Katherine Brattle (Bascom) Wheelock, who survived him, together with a daughter, Mrs. William R. Wilson, and a son, William Cary Harris of Yonkers.

ROBERT APTHORP BOIT, A. B., of Brookline, Mass., a resident member since 1907, was born in Boston 29 April 1846, the son of Edward Darley and Jane Parkinson (Hubbard) Boit, and died at Brookline 6 March 1919. His great-grandfather, John Boit, who was born in 1733, died in Boston in 1798. His grandfather, John Boit, when a young man, was mate on the American ship that discovered the Columbia River in 1792. His mother was the daughter of John Hubbard of Boston, who owned large plantations in Demarara. His maternal great-grandfather was Thomas Hubbard, who for many years (1752–1773) was treasurer of Harvard College.

He was educated at a private school and later at the high school at Jamaica Plain, Mass., going from there at the age of fourteen to the famous school of Epes S. Dixwell in Boston, where he remained four years (1860–1864), and then entered Harvard College, where he received the degree of A. B. in 1868.

After graduation he engaged with his father in general commission business at Savannah, Ga., and became a partner in the firm of Boit & McKenzie of that city. In 1875 he left Savannah, and after a brief residence in Newport and New York he moved, in 1878, to Boston, residing in the Longwood section of Brookline. From January 1878 to September 1878 he was cashier of the United States branch of the Commercial Union Assurance Company of London, at 37 and 39 Wall Street, New York City. In September 1878 he became one of the Boston firm of Crosby & Boit, agents for the above-named London company, and was afterwards head of the firm of Robert A. Boit & Company. He continued in the insurance business and in various trusts until his decease.

He was a director of the Chicopee Manufacturing Company, the Old Boston National Bank, the Commercial Union Fire Insurance Company, and the New England Casualty Company, and a trustee of the Cushing Real Estate Trust and other trusts. He had been president of the Metropolitan Improvement League, of the Boston Dispensary, of the Boston Board of Fire Underwriters, and of the Boston Associated Board of Trade.

He was a member of the Somerset Club, the Boston Athletic Association, the Tennis and Racquet Club, the University Club, the Boston City Club, the St. Botolph Club (of which he had been president), the Harvard Musical Association, the Longwood Cricket Club, the Bostonian Society, the Harvard Union, the Papyrus Club (of which he was formerly president), and the Harvard Clubs of Boston and New York. He was also a member of the Citizens' Law and Order League, the Young Men's Democratic Club, the Merchants' Association, and the Verulam Society.

He was the author of "Eustis, a Southern Love Story," published by James R. Osgood & Company of Boston.

He married first, at Savannah, Ga., 15 January 1874, Georgia Anderson Mercer, who died 6 December 1878, daughter of Gen. Hugh Weedon Mercer of Savannah, formerly of Williamsburg, Va., by his wife Mary (Anderson) of Savannah; and secondly, at New Bedford, Mass., 20 May 1886, Lilian Willis, daughter of Nathaniel Parker Willis, the well-known poet and editor, of "Idlewild" on the Hudson, by his wife Cornelia (Grinnell) of New Bedford. His second wife survives him, as do his two children by his first wife, Mary Anderson, wife of Dr. Hugh Cabot of Boston, and Georgia Mercer, wife of Walter S. Gierasch of Long Island, N. Y., and two children by his second wife, Alice, wife of William A. Burnham, Jr., and John Edward Boit, A. B. (Harvard, 1912).

William Orin Tasker of Haverhill, Mass., a resident member since 1906, was born at Strafford, N. H., 18 March 1843, the son of Jeremiah and Lucy (Chesley) Tasker, and died at Haverhill 12 March 1919. He was a descendant of William Tasker, who settled at Dover, N. H., in 1675.

He was educated in the public schools of his native town and of the city of Lowell, Mass. His love of music led him to the study of the pianoforte and organ, and for several years he was a teacher of these instruments. For a long time he conducted a large music store business at Savannah, Ga., and became a partner in the firm of Bolt & McKenzie of that city. In 1873 he left Savannah, and after a brief residence in Newport and New York he moved, in 1875, to Boston, residing in the Longwood section of Brookline. From January 1878 to September 1878 he was cashier of the United States branch of the Commercial Union Assurance Company of London, at 37 and 39 Wall Street, New York City. In September 1878 he became one of the Boston firm of Crosby & Bolt, agents for the above-named London company, and was afterwards head of the firm of Robert A. Bolt & Company. He continued in the insurance business and in various trusts until his decease.

He was a director of the Chicopee Manufacturing Company, the Old Boston National Bank, the Commercial Union Fire Insurance Company, and the New England Casualty Company, and a trustee of the Cushing Real Estate Trust and other trusts. He was also a member of the Citizens' Law and Order League, the Young Men's Democratic Club, the Mercantile Association, and the Yorkian Society.

He was the author of "Bolts, a Southern Love Story," published by James R. Osgood & Company of Boston.

He married first, at Savannah, Ga., 15 January 1874, Georgia Anderson Meyer, who died 6 December 1875, daughter of Gen. Hugh Weedon Meyer of Savannah, formerly of Williamsburg, Va., by his wife Mary (Anderson) of Savannah; and secondly, at New Bedford, Mass., 20 May 1880, Lillian Willis, daughter of Nathaniel Parker Willis, the well-known poet and editor, of "Idlewild" on the Hudson, by his wife Cornelia (Grinnell) of New Bedford. His second wife survives him, as do his two children by his first wife, Mary Anderson, wife of Dr. Hugh Cabot of Boston, and Georgia Meyer, wife of Walter R. Dimock of Long Island, N. Y., and two children by his second wife, Alice, wife of William A. Burnham, Jr., and John Howard Bolt, A. B. (Harvard, 1912).

WILLIAM OTIS TARBOX of Haverhill, Mass., a practical chemist (since 1906), was born at Stoneham, N. H., 13 March 1844, the son of Jeremiah and Lucy (Chesley) Tarbox, and died at Haverhill 12 March 1912. He was a descendant of William Tarbox, who settled at Dover, N. H., in 1672.

He was educated in the public schools of his native town and of the city of Lowell, Mass. His love of music led him to the study of the pianoforte and organ, and for several years he was a teacher of these instruments. For a long time he conducted a large music store in Haverhill, a business from which he retired in 1890 to devote his time to the management of his immediate personal interests. In 1892–3 he served on the Board of Aldermen and later was a member of the School Board of Haverhill. He was prominent in Masonic circles, was a member of the Haverhill Historical Society, and exhibited a keen interest and a sound judgment in all public questions.

He married, 30 January 1873, Augusta Edgerly of Northwood, N. H., who survives him.

Charles Sewall Norris of Melrose, Mass., a resident member since 1918, was born at Wenham, Mass., 10 April 1871, the son of George Everett and Abbie C. (Garvin) Norris, and died at Melrose 26 March 1919. He was a descendant of Rev. Edward Norris, the third minister in Salem, Mass., who succeeded Roger Williams.

He moved with his parents to Malden, Mass., when he was about ten years old, and attended the public schools there. He was graduated at the Malden High School in 1890, and in the following year became connected with the Malden Savings Bank as one of its incorporators. He was teller there until 1 August 1907, when he became treasurer and trustee of the Home Savings Bank in Boston, and held this position until his death.

Mr. Norris was a musician of note. He had played as an organist in the Universalist Church and also in the Baptist Church at Malden, and after removing from Malden to Melrose Highlands in 1907 he was a member and organist of the Congregational Church in the latter place. He was at one time secretary of the Cecilia Society of Boston. He also attained distinction in Masonic circles.

He married, 29 May 1895, Emma Frances Brown, daughter of Lewis P. and Frances Rose Brown of Malden, who was educated at Boston University and died on the morning of the day on which Mr. Norris passed away. They left three children, Caroline F., Edward, and Carl B. Norris.

Alexander Cochrane of Boston, a life member since 1912, was born at Bar Head, near Paisley, Scotland, 12 May 1840, the son of Alexander and Margaret (Rae) Cochrane, and died in Boston 10 April 1919. He traced his descent, on the maternal side, from Archibald Douglas, Earl of Angus, who was famous in Scottish history and figures as one of the characters in "Marmion."

Mr. Cochrane's father was a manufacturing chemist, and came to this country from Scotland in 1849. He settled in New Jersey, going later to Billerica, Mass., where Gov. Thomas Talbot was his junior partner in business.

The younger Alexander Cochrane began as a young man to make himself useful in his father's chemical manufactory at Billerica. He attended public schools there, as well as a private school in Lowell, receiving scholastic training which was of benefit later in his business. Under his father's direction he became a student of practical chemistry at Billerica, and was soon admitted to the firm of A. Cochrane & Company, which, in 1883, became incorporated as the Cochrane in Haverhill, a business from which he retired in 1890 to devote his time to the management of his immediate personal interests. In 1892-3 he served on the Board of Aldermen and later was a member of the School Board of Haverhill. He was president in Masonic circles, was a member of the Haverhill Historical Society, and exhibited a keen interest and a sound judgment in all public questions.

He married, 30 January 1872, Augusta Ridgely of Northwood, N. H., who survives him.

Charles Stwart Norris of Malden, Mass., a resident member since 1918, was born at Wenham, Mass., 10 April 1871, the son of George Everett and Alice G. (Gerrish) Norris, and died at Malden 26 March 1919. He was a descendant of Rev. Edward Norris, the third minister in Salem, Mass., who succeeded Roger Williams.

He moved with his parents to Malden, Mass., when he was about ten years old, and attended the public schools there. He was graduated at the Malden High School in 1890, and in the following year became connected with the Malden Savings Bank, as one of its incorporators. He was teller there until 1 August 1907, when he became treasurer and trustee of the Home Savings Bank in Boston, and held this position until his death.

He was at one time secretary of the Cecilia Society of Boston. He also attained distinction in Masonic circles.

He married, 20 May 1895, Emma Frances Brown, daughter of Lewis F. and Frances Rose-Brown of Malden, who was educated at Boston University and died on the morning of the day on which Mr. Norris passed away. They left three children, Caroline F., Edward, and Carl R. Norris.

Alexander Cochrane of Boston, a life member since 1912, was born at Far Hoad, near Paisley, Scotland, 12 May 1840, the son of Alexander and Margaret (Hay) Cochrane, and died in Boston 19 April 1919. He traced his descent, on the maternal side, from Archibald Douglas, Earl of Angus, who was famous in Scottish history and figures as one of the characters in "Marmion".

Mr. Cochrane's father was a manufacturing chemist, and came to this country from Scotland in 1849. He settled in New Jersey, going later to Illinois, Mass., where Gov. Thomas Talbot was his junior partner in business.

The younger Alexander Cochrane began as a young man to make himself useful in his father's chemical manufactory at Illinois. He attended public schools there, as well as a private school in Lowell, receiving scholastic training which was of benefit later in his business. Under his father's direction he became a student of practical chemistry at Illinois, and was soon admitted to the firm of A. Cochrane & Company, which, in 1882, became incorporated as the Cochrane Chemical Company. Mr. Cochrane was made president of this company, and held this position until his death.

His work as a director of various telephone companies and their development forms an interesting chapter of his business life. He became a director of the New England Telephone Company on its formation in 1878 and of the National Bell Telephone Company the following year. A year later he was made a director of the American Bell Telephone Company. In 1899 he became a director of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Mr. Cochrane continued as a director of these organizations and as a member of various executive committees, and in 1900 he served as acting president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company until a permanent president could be chosen.

Mr. Cochrane had also many other business interests. He had been a director of the Eliot National Bank, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, and the Boston & Lowell Railroad, a director and vice-president of the New England Trust Company, and a director of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, the New England Navigation Company, the Boston & Maine Railroad, the Maine Central Railroad, and the Massachusetts Electric Companies. He had been president of the Manufacturing Chemists' Association of the United States, and had served as president of the Board of Trustees of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, 1902–1915.

He long served as a vestryman of Trinity Church, Boston, and was chairman of the committee which had charge of the building of the impressive porch and western tower in 1894. He was also one of the committee on the Phillips Brooks memorial monument on the church grounds. He was chairman of the committee of Boston merchants by which the money was raised for the former building of the Young Men's Christian Association on Boylston Street, and was also on the building committee. In all his various positions, both public and private, he rendered valuable service.

He was a member of the Somerset Club, the Union Club (of which he had been vice-president), the Thursday Evening Club, the Brookline Country Club, the Long Point Shooting Club on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie, the Canaveral Club in Florida, the Restigouche Salmon Club in Canada, and other clubs and organizations. He had travelled much abroad, and found relaxation from his business interests in golf, fishing, and shooting. He was deeply interested in literature and art, and his fine library in his residence on Commonwealth Avenue was his favorite place in his leisure hours. At Pride's Crossing, Mass., he had a summer home. In politics he was a Republican.

The Boston Evening Transcript, in an editorial article, speaks of him as follows:

> "He was a man of unusual charm. Born a Scot and of a famous lineage, Mr. Cochrane was deeply interested in all matters pertaining to his native land. He spent his leisure hours in his excellent library, and there his friends found him at his best as a courteous host and an agreeable conversationalist. He knew Europe intimately, and as a traveling companion he ranked with many whose merits have been celebrated in literature."

Mr. Cochrane married, 24 March 1869, Mary Lynde Sullivan, who died in August 1918, daughter of the late John Langdon and Mary (Lynde) Sullivan of Malden, Mass. Eight children survive him: Alexander Lynde, Mrs. Lindsley Loring (Charlotte Cochrane) of Westwood, Mass., Mrs. George R. Fearing, Jr. (Hester Cochrane), Francis Douglas, Mrs. F. Murray Forbes (Marjorie Cochrane), James Sullivan, Mrs. Howard G. Cushing (Ethel Cochrane) of New York City and Newport, R. I., and May Cochrane.

William Edward Gould of Boston, a resident member since 1911, was born at Portland, Me., 19 June 1837, the son of Edward and Althea (Chase) Gould, and died in Boston 15 April 1919. He was a descendant of Mager Gould of Ipswich, Mass., through Mager, Nathaniel, and Edward, his father, and he numbered also among his ancestors Aquila Chase of Newbury, Mass., and Experience Mitchell.

He was educated in the Portland High School and at Gould's Academy, Bethel, Me.

When twenty-one years old, following the traditions of his family, he accepted the position of cashier in the First National Bank of Portland, which he built up to be the leading bank of Maine. He was organist, when a young man, of the Third Parish Church, and was for some years president of the Hayden Society of Portland. He also led an amateur orchestra and choral society in his spacious residence at Deering, Me. He founded, and was first executive officer of, the Portland Society of Art. He founded also the Woodfords Congregational Church, and often occupied pulpits in Maine.

After his retirement from business Mr. Gould devoted much of his time to genealogical investigation and writing. He was the editor of The Chase Chronicle, the organ of the Chase-Chace Family Association, the issue of this publication for April 1919 being his last editorial effort. He wrote the history of the Gould, Chase, and Maynard families, and presented illustrated copies to the Maine Historical Society, the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and the Gorham (Me.) Historical Society. He was also the author of many papers and addresses on various subjects, such as banking, music, ecclesiastical customs, migrations of families, historical anniversaries, and the like.

He married, 27 April 1859, Emma Maynard Dow, who died 22 February 1918, daughter of Hon. Neal and Maria Cornelia Durant (Maynard) Dow. Two of his five children survive him: Alice Maynard, wife of Everett W. Pattison, a leading attorney of St. Louis, Mo., and Neal Dow Gould of Portland.

James Adams of Brookline, Mass., elected a resident member in 1869 and made a life member in 1870, was born at Charlestown, Mass., 17 September 1838, the son of James and Pamelia Wyman (Skilton) Adams, and died at Brookline 16 April 1919. He was descended from Henry[1] Adams, the ancestor of the famous Adams family of Massachusetts, who settled at Braintree, through Edward[2] of Medfield, Mass., Elishib[3] of Bristol, Elishib,[4] Elishib,[5] Chester,[6] and James,[7] his father.

who died in August 1913, daughter of the late John Langdon and Mary (Lynde) Sullivan of Malden, Mass. Both children survive him: Alexander Lynde, Mrs. Lindsley Loring (Charlotte Coburns) of Westwood, Mass., Mrs. George R. Fearing, Jr. (Hester Coburns), Francis Douglas, Mrs. F. Murray Forbes (Marjorie Coburns), James Sullivan, Mrs. Howard C. Cushing (Ethel Coburns) of New York City and Newport, R. I., and Mary Coburns.

C. Boston Society Proceedings 10 April 1916

WILLIAM HOWARD GOULD of Boston, a resident member since 1911, was born at Portland, Me., 19 June 1837, the son of Edward and Althea (Chase) Gould, and died in Boston 15 April 1919. He was a descendant of Major Gould of Ipswich, Mass., through Major Nathaniel and Edward, his father, and he numbered also among his ancestors Aquila Chase of Newbury, Mass., and Experience Mitchell.

He was educated in the Portland High School and at Gould's Academy, Bethel, Me.

When twenty-one years old, following the traditions of his family, he accepted the position of cashier in the First National Bank of Portland, which he built up to be the leading bank of Maine. He was organist, when a young man, of the Third Parish Church, and was for some years president of the Garden Society of Portland. He also led an amateur orchestra and choral society in his spacious residence at Deering, Me. He founded, and was first executive officer of, the Portland Society of Art. He founded also the Woodfords Congregational Church, and often occupied pulpits in Maine.

After his retirement from business Mr. Gould devoted much of his time to genealogical investigation and writing. He was the editor of The Chase Chronicle, the organ of the Chase-Chase Family Association, the issue of this publication for April 1910 being his last editorial effort. He wrote the history of the Gould, Chase, and Maynard families, and presented illustrated copies to the Maine Historical Society, the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and the Cornish (Me.) Historical Society. He was also the author of many papers and addresses on various subjects, such as banking, music, ecclesiastical customs, migrations of families, historical anniversaries, and the like.

He married, 27 April 1865, Emma Maynard Dow, who died 23 February 1913, daughter of Hon. Neal and Maria Cornelia Dunnell (Maynard) Dow. Two of his five children survive him: Alice Maynard, wife of Everett W. Fettison, a leading attorney of St. Louis, Mo., and Neal Dow Gould of Portland.

JAMES ADAMS of Brookline, Mass., elected a resident member in 1909 and made a life member in 1870, was born at Charlestown, Mass., 17 September 1833, the son of James and Pamelia Wyman (Gilson) Adams, and died at Brookline 16 April 1910. He was descended from Henry Adams, the ancestor of the famous Adams family of Massachusetts, who settled at Braintree, through Edward of Medfield, Mass., Edward of Bristol, Ashfield, Lyndeb, Chester, and James, his father.

He lived in Charlestown until 1888, when he moved to Brookline. He was associated with the Bunker Hill National Bank from 1855 to 1874, for most of that time as cashier. In 1875 he became the cashier of the Blackstone National Bank, remaining connected with it until its dissolution in 1900, when he was its president. In 1907 he became vice-president of the Warren Institution for Savings, and was for a time its president, an office which had been held both by his father and his grandfather. He served as a trustee of the Charlestown Public Library from 1868 to 1871, and was president of the Charlestown Common Council in 1870.

Mr. Adams was deeply interested in historical and genealogical research. He was a member of the Bostonian Society, the Brookline Historical Society, and the Bunker Hill Monument Association, and belonged to the Masonic fraternity.

He married at Charlestown Emma Kendall Tufts, who survives him, together with four children, Mrs. Eugene P. Edwards of Stonington, Conn., Mrs. Frederic C. Paffard of Brooklyn, N. Y., Pamelia S. Adams, and James Adams, Jr., A.B. (Harvard, 1905), of Brookline.

Francis Herbert Stevens of Wellesley, Mass., a resident member since 1914, was born at Needham, Mass., 31 May 1847, the son of Augustus and Ann Eliza (Fuller) Stevens, and died in Boston 21 April 1919. He was a descendant of Thomas[1] Stevens, through Thomas,[2] Cyprian,[3] Cyprian,[4] Ephraim,[5] Ephraim,[6] Timothy,[7] and Augustus,[8] his father.

He was educated in public and commercial schools, and began his business career with the Prescott Insurance Company of Boston. His industry and ability won for him steady advancement, until he was made president of the company. In 1888 the accounts of the Prescott Company were transferred to the North British Mercantile Company, and Mr. Stevens was made its representative in Boston, a position which he held until his death.

He was recognized as one of the leading insurance men in Boston. Executive offices were repeatedly offered to him, but he always declined them, although he served on committees of the Boston Board of Underwriters and the Boston Protective Department.

In Wellesley he was most highly regarded as a leading citizen, whose opinion carried great weight in civic affairs. He did not care for office, but he served on a committee which planned and superintended the erection of the Wellesley High School building. He was a member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

He married, 17 November 1869, Frances Ida Alden, who died in 1917, daughter of Lorenzo and Frances Jane (Barnard) Alden. A granddaughter, Elizabeth Wight, child of his deceased daughter, the wife of Malcolm G. Wight, survives him.

Horace Parker Chandler, A.M., of Jamaica Plain, Mass., a resident member since 1913, was born in Boston 13 September 1842, the son of Peleg Whitman and Martha Ann Bush (Cleaveland) Chandler, and died at Jamaica Plain 7 June 1919. He traced his

He did not travelfor either, but he served on a committee which planned and superintended the erection of the Wellesley High School building. He was a member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

He married, 17 November 1869, Frances Ida Ames, who died in 1917, daughter of Lorenzo and Frances Jane (Barrow) Ames. A granddaughter, Elizabeth Wight, child of his deceased daughter, the wife of Malcolm G. Wight, survives him.

Horace Francis Chandler, A.M., of Jamaica Plain, Mass., a resident member since 1912, was born in Boston 12 September 1842, the son of Peleg Whitman and Martha Ann Tash (Chandler) Chandler, and died at Jamaica Plain 7 June 1918. He traced his descent from Edmund[1] Chandler of Duxbury in the Plymouth Colony, through Joseph,[2] Joseph,[3] Philip,[4] Peleg,[5] Peleg,[6] and Peleg Whitman,[7] his father. Peleg Whitman Chandler, a Bowdoin graduate of the Class of 1834, was the author of "American Criminal Trials," and his wife was the daughter of the distinguished Bowdoin professor, Parker Cleaveland.

He was prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, and was graduated with the degree of A.B. at Harvard University in the Class of 1864, receiving his degree of A.M. from the same institution in 1867. In the autumn of 1864 he removed to Chicago, Ill., and began the study of law, but poor health soon compelled him to relinquish his ambition to become a lawyer. The following year he engaged in the publishing business, the firm name being E. B. Meyers & Chandler, Law Publishers. He remained in Chicago as a publisher until June 1868, when he returned to Boston. While living in Chicago he was a regular correspondent of the Boston Daily Advertiser, a paper in which his family had an interest for many years. He sailed for England in July 1868, and remained abroad until November. Returning to Boston, he opened an office, 1 January 1869, as a real-estate and mortgage broker, and established his residence at Jamaica Plain. From 1875 on he was corresponding secretary of the Boston Port and Seaman's Aid Society, and since 1899 he had edited The Mariner's Advocate, the Society's publication. In the summer of 1883, during an extended tour in the north of Europe, as far as St. Petersburg, he wrote letters that appeared in the Advertiser. He also wrote for many years for the Boston Evening Transcript over the signature of "Orac," and in 1884 and 1885 he edited and published Every Other Saturday. He had written, ever since leaving college, more or less for the daily and weekly press and for magazines. In the course of the years 1891–1896 he compiled an anthology in six volumes, entitled "The Lovers' Year Book of Poetry," which was published by Roberts Brothers of Boston.

He was a member of the Boston Art Club, the Boston Athletic Association, and the Boston City Club. He was a Republican in politics and a Swedenborgian in religion.

He married, 15 August 1865, Grace Webster Mitchell, who died 27 January 1915, daughter of James Henry and Lavinia Hathaway (Angier) Mitchell and granddaughter of Judge Nahum Mitchell, the historian of Bridgewater, Mass. Five children survive him: Cleaveland Angier Chandler of Brookline, Mass., Grace and Ellen Chandler of Jamaica Plain, James Mitchell Chandler of Philadelphia, Pa., and Peleg Whitman Chandler of Brookline. Another son, Whitman Mitchell Chandler, died before his father.

Daniel Clifford Stone of Newton, Mass., a resident member since 1914, was born at Kittery, Me., 27 October 1871, the son of Gregory and Anne Jenkins (Bucknam) Stone, and died at Newton 9 June 1919. He traced his descent from Dea. Gregory[1] Stone of Cambridge, Mass., through David,[2] Daniel,[3] Gregory,[4] Gregory,[5] Gregory,[6] Daniel,[7] and Gregory,[8] his father. In a genealogy compiled by J. Gardner Bartlett and published recently by the Stone Family Association the ancestral line in England of Dea. Gregory Stone has been proved for several generations. Mr. Stone was also descended from Stephen Hopkins of the Mayflower.

A year after his birth his parents removed to Boston and eleven years later to Brockton, Mass., and he received his education in the public schools of the two cities and was graduated at the Brockton High School in 1889.

For the next four years he was engaged in experimental electrical and photometrical work in the development of incandescent electric lighting, at that time in its infancy. He then spent several months at sea in similar experimental work in the service of the International Marine Company. In 1894 he became a commercial traveller in the tea, coffee, and spice trade, his occupation for twenty-five years. For several years he covered New England and the State of New York, and in 1916 secured an important assignment of Pennsylvania territory, with headquarters at Scranton, as representative of the old Boston house of Dwinell-Wright Company, with which he had been connected since June 1905.

For many years he had been enthusiastically interested in his family history, and recalled with pleasure the fact that his ancestral line had been represented in every American war from the time of the "First Encounter" of the Pilgrims with the Indians in 1620 down through the Civil War. While on his business trips he often devoted leisure time to collecting family records, and he made extensive investigations which showed that the blood of Dea. Gregory Stone flowed in the veins of nearly one-half of Captain Parker's band of sixty men who fired the first shots on Lexington Common, on the morning of 19 April 1775. In 1910 he published a brief genealogy of his own line of the Stone family, which had perpetuated the name of Gregory and had been settled for more than two hundred years at the old homestead in Lincoln, Mass. Since 1908 he had been a member of the Stone Family Association, and on 20 June 1914 he entertained his fellow members in an excursion to this ancestral home, delivering an interesting historical account of it, which was afterwards published by the Association. In 1914, also, he was appointed a member of a committee for the publication of the "Gregory Stone Genealogy," and in 1917 was appointed manager for the sale of the work.

He was a member of the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants. He had long been identified with the Masonic fraternity and was a member of several lodges of the order. He was also a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and of the Boston Council of the United Commercial Travelers of America. From 1889 to 1894 he was a member of Battery I, First Heavy Artillery, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia. In religion he was a Congregationalist. He resided successively in Brockton, Winthrop, Dorchester, Medford, and Newton, Mass.

He married first, at Brockton, Mass., 19 April 1894, Nellie Rena Richardson, who died 31 March 1903, daughter of George Amos and Alice (Hudson) Richardson; and secondly, at Somerville, Mass., 12 April 1905, Annie Creighton Eaton, daughter of John Russell and Margaret (Ray) Eaton, who survives him, together with three children, Alice Hudson Stone and Gregory Bucknam Stone, children by his first wife, and John Eaton Stone, his son by his second wife.

Rear Admiral William Swift, U.S.N., Retired, of Richfield Springs, N. Y., a resident member since 1912, was born at Windham, Conn., 17 March 1848, the son of William and Harriet Gray (Byrne) Swift, and died at Newport, R. I., 30 June 1919. He traced his descent from William[1] Swift, who came to New England about 1630, through William,[2] Jireh,[3] Rowland,[4] William,[5] Justin,[6] and William,[7] his father. He also numbered among his ancestors Gov. William Bradford of the Plymouth Colony and Rev. John Robinson of Leyden.

He was graduated from the United States Naval Academy with the Class of 1867. He was promoted to the rank of ensign in 1868, master in 1870, lieutenant in 1871, lieutenant commander in 1889, commander in 1897, captain in 1902, and rear admiral in 1908. He was placed on the retired list on account of age in 1910.

As a young officer he served on the old Kearsarge, the Colorado, and the Susquehanna. From 1894 to 1897 he was executive officer of the armored cruiser New York, was with the European squadron at the time of the opening of the Kiel Canal, and served also on the Indiana, commanded by Capt. Robley D. Evans. Between 1900 and 1902 he was in command of the Prairie, the Concord, and the Yorktown, and acted for six months as governor of Guam. In 1906 he commanded the Connecticut.

From 1886 to 1890 he was on ordnance duty at the Washington Navy Yard, and for four years thereafter he was in Philadelphia, Pa., on leave of absence, as engineer for various corporations. In 1894 he was at the Newport War College. During the Spanish-American War he was ordnance officer at the New York Navy Yard, and from 1902 to 1906 he was on duty in the Bureau of Ordnance and as a member of the General Board and Army and Navy Joint Board. He was commandant of the Boston Navy Yard from 1907 to 1909, and while stationed there he made a report on the management of navy yards which resulted in his appointment by Secretary George Von L. Meyer as head of the so-called Swift Board, which investigated and reported on the whole subject of the reorganization of the Navy Department. The recommendations of the Board were approved, and the departmental system adopted at that time was the forerunner of the Office of Naval Operations which was later established in permanent form by Congress. After his retirement in 1910 he was for a number of months adviser to Secretary Meyer on navy yards and on industrial affairs in the Navy.

Admiral Swift was a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the University Club of New York City, and the Metropolitan and Army and Navy and Alice (Hudson) Richardson; and secondly, at Somerville, Mass., 12 April 1893, Annie Creighton Eaton, daughter of John Russell and Margaret (Day) Eaton, who survives him, together with three children, Alice Hudson Stone and Gregory Brockman Stone, children by his first wife, and John Eaton Stone, his son by his second wife.

Rear Admiral William Swift, U.S.N., Retired, of Richfield Springs, N. Y., a resident member since 1912, was born at Windham, Conn., 17 March 1853, the son of William and Harriet Gray (Byrne) Swift, and died at Newport, R. I., 30 June 1919. He traced his descent from William[1] Swift, who came to New England about 1630, through William,[2] Jireh,[3] Howland,[4] William,[5] Heath,[6] and William,[7] his father. He also matriculated among his ancestors Gov. William Bradford of the Plymouth Colony and Hev. John Robinson of Leyden.

He was graduated from the United States Naval Academy with the Class of 1877. He was promoted to the rank of ensign in 1878, master in 1879, lieutenant in 1871, lieutenant-commander in 1889, commander in 1897, captain in 1902, and rear admiral in 1908. He was placed on the retired list on account of age in 1910.

As a young officer he served on the old Kearsarge, the Colorado, and the Shenandoah. From 1884 to 1887 he was executive officer of the armored cruiser New York, was with the European squadron at the time of the opening of the Kiel Canal, and served also on the Yantic, commanded by Capt. Bailey D. Irwin. Between 1900 and 1902 he was in command of the Farragut, the Concord, and the Yorktown, and acted for six months as governor of Guam. In 1906 he commanded the Connecticut.

From 1883 to 1890 he was on ordnance duty at the Washington Navy Yard, and for four years thereafter he was in Philadelphia, Pa., on leave of absence, as engineer for various corporations. In 1898 he was at the Newport War College. During the Spanish-American War he was ordnance officer at the New York Navy Yard, and from 1902 to 1906 he was on duty in the Bureau of Ordnance and as a member of the General Board and Army and Navy Joint Board. He was commandant of the Boston Navy Yard from 1907 to 1909, and while stationed there he made a report on the management of navy yards which resulted in his appointment by Secretary George Von L. Meyer as head of the so-called Swift Board, which investigated and reported on the whole subject of the reorganization of the Navy Department. The recommendations of the Board were approved, and the departmental system adopted at that time was the forerunner of the Office of Naval Operations which was later established in permanent form by Congress. After his retirement in 1910 he was for a number of months adviser to Secretary Meyer on navy yards and on industrial affairs in the Navy.

Admiral Swift was a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the University Club of New York City, and the Metropolitan and Army and Navy

Clubs of Washington, and he was president of the Richfield Springs Country Club, in which he took a great interest.

He married, 18 September 1872, Grace Virginia Ransom, who died in 1906, daughter of Commodore George Marcellus Ransom, U.S.N., and his wife, Jane Sybilline (Manley). Five children survive him: Virginia Swift of Richfield Springs, Pauline, wife of Commander Frederick A. Asserson, of the Medical Corps, U. S. N., Madeleine Gray, wife of Commander George P. Auld, U. S. N., Justin Ransom Swift, vice-president and general manager of the Franklin Manufacturing Company of Franklin, Pa., and William Garfield Swift, assistant president of the Clark Car Company of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Clayton Wood Holmes, A.M., of Elmira, N. Y., a resident member since 1903, was born at Le Raysville, Pa., 26 September 1848, the son of Daniel and Lois (Wood) Holmes, and died at Elmira 13 July 1919. His paternal ancestor was George Holmes, who was an early resident of Roxbury, Mass., and his mother was a descendant of William Wood, who settled at Concord, Mass.

He was prepared for college at the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute in Towanda, Pa., and at the Cortland Academy in New York, and was graduated at Lafayette College in 1869, receiving the degree of A.M. from the same institution in 1872. He afterwards took a course of lectures at the University of Pennsylvania.

From 1872 to 1876 he was engaged in the drug business in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. In January 1877 he removed to Elmira, where he conducted a wholesale drug and manufacturing business until 1884. In 1885 he erected a spacious factory, where he was engaged until his death in the manufacture of Frostilla, a widely-known toilet preparation.

In 1883 Mr. Holmes was elected an alderman of Elmira, and performed the duties of this office with marked fidelity until 1885. He was also a member and first president of the Elmira Water Board and a member of the Board of Education. He was a publisher and business manager of the Elmira Advertiser from 1889 until 1905, president of the Hygeia Refrigerating Company and the Chemung Valley Loan Association, and vice-president of the Elmira Coöperative Savings & Loan Association. In loan and savings association work he was an expert, and was frequently asked to deliver lectures in various cities before conventions of promoters of loan associations. He was at one time vice-president of the New York State League of Savings and Loan Associations. For a number of years he was a director and vice-president of the First National Bank of Canton, Pa., and held responsible positions in other organizations.

He was a member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, the Society of American Wars, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and the Sons of Veterans. He was also prominent in the Masonic fraternity, and a leading official in the First Baptist Church of Elmira.

Mr. Holmes was a convincing writer, and articles from his pen on various subjects appeared from time to time in the Elmira papers. He published "A Genealogy of the Lineal Descendants of William Wood, who settled in Concord, Mass., in 1638," and "A Genealogy of the Lineal Descendants of John Steevens." A few years ago he secured the data regarding the military prison which was located in Elmira in 1864–65, and which held about 12,000 prisoners during the fifteen months of its existence.

He married, 2 November 1871, Charlotte Steevens, daughter of Zerah Beach and Thirza (Allison) Steevens, who survives him, together with a daughter, Flora Lois, now the wife of Floyd Shoemaker of Elmira, and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Jennie Stetson (Barrell) Woodman of Lawrence, Mass., a resident member since 1917, was born at Lewiston, Me., 27 September 1864, the daughter of William Alden and Hannah Mendell (Stetson) Barrell, and died at Rye Beach, N. H., 24 July 1919. She was a descendant of William[1] Barrell of Scituate, Mass., through William,[2] William,[3] James,[4] George W.,[5] and William Alden,[6] her father. She was a descendant also of William Brewster, John Alden, and Richard Warren of the Mayflower.

She was educated at the Lawrence High School, where she was a member of the Class of 1883, at Bradford Academy, and at the New England Conservatory of Music.

Three years after her marriage to Mr. Woodman she went with her husband to London, where they resided for many years. Her energetic nature found much to do there, and she early joined the American Society, to aid in the success of which she gave much time and work. With her husband she travelled widely over Europe, living a considerable time in Paris, where she made an exhaustive study of the French language. She also did much creditable work in water-color painting.

After returning to America Mr. and Mrs. Woodman made their home for ten or more years in Boston. For a time she was regent of the Betsey Ross Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and brought to this office the full force of her nature, a ripe experience of the world, and an intense interest.

She was married, 9 November 1887, to George Henry Woodman, who survives her, son of Elijah Manley and Susan Merrill Woodman.

Arthur Frederick Estabrook of Boston, a life member since 1911, was born in Boston 17 May 1847, the son of James Adams and Louisa S. (Hill) Estabrook, and died in Porto Rico 27 July 1919. He was a descendant of Rev. Joseph[1] Estabrook, the colleague and successor of Rev. Edward Bulkeley in the pastorate of the church at Concord, Mass., through Joseph,[2] John,[3] Nehemiah,[4] Eliakim,[5] Endor,[6] and James Adams,[7] his father.

He was educated at Belmont, Mass., and at an early age entered the employ of Brewster, Sweet & Company, bankers, of Boston. His natural aptitude and strict integrity gained for him the confidence of his employers, and he was promoted step by step until

Mr. Holmes was a convincing writer, and articles from his pen on various subjects appeared from time to time in the Eastern papers. He published "A Genealogy of the Lizzie Descendants of William Wood, who settled in Concord, Mass., in 1633," and "A Genealogy of the Lizzie Descendants of John Stevens." A few years ago he secured the data regarding the military prison which was located in Elmira in 1864–65, and which held about 12,000 prisoners during the fifteen months of its existence.

He married, 2 November 1871, Charlotte Stevens, daughter of Zerah Reed and Thirza (Allison) Stevens, who survives him, together with a daughter, Nova Lois, now the wife of Floyd Ellsmaker of Elmira, and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Jennie Stetson (Barrell) Woodman of Lawrence, Mass., a resident member since 1917, was born at Lewiston, Me., 27 September 1856, the daughter of William Addison and Hannah Marshall (Stetson) Barrell, and died at Five Beach, N. H., 24 July 1919. She was a descendant of William,[1] David of Scituate, Mass., through William,[2] William,[3] James,[4] George W.,[5] and William Alden,[6] her father. She was a descendant also of William Brewster, John Alden, and Richard Warren of the Mayflower.

She was educated at the Lawrence High School, where she was a member of the Class of 1873, at Bradford Academy, and at the New England Conservatory of Music.

Three years after her marriage to Mr. Woodman she went with her husband to London, where they resided for many years. Her energetic nature found much to do there, and she early joined the American Society, to aid in the success of which she gave much time and work. With her husband she travelled widely over Europe, living a considerable time in Paris, where she made an exhaustive study of the French language. She also did much creditable work in water-color painting.

After returning to America Mr. and Mrs. Woodman made their home for ten or more years in Boston. For a time she was regent of the Betsy Ross Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and brought to this office the full force of her nature, a ripe experience of the world, and an intense interest.

She was married, 9 November 1857, to George Henry Woodman, who survives her, son of Elijah Manley and Susan Merrill Woodman.

Arthur Francis Francisco of Boston, a life member since 1911, was born in Boston 17 May 1847, the son of James Adams and Louisa S. (Hill) Estabrook, and died in Paris Ilsey 27 July 1919. He was a descendant of Rev. Joseph Estabrook, the colleague and successor of Rev. Edward Bulkeley in the pastorate of the church at Concord, Mass., through Joseph,[1] John,[2] Nehemiah,[3] Estabrook,[4] Bulkeley,[5] and James Adams,[6] his father.

He was educated at Hanover, Mass., and at an early age entered the employ of Brewer, Bass & Company, bankers, of Boston. His natural aptitude and strict integrity raised for him the confidence of his employers, and he was promoted step by step until he reached the position of partner, the firm name being Brewster, Cobb & Estabrook. He afterwards acquired a wide reputation as a banker, and at the time of his death was senior member of the firm of Estabrook & Company, bankers. He was also vice-president of the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Board, first vice-president of the New England Conservatory of Music, and a trustee of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., the Brewster Free Academy, Wolfeborough, N. H., and the Massachusetts General Theological Library. He was a member of the corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, treasurer of the Homœopathic Hospital, a member and trustee of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, and a life member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and of the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. He was a Republican and a Unitarian.

He was a member of the Unitarian Club, the Boston City Club, the Algonquin, Union, and Exchange Clubs of Boston, the Tedesco Country Club of Swampscott, the Eastern Yacht Club, and the Colonial Club of Cambridge.

He married, 8 October 1874, Ida Florence Fletcher, who survives him, daughter of J. Varnum and Mary Ann Fletcher of Belmont.

Charles Lyman Newhall of Southbridge, Mass., a resident member since 1900, was born at Spencer, Mass., 1 October 1834, the son of Otis and Sarah Dana (Lamb) Newhall, and died at the Soldiers' Home in Chelsea, Mass., 6 August 1919. He traced his descent from Thomas[1] Newhall, who landed at Salem, Mass., in 1630 and soon afterwards settled in Lynn, through Thomas,[2] Thomas,[3] Daniel,[4] John,[5] Allen,[6] Reuben,[7] and Otis,[8] his father.

He was educated in the Spencer public schools. In the summer of 1848 he went to Springfield, Mass., to learn the printing business, but became homesick in three weeks and went home. In October of the same year he shipped on the Leonidas, an old whaler commanded by Captain Gifford, and sailed from Fairhaven, Mass., on a voyage full of hardships. At Mauritius he deserted the ship, and was brought back to the United States on the U. S. Ship Plymouth, arriving at Norfolk, Va., 28 January 1851. For a few months he again tried the printing business, this time at West Brookfield, Mass.; but in 1852 he went back to the life of a sailor and followed it until the summer of 1857, on many different ships that sailed to many parts of the world. He then entered the employ of Sidney Clarke, in the office of the Southbridge Press. While there he published, in 1859, "The Adventures of Jack," an account of his own adventures as a sailor, and also the Saturday Morning News, a small, short-lived weekly paper. He afterwards entered the employ of James T. McKinstry, in the painting business, in which he continued until the outbreak of the Civil War, when he enlisted at Boston, 29 April 1861, in the United States Navy, being the first man to enlist from the town of Southbridge in the war for the preservation of the Union. He sailed in the U. S. Ship Minnesota, and was in the successful engagement with the Confederate forces at Hatteras Inlet, N. C., 29 August 1861. The admiral of the fleet soon appointed him to be printer on his flagship, the first appointment of the kind, which was followed, however, by many other appointments of a like nature. The Minnesota was one of the ships attacked by the Merrimac in Hampton Roads in March 1862, and was saved by the timely arrival of the Monitor. Mr. Newhall served in the Navy until his discharge on 28 April 1864, and then, after working for a short time as a painter at Laconia, N. H., enlisted in the Navy in August for another term of three years. He sailed on the U. S. Ship San Jacinto, which was wrecked on a reef among the Bahama Islands, 1 January 1865. For a time thereafter he acted as naval printer at Key West and Pensacola, Fla., and in June 1867 received his discharge from the Navy. For some time he was connected with newspaper printing offices in various cities of Florida and in Savannah, Ga., and then entered the Government Printing Office at Washington, where he remained until 1873. He then went back to Southbridge, and, after many vicissitudes as a printer in various places, he helped in starting the Southbridge Herald and, a few years later, the Southbridge Press. After that he worked as a spare hand for the Southbridge newspapers.

In 1899 Mr. Newhall published "The Record of My Ancestry," a book of over two hundred pages on the Newhall family and many other families from which he was descended, in which the adventures of his early career are narrated.

He was a Mason, and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Kearsarge Association of Naval Veterans, the Boston Council of the American Protective Association of the Universalist Church, and the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

He married, 20 September 1866, Josephine Emily Augusta Robinson, who died at Worcester, Mass., 5 February 1880, daughter of Thomas and Rebecca (Trimble) Robinson. Her father, Thomas Robinson, was a native of Portugal, and his name was originally José Alessandra; but the captain of an American whaler, on which José Alessandra sailed, gave to him the name of Thomas Robinson, which he ever afterwards retained. Mr. and Mrs. Newhall had three daughters, of whom the first two died in infancy and the third, Florence Dana Newhall, born at Washington, D. C., 31 December 1872, was married, 25 April 1896, to Isaac S. Thompson of New York, and is now deceased.

Albert Lane Norris, A. M., M. D., of Malden, Mass., a resident member since 1917, was born at Epping, N. H., 4 March 1839, the son of Greenleaf Rufus and Lucinda (Lane) Norris, and died at Brookline, Mass., 29 August 1919. He was a descendant of Nicholas[1] Norris, who settled in Hampton, N. H., in 1640, through Moses,[2] James,[3] Simeon,[4] Lowell,[5] and Greenleaf Rufus,[6] his father.

He was a student in Phillips Exeter Academy, 1855–1857, and in 1865 received the degree of M. D., after a three years' course in the Harvard Medical School. In 1890 Wiley University conferred on him the honorary degree of A. M.

For two and a half years in the Civil War he was a surgeon in Hatteras Inlet, N. C., 29 August 1861. The admiral of the fleet soon appointed him to be pilot on his flagship, the first appointment of the kind, which was followed, however, by many other appointments of a like nature. The Minnesota was one of the ships attacked by the Merrimac in Hampton Roads in March 1862, and was saved by the timely arrival of the Monitor. Mr. Newhall served in the Navy until his discharge on 28 April 1864, and then, after working for a short time as a pilot at Laconia, N. H., entered in the Navy in August for another term of three years. He sailed on the U. S. Ship Sun Dawn, which was wrecked on a reef among the Bahama Islands, 1 January 1865. For a time thereafter he acted as naval pilot at Key West and Pensacola, Fla., and in June 1867 received his discharge from the Navy. For some time he was connected with newspaper printing offices in various cities of Florida and in Savannah, Ga., and then entered the Government Printing Office at Washington, where he remained until 1874. He then went back to Smithfield, and, after many vicissitudes as a printer in various places, he helped in starting the Smithfield Herald and, a few years later, the Smithfield Press. After that he worked as a spare hand for the Smithfield newspapers.

In 1899 Mr. Newhall published "The Record of My Ancestry," a book of over two hundred pages on the Newhall family and many other families from which he was descended, in which the adventures of his early career are narrated.

He was a Mason, and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Veterans Association of Naval Veterans, the Boston Council of the American Protective Association of the Universalist Church, and the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

He married, 20 September 1866, Josephine Emily Augusta Robinson, who died at Worcester, Mass., 5 February 1884, daughter of Thomas and Rebecca (Hubbard) Robinson. Her father, Thomas Robinson, was a native of Portugal, and his name was originally José Alexandre; but the captain of an American whaler on which José Alexandre sailed, gave to him the name of Thomas Robinson, which he ever afterwards retained. Mr. and Mrs. Newhall had three daughters, of whom the first two died in infancy and the third, Florence Dana Newhall, born at Washington, D. C., 31 December 1872, was married, 22 April 1893, to Isaac S. Thompson of New York, and is now deceased.

Abner Lane Norris, A. M., M. D., of Milton, Mass., a resident member since 1917, was born at Epping, N. H., 4 March 1839, the son of Greenleaf Burbank and Lucinda (Lane) Norris, and died at Brookline, Mass., 29 August 1919. He was a descendant of Nicholas Norris, who settled in Hampton, N. H., in 1640 through Moses, James, Simeon, Jewell, and Greenleaf Burbank, his father.

He was a student in Phillips Exeter Academy, 1853–1857, and in 1862 received the degree of M. D. after a three years' course in the Harvard Medical School. In 1890 Wiley University conferred on him the honorary degree of A. M.

For two and a half years in the Civil War he was a surgeon in the United States Army. Later he travelled in Europe, and studied in hospitals in Berlin, Vienna, Edinburgh, and London. For forty-four years he practised his profession in Cambridge, Mass., and in 1910 turned his practice over to his son, Dr. Albert P. Norris.

Dr. Norris was a member of the Malden Historical Society and of various medical societies, and was a delegate to the Tenth International Medical Congress in Berlin in 1890. He was always an enthusiastic worker in the Grand Army of the Republic, and was a member of the Massachusetts Commandery and of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion. He had been a worker, also, in the Sunday schools, particularly in that of the Bromfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church in Boston. At the time of his death he was a member of the Centre Methodist Episcopal Church in Malden.

He married, 29 May 1873, Clara Elizabeth Perley, who was born at Laconia, N. H., 3 July 1848, and died at Cambridge 5 May 1909, daughter of John Langdon and Dora Prescott (Rundlett) Perley. His three children, Albert Perley Norris, S. B. (Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1897), M. D. (Harvard, 1903), of Cambridge, Clara Maud Norris, and Grace May Norris survive him.

James Henry Stark of Dorchester, Mass., a resident member since 1887, was born at Mitcham, co. Surrey, England, 6 July 1847, the son of John Henry and Mary Elizabeth Ann (A'Court) Stark, and died in Boston 30 August 1919.

Mr. Stark was of Scottish ancestry. His great-grandfather, James Stark, came into England from Scotland in the eighteenth century, and settled at Shepton-Mallett, co. Somerset, where he died 2 December 1829. He left ten children, one of whom, Joseph, born in 1797, came to Boston about 1820 and died there in 1879. He owned a house on Congress Street, and was the last resident of that street. James Stark's eldest son, James, was born at Taunton, co. Somerset, 24 September 1785, and died at Shepton-Mallett 29 October 1843. He married Mary Willmott, second daughter of Abraham Willmott of Pilton, co. Somerset, and was the father of four children. His youngest child, John Henry Stark, father of the subject of this memoir, was born at Shepton-Mallett 4 June 1823, and died at Savin Hill, Dorchester, Mass., 19 February 1885. He married Mary Elizabeth Ann A'Court, who was born at Bridgwater, co. Somerset, England, 28 February 1824, and died at Shepton-Mallett 30 August 1849, daughter of Thomas Cook and Mary Ann (Davis) A'Court. John Henry Stark was a graduate of Queen's College, Cambridge, and was a teacher of languages.

Until he was nine years of age James Henry Stark was brought up by his maternal grandfather, Thomas Cook A'Court, at Shepton-Mallett, where he attended a primary school. In 1856 his father, who had taken up his abode in the United States, went back to England for him and brought him to this country. In that same year he was admitted to the Hawes Branch Grammar School in South Boston, and afterwards attended the Lincoln School and later, for a short time, the Boston Latin School.

In 1864 he left school and began to learn the trade of stereotyping and electrotyping. In 1870 he went into business for himself at the corner of Water and Congress Streets, where the post office now stands, but in the great fire of 1872 the building was blown up and Mr. Stark lost nearly everything. He then had recourse to his favorite pastime, yachting, and for two and a half years gave his time to this sport, both in summer and in winter. In the winter of 1873–4 he and two companions made a memorable cruise, sailing from Boston to Florida and return in the Crosby, a 26-foot catboat. The next winter he sailed with a party of adventurers in a 35-ton schooner to South America, and explored French and Dutch Guiana in search of gold, discovering the first gold in the latter colony. On his return he went into business again, and opened a stereotype and electrotype foundry at 171 Devonshire Street, Boston. In 1877, in association with William H. Mumler, the inventor of the photo-electrotype process, he established the Photo-Electrotype Company, which was among the first companies in this country to make engraved plates by photography. He was the president of this company, and after Mr. Mumler's death in 1884 continued in this business until 1900, when he sold his interest and engaged in the real-estate business, with offices at 17 Milk Street, Boston.

Mr. Stark's interest in yachting was shown not only by the cruises which he made but also by his activity in founding yacht clubs. In 1868 he was one of the founders of the South Boston Yacht Club, the second yacht club to be organized in Massachusetts, and was elected commodore on his return from the Florida cruise. In 1879, when he moved from South Boston to Savin Hill, Dorchester, he organized the Savin Hill Yacht Club, of which he was commodore for several years. He was a founder also of the Rock Hill Yacht Club, and became its commodore in 1913. He travelled much. Almost every winter in the twenty years following 1884 was spent by him in the West Indies, and on one journey he visited Panama and the ports of Central America, returning to Boston via California and the West. He went to Labrador one summer, and he made many voyages to Europe, travelling in the British Isles and on the Continent.

Mr. Stark was at one time vice-president of the Dorchester Historical Society, which he had helped to organize, and of the Victorian Club and president of the British Charitable Society and of the British-American Association. He was a member also of the United Empire Loyalists' Association of Canada. He was a Republican, and belonged to the Masonic fraternity.

He was the author of several guide books and historical works, among them the "Stranger's Guide to Boston," 1881, "Antique Views of Boston," 1882 (second edition, 1900), "History of Boston Harbor," "History of and Guide to the West Indies" (a series of six volumes, dealing with Bermuda, the Bahama Islands, the Caribbean Islands, Jamaica, and British Guiana), "The British and Dutch in South Africa" (a pamphlet concerning the Boer War), and "The Loyalists of Massachusetts." In this last-mentioned book he attacked the motives and character of the leading Revolutionary patriots in Massachusetts, and brought down upon himself a storm of opposition from native Americans, especially from members of patriotic and historical societies.

He married in St. Matthew's Church, South Boston, 23 December 1876, Kate Manton, daughter of William S. Manton of Birmingham, England, by his wife, Jane (Mitchell) of Kingston, Canada. Mrs. Stark survives her husband, together with three daughters, Jane Evelyn Stark, Elizabeth Isabel, wife of Dr. Morton Snow, and Mildred Manton, wife of Alfred Vinal Kidd.

Mrs. Amelia L. (Chapin) Haile of Springfield, Mass., elected a Pilgrim Tercentenary member in 1919, was born in that part of Springfield which is now Chicopee 22 April 1840, the daughter of Ethan Samuel and Louisa (Burns) Chapin, and died at Watch Hill, R. I., 5 September 1919.

She was educated at Miss Porter's School, Farmington, Conn., and later in Paris, France.

Mrs. Haile was a woman of sound judgment and of attractive social qualities, and was a great help to her husband in his political career, which began in 1864, when he was elected for the first time as a member of the New Hampshire Legislature. Mr. Haile was mayor of Springfield in 1881, later represented his district in the Massachusetts Legislature, and was Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts during the years 1890, 1891, and 1892.

Mrs. Haile had been for many years a member of the First Congregational Church in Springfield, and was deeply interested in religious and charitable objects there.

She was married, 1 January 1861, to William H. Haile, then of Hinsdale, N. H., and later of Springfield, a manufacturer, who rose to prominence in Massachusetts politics, as mentioned above, and died 13 February 1901. Mrs. Haile's son, Henry Chapin Haile, and her daughter Alice, wife of Cheney H. Calkins, both of Springfield, survive her. Henry Chapin Haile succeeds his mother in her Pilgrim Tercentenary membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

Rev. Frederick Howard Means, A.B., B.D., of Brookline, Mass., elected a resident member in 1899 and made a life member in 1900, was born at Dorchester, Mass., 14 August 1865, the son of Rev. James Howard and Charlotte Abigail (Johnson) Means, and died at Brookline 10 September 1919. He was descended from Thomas Means or Maynes of Stewartstown, Ireland, through Isaac, James, and James Howard, his father.

He attended no school until he was ten years old. Then he was a pupil for three years at the Gibson Grammar School and afterwards for six years (1878–1884) at the Roxbury Latin School, where he was prepared for Harvard University, from which he received the degree of A.B. with the Class of 1888. In 1891 he received the degree of B.D. from the Yale Divinity School, having completed the three years' course there. The preaching and influence of Phillips Brooks had much to do with his choice of the ministry as a profession, although, after considering the advisability of entering the opposition from native Americans, especially from members of patriotic and historical societies.

He married in St. Matthew's Church, South Boston, 22 December 1876, Ella Marion, daughter of William S. Marion of Birmingham, England, by his wife, Jane (Mitchell) of Kingston, Canada. Mrs. Stark survives her husband, together with three daughters, Jane Evelyn Stark, Elizabeth Isabel, wife of Dr. Morton Snow, and Mildred Marion, wife of Alfred Vinal Judd.

Mrs. Amelia I. (Chapin) Hale of Springfield, Mass., elected a Pilgrim Tercentenary member in 1919, was born in that part of Springfield which is now Chicopee 22 April 1840, the daughter of Ethan Samuel and Louisa (Burns) Chapin, and died at Watch Hill, R. I., 8 September 1919.

She was educated at Miss Porter's School, Farmington, Conn., and later in Paris, France.

Mrs. Hale was a woman of sound judgment and of attractive social qualities, and was a great help to her husband in his political career, which began in 1874, when he was elected for the first time as a member of the New Hampshire Legislature. Mr. Hale was mayor of Springfield in 1881, later represented his district in the Massachusetts Legislature, and was Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts during the years 1890, 1891, and 1892.

Mrs. Hale had been for many years a member of the First Congregational Church in Springfield, and was deeply interested in religious and charitable objects there.

She was married, 1 January 1861, to William H. Hale, then of Hinsdale, N. H., and later of Springfield, a manufacturer, who rose to prominence in Massachusetts politics, as mentioned above, and died 13 February 1901. Mrs. Hale's son, Henry Chapin Hale, and her daughter Alice, wife of Cleaver H. Cutler, both of Springfield, survive her. Henry Chapin Hale succeeds his mother in her Pilgrim Tercentenary membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

Rev. Phillips Howard Mears, A.B., B.D., of Brookline, Mass., elected a resident member in 1899 and made a life member in 1900, was born at Dorchester, Mass., 14 August 1856, the son of Rev. James Howard and Charlotte Abigail (Johnson) Mears, and died at Brookline 10 September 1919. He was descended from Thomas Mears or Meyers of Haverstown, Ireland, through Isaac, James, and James Howard, his father.

He attended no school until he was ten years old. Then he was a pupil for three years at the Gilson Grammar School and afterwards for six years (1870-1876) at the Roxbury Latin School, where he was prepared for Harvard University, from which he received the degree of A.B. with the Class of 1880. In 1891 he received the degree of B.D. from the Yale Divinity School, having completed the three years' course there. The preaching and influence of Phillips Brooks had much to do with his choice of the ministry as a profession, although, after considering the advisability of entering the Protestant Episcopal Church, he decided in favor of the Congregational ministry.

In September 1892 he became acting pastor of the Congregational Church at Windham, Conn., and was ordained to the ministry and installed as pastor of this church on 2 May 1893. After a pastorate of ten years at Windham, he lived for six years at Winchester, Mass., supplying pulpits in various places, and then, in 1909, he became pastor of the Congregational Church at Madison, Me. For several years he served as executive secretary of the Mission Education movement in New England. For four years (from 1898 on) he was a trustee of Atlanta University, Atlanta, Ga., and for a year previous to his death he had been a member of the staff of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

He married at Winchester, 25 May 1893, Helen Chandler Coit, who died 25 December 1912, daughter of Rev. Joshua Coit of Brookfield, Mass. Three sons survive him: Paul Howard Means, a student in the Harvard Medical School, Gardiner Coit Means, and Winthrop Johnson Means, a student in Harvard College.

Charles Lang Freer, A.M., of Detroit, Mich., elected a Pilgrim Tercentenary member in 1919, was born at Kingston, N. Y., 25 February 1856, the son of Jacob R. and Phoebe Jane (Townsend) Freer, and died in New York City 25 September 1919. He was of Huguenot ancestry, and his first American ancestor was one of the original patentees of New Paltz, N. Y.

He was educated in the public schools of Ulster County, N. Y., and received the honorary degree of A.M. from the University of Michigan. At the age of eighteen he became the accountant and paymaster of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad, his duties requiring him to make frequent trips through the Catskill Mountains; thus his early working years were spent in an environment of natural beauty, the influence of which helped to confirm his early taste for the beautiful and to develop an appreciation of the beautiful in art. When twenty-one he became accountant and, later, treasurer of a small railroad in Indiana, and three years later he engaged in the manufacture of railway cars and equipment, with the company named the Peninsula Car Works, in Detroit. He acquired a small interest in the business, was made secretary, and during the next twenty years accumulated a considerable fortune. Upon the organization of the American Car & Foundry Company, his company was one of thirteen companies taken over by the larger organization, and he retired from active business.

He now devoted his time to indulging his taste for art and to increasing his collection of paintings and etchings, which had already become famous. As early as 1880 he had begun collecting American etchings, and added to them by degrees the works of a few leading painters. When specimens of early Japanese art were offered for sale in America, he determined to make a study of that field and to add a choice and select representation of Japanese art to his collection. Thus the Freer Art Collection is confined almost entirely to works of American and Asiatic schools. By 1905 nearly two thousand specimens of American and Oriental art had been acquired. In a letter to President Roosevelt, dated 14 December 1905, Mr. Freer offered to present his entire collection to the Smithsonian Institution or to the United States Government, and to bequeath the sum of $500,000 with which to erect a building for the future care and exhibition of the collection. This amount was afterwards increased to $1,000,000, and the collection is an annex to the National Art Gallery, but is under the supervision of the Smithsonian Institution. Mr. Freer afterwards added to the collection, which is one of the finest in this country, containing the largest collection of Whistler's works in existence, some of the best works of Sargent, Abbott H. Thayer, Tryon, Winslow Homer, T. W. Dewing, and other noted American painters, more than a thousand specimens of Chinese and Japanese painting, fifteen hundred pieces of ancient pottery from the East, many rare manuscripts, and other works of art of inestimable value.

Mr. Freer was a member of several clubs, chiefly those devoted to art, in the leading cities of the United States, such as Boston, New York, Detroit, and Chicago. He never married, and his niece, Louise Freer of Kingston, N. Y., succeeds him in his Pilgrim Tercentenary membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

Newell Sill Jenkins, D. D. S., of New Haven, Conn., elected a Pilgrim Tercentenary member in 1919, was born at Falmouth, Mass., 29 December 1840, the son of Charles Weston and Phebe (Bishop) Jenkins, and died on the steamship La France, a few hours before arriving at Havre, France, 25 September 1919. He traced his descent from John Jenkins of Plymouth, 1643, and later of Barnstable, and his grandfather, Weston Jenkins, served as a captain of Artillery during the War of 1812 and captured the British privateer Retaliation.

Dr. Jenkins received his professional education at the Philadelphia Dental College, the Jefferson Medical College, and the Baltimore Dental College, where he was graduated in 1862, the subject of his dissertation being "Anæsthesia."

He began the practice of dentistry at Bangor, Me. In 1866 he established himself as a dentist in Dresden, Saxony. In succeeding years he travelled extensively in Austria-Hungary, Italy, Russia, the Balkan regions, Turkey, and Greece, building up a great international practice. His last years of active dentistry were spent in Paris, where he received a few patients who would not let him retire. He returned to America in 1915 and devoted himself to research work in New Haven. He invented various ways of using porcelain in dental work, and devised and gave to the dental profession the formula for the preparation of the widely-used Kolynos Dental Cream.

Dr. Jenkins was decorated by King Albert of Saxony with the Albrecht Order and was given the title of "Hofrath" and, later, "Geheimrath," on his seventieth birthday, when representatives from European dental societies came to Paris to present him with valuable gifts, medals, addresses, and honorary memberships.

Newton, Eric Jenkins, D. D. S., of New Haven, Conn., elected a Pilgrim Tercentenary member in 1910, was born at Falmouth, Mass., 28 December 1840, the son of Charles Weston and Phebe (Bishop) Jenkins, and died on the steamship La France, a few hours before arriving at Havre, France, 28 September 1912. He traced his descent from John Jenkins of Plymouth, 1633, and later of Barnstable, and his grandfather, Weston Jenkins, served as a captain of Artillery during the War of 1812 and captured the British privateer Rebecca.

Dr. Jenkins was decorated by King Albert of Saxony with the Albrecht Order and was given the title of "Hofrath" and, later, "Geheimrath," on his seventieth birthday, when representatives from European dental societies came to Paris to present him with valuable gifts, medals, addresses, and honorary memberships.

He had read extensively not only in English literature but also in that of other countries, and found in riding and driving his favorite forms of outdoor recreation.

He was a member of several societies and clubs, among which were the Lotus Club of New York City and the Archæological Institute of America.

He married in Bangor, Me., Clara Upton, daughter of Elias Augustus Upton, a shipowner and merchant. Mrs. Jenkins survives him, together with three children, Leonard Abbot Jenkins, Nora Cornelia, wife of Theodore Leslie Shear, and Grace Madeline, wife of Francis C. G. Gregor. Leonard Abbot Jenkins succeeds to his father's Pilgrim Tercentenary membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

William Story Sargent, A.B., of Lexington, Mass., a resident member since 1917, was born in Boston 4 October 1842, the son of Rev. John Turner and Charlotte Sophia (White) Sargent, and died at Lexington 17 October 1919. He was a descendant of William[1] Sargent of Gloucester, Mass., who was born at Bristol, England, and was called William Sargent "the second" to distinguish him from an older William Sargent of Gloucester, through Epes[2] of Gloucester and Salem, Mass., Daniel,[3] John Turner,[4] and Rev. John Turner,[5] A.B. (Harvard, 1827), A.M. (Harvard), his father. He was a cousin of Gen. Horace Binney Sargent and William Wetmore Story, and the renowned Chief Justice Story was his great-uncle, his mother Charlotte Sophia (White) Sargent, being a daughter of Joseph and Eliza (Story) White of Salem.

In his early childhood he was taught by Louisa M. Alcott, the authoress, who at that time kept a private school. Afterwards he attended the Brimmer School in Boston, where he was graduated, and then was prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, graduating there in 1862. He entered Harvard with the Class of 1866, but left college in the middle of his sophomore year to join the Union Army. In 1910, however, he received from Harvard the degree of A.B., as of the Class of 1866.

On 24 February 1864 he enlisted for three years or for the duration of the war, and on 2 April following was mustered into the service as a private in the Fifty-ninth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, which formed a part of the Third Brigade, Third Division, afterwards the First Brigade, First Division, Ninth Army Corps, in the Army of the Potomac. He rose to be corporal, sergeant, first sergeant, and finally lieutenant in the Fifty-seventh Massachusetts Regiment, into which a remnant of the Fifty-ninth Massachusetts Regiment had been incorporated. He saw much hard fighting in Virginia in 1864 and 1865, taking part in the Battles of the Wilderness, Spotsylvania Court House, North Anna, and Cold Harbor, and the engagements at the "Crater" before Petersburg, Hatcher's Run, Fort Stedman, and other operations around Petersburg. He was honorably discharged from the service on 30 July 1865, and was mustered out on 2 August 1865.

Leonard Abbot Jenkins succeeds to his father's Pilgrim Tercentenary membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

William Byron Sargent, A.B., of Lexington, Mass., a resident member since 1917, was born in Boston 4 October 1842, the son of Rev. John Turner and Charlotte Sophia (White) Sargent, and died at Lexington 17 October 1919. He was a descendant of William Sargent of Gloucester, Mass., who was born at Bristol, England, and was called William Sargent "the second" to distinguish him from his father William Sargent of Gloucester, through Rev. of Gloucester and Salem, Mass., Daniel,[4] John Turner,[5] and Rev. He was honorably discharged from the service on 30 July 1865, and was mustered out on 2 August 1865.

Owing to a dangerous illness lasting a year and a half, which was contracted in camp and broke out immediately after his discharge from the Army, he was obliged to give up his intention of returning to Harvard and completing his college course; and after recovering from this illness he went West in 1867 and became a bookkeeper with the firm of Gore, Willson & Company, wholesale boot and shoe dealers, at St. Louis, Mo. In 1868, when the St. Louis branch of the business was given up, he was transferred as bookkeeper to the Chicago branch of the same house. Later, however, in the same year he severed his connection with this firm and returned to Boston. On 1 December 1869 he entered the service of the United States Government, having been appointed to a clerkship in the United States Subtreasury in Boston. Here he remained for nearly half a century, as specie clerk and money counter.

Mr. Sargent married, 25 January 1869, Henrietta Peirce Hall, daughter of Edward Fitch and Mary Ellen (Peirce) Hall. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward Everett Hale, assisted by Rev. John Turner Sargent, the father of the bridegroom. After his marriage he resided at West Medford, Mass., in a house which belonged to his wife's family and which later descended to her. This house was his home continuously for forty-five years. The death of his wife in 1911 and that of a maiden sister in 1914, who made her home with him, left him alone, and he therefore removed to Lexington, 24 September 1914, to make his home with his only surviving son, Edward Hall Sargent. His other child, William Story Sargent, Jr., was already deceased.

Henry Manley of West Roxbury, Mass., a resident member since 1913, was born at North Bridgewater (now Brockton), Mass., 31 August 1841, the son of Salmon and Iza Annette (Howard) Manley, and died at West Roxbury 28 October 1919. He traced his descent from William Manley, through Thomas, Daniel, Daniel, and Salmon, his father. He was a descendent also of Mary Chilton and Francis Cooke of the Mayflower. Both his grandfather and his great-grandfather were soldiers in the Revolutionary War, and his father was a soldier in the War of 1812.

He was educated in the district schools of North Bridgewater, in the Bridgewater Academy, and in the State Normal School at Bridgewater, graduating from the last-named institution in 1860.

He served in the Civil War in Company K, Third Massachusetts Infantry, in a nine-months' campaign, 1862–3, holding the position of corporal in the company. He was a civil engineer, entered the office of the city engineer of Boston as assistant engineer 16 February 1869, and was connected with the engineering department of the city until his retirement on 28 July 1911, having been identified, during his long period of service, with many public improvements.

Mr. Manley published sundry professional papers and reports, and wrote the history of Co. K that appeared in the history of the Third Massachusetts Infantry published by the State of Massachusetts in 1906.

He was a member of the Boston Society of Civil Engineers, of which he was treasurer for twelve years and at one time president, a member and director of the American Society of Civil Engineers, a member and president of the Massachusetts Highway Association, and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, the West Roxbury Citizens' Association, the Highland Club of West Roxbury, the Massachusetts Civil Service Association, the Boston City Club, and the Masonic fraternity. For twelve years he was treasurer of the First Parish (Unitarian) Society of West Roxbury, and for twenty-five or thirty years he was a trustee of the parish funds.

He married, 6 November 1867, Susan Elizabeth Marshall, daughter of Perez and Elizabeth (Tisdale) Marshall, who survives him, together with three sons, Laurence Bradford Manley of Philadelphia, Pa., Howard Tisdale Manley of Mexico, and Henry Manley, Jr., of New York, all civil engineers. His oldest child, a daughter, died in infancy.

Joseph John Skinner, C. E., Ph. D., of Kenwood, N. Y., a resident member since 1917, was born at Putney, Vt., 13 January 1842, the son of John Langdon and Harriet Hayes (Noyes) Skinner, and died at Kenwood 12 November 1919.

Both his parents were original members of the Oneida Community, and his early days were spent in the Community at Oneida, N. Y. His schooling was obtained in the private school of the Community, where he was prepared for the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University. From Yale he received the degree of Ph.B. in 1869, and then continued his studies there, serving also as tutor and instructor. In 1874 he received from Yale the degree of C. E. and in 1876 that of Ph. D.

He remained at Yale as instructor in mathematics, astronomy, and French until 1880, when he went to New Britain, Conn., to take the position of treasurer and manager of the American Electrical Company, then only a year old, which shortly thereafter became the Thompson Houston Electric Company. In 1883 this company moved its factory from New Britain to Lynn, Mass., and Dr. Skinner moved to Boston. In the fall of 1884 he resigned his position with the Electric Company in order to carry on some experimental work in physics at Cornell University with Professor Anthony. In 1885 he accepted a position in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and remained there as instructor and afterwards as assistant professor of mathematics until he retired from teaching in 1904. The later years of his life were spent in travel and study.

Dr. Skinner aided Gen. Francis A. Walker in the preparation of the Statistical Atlas of the Ninth Census of the United States, and he was the author of various articles dealing with astronomy and physics, most of which were published in scientific magazines.

He was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Connecticut Academy of Science, several college and university clubs, including the Yale Club of New York, and the Society of the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York.

Dr. Skinner married, 7 January 1872, Sophronia Ann Bailey, who died in 1908. One son, Capt. Theodore H. Skinner of Kenwood, survives him.

Rev. Thomas Franklin Waters, A. M., of Ipswich, Mass., a resident member since 1906, was born at Salem, Mass., 12 April 1851, the son of Thomas Shales and Mary Abigail (Cook) Waters, and died at Ipswich 23 November 1919.

He was educated in the public schools of Salem, at Harvard College, where he received the degree of A. B. in 1872, and at the Andover Theological Seminary, where he was graduated in 1875. He received the honorary degree of A. M. from Harvard in 1909. He served the Congregational Church at Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, as minister from August 1875 until March 1878, and on 1 January 1879 he was installed as pastor of the South Congregational Church, Ipswich, resigning this pastorate in 1909.

Mr. Waters was the founder and president of the Ipswich Historical Society, and was secretary of the South Essex Congregational Ministers' Society. During the World War he was active as a speaker for the Liberty Loans and served on several war-time committees. For the past ten years he devoted much time to writing books on Colonial history, and lectured in various parts of New England on the early history of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. His writings include the following: "Historical Address on the 140th Anniversary of the Organization of the South Church, Ipswich," 31 July 1887; "Historical Sketch of Essex South Association and Salem Association of Congregational Ministers," 1893; "Historical Sketch of Essex South Conference of Congregational Churches," 1896; "Sketch of the Life of John Winthrop, the Younger," 1900; "Ipswich in the Massachusetts Bay Colony," 1905; and "Augustine Heard and his Friends," 1916. Several historical monographs by Mr. Waters appeared in the Publications of the Ipswich Historical Society. He was a member of the Massachusetts Historical Society and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Mr. Waters married at Edgartown, 26 March 1879, Adeline Melville Orswell, daughter of George Burbank and Harriet Beetle (Marchant) Orswell, who survives him, together with a daughter, Miriam Orswell, B.A. (Mount Holyoke College, 1905), wife of Roland Elbert Titcomb of Ipswich, and a son, George Franklin Waters, A.B. (Harvard, 1908), of Fall River, Mass.

Mrs. Caroline Sumner (Case) Freeman of Boston, elected a Pilgrim Tercentenary member in 1919, was born in Boston 28 May 1856, the daughter of James Brown and Laura Lucretia (Williams) Case, and died there 26 November 1919. Her marriage to James Goldthwaite Freeman took place in Weston in June 1888. Theirs was the first wedding in the new stone church of the old First Parish, the pavement in the porch, made of small stones collected at the seashore by the children of the church, not being finished until the morning of the wedding.

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman died in early childhood, and Mr. Freeman died in 1912.

(Harvard, 1908), of Fall River, Mass.

Mrs. CAROLINE SIDONIA (CLARK) FREEMAN of Boston, elected a Life Terminator member in 1918, was born in Boston 23 May 1854, the daughter of James Brown and Laura Lamrie (Williams) Clark, and died there 20 November 1919. Her marriage to James Goldthwaite Freeman took place in Waltham in June 1878. Their wedding was the first wedding in the new stone church of the old First Parish, the pavement in the porch, made of small stones collected at the seashore by the children of the church, not being finished until the morning of the wedding.

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman died in early childhood, and Mr. Freeman died in 1913.

With the exception of occasional journeys South, to California, and to Europe, all of Mrs. Freeman's life was spent in Boston and Weston. Of late years most of her time was passed at her home in Weston, where her many friends were welcome, and with them she liked to share her pleasure in her garden and in her wonderful western view.

She was deeply interested in the Boston Lying-In Hospital and gave much time and thought to it. Many persons in all walks of life came to her for counsel, and she never failed them. She was unsparing of herself in her efforts to aid others, and no detail was ever too trifling for her to give it her attention, if by so doing she could help another.

For years she was a great invalid; but one did not think of her as such, for she was always cheerful and full of courage, and her keen sense of humor was unfailing. Her life was an inspiration to all who knew her.

Mrs. Freeman was always interested in the history of New England and in the lives of those who through their self-denial and sacrifice had made possible the opportunities and privileges of the present generation. She thought that the young people should be taught to appreciate their debt to the past and to feel the responsibility of carrying on the work for the generations to come.

George Brown Knapp, M.A., of Newton, Mass., elected a resident member in 1870 and made a life member in 1912, was born at St. Johnsbury, Vt., 9 April 1836, the son of Hiram and Sophronia (Brown) Knapp, and died at Newton 21 December 1919. He traced his ancestry from William[1] Knapp of Watertown, Mass., who died in 1658, through John,[2] John,[3] James,[4] John,[5] James,[6] and Hiram,[7] his father.

His preparation for college was obtained at St. Johnsbury Academy and at Phillips Andover Academy, and he was graduated at Amherst College in 1859. Entering the countinghouse of Gardner Brewer & Company, well-known Boston merchants, he soon became Mr. Brewer's private secretary and after Mr. Brewer's death was for many years the confidential manager of his large estate.

Mr. Knapp was a devoted friend of Phillips Andover Academy and its oldest trustee, having been elected to that office in 1899. His lasting memorial there is Brothers' Field, the athletic grounds given by him in his own name and in that of his brother, Arthur Mason Knapp. He was also a benefactor of Berea College in Kentucky and a generous contributor to many local charities.

He was a member of the Bostonian Society and belonged to the Masonic fraternity. He resided in the Auburndale section of Newton.

He married at Westfield, Mass., 2 September 1862, Elizabeth Dixon Strong, who died in 1915, daughter of Alexander Hanson Strong of Vicksburg, Miss.

Edward Rivers Lemon of Sudbury, Mass., a resident member since 1913, was born at Andover, Mass., 22 November 1855, the son of William and Elizabeth Gage (Holt) Lemon, and died at Sudbury 31 December 1919. He was a descendant of James Lemon, through John of Beverly, Mass., and William, his father.

in Weston, where her many friends were welcome, and with them she liked to share her pleasure in her garden and in her wonderful western view.

She was deeply interested in the Boston Lying-in Hospital and gave much time and thought to it. Many persons in all walks of life came to her for counsel, and she never failed them. She was unsparing of herself in her efforts to aid others, and no detail was ever too trifling for her to give it her attention, if by so doing she could help another.

For years she was a great invalid; but one did not think of her as such, for she was always cheerful and full of courage, and her keen sense of humor was unfailing. Her life was an inspiration to all who knew her.

Mrs. Freeman was always interested in the history of New England and in the lives of those who through their self-denial and sacrifice had made possible the opportunities and privileges of the present generation. She thought that the young people should be taught to appreciate their debt to the past and to feel the responsibility of carrying on the work for the generations to come.

L. W. C.

Deacon Brown Knapp, M.A., of Newton, Mass., elected a resident member in 1870 and made a life member in 1912, was born at St. Johnsbury, Vt., 9 April 1836, the son of Hiram and Sophronia (Brown) Knapp, and died at Newton 21 December 1919. He traced his ancestry from William Knapp of Watertown, Mass., who died in 1692, through John,[5] John,[4] James,[3] John,[2] James,[1] and Hiram,[0] his father.

His preparation for college was obtained at St. Johnsbury Academy and at Phillips Andover Academy, and he was graduated at Amherst College in 1859. Entering the counting-house of Gardner Brewer & Company, well-known Boston merchants, he soon became Mr. Brewer's private secretary and after Mr. Brewer's death was for many years the confidential manager of his large estate.

Mr. Knapp was a devoted friend of Phillips Andover Academy and its oldest trustee, having been elected to that office in 1870. His lasting memorial there is Brothers' Field, the athletic ground given by him in his own Senior and in that of his brother, Arthur Lyson Knapp. He was also a benefactor of Bates College in Kentucky and a generous contributor to many local charities.

He was a member of the Bostonian Society and belonged to the Masonic fraternity. He resided in the Auburndale section of Newton.

He married, at Westfield, Mass., 2 September 1867, Elizabeth Dixon Brown, who died in 1919, daughter of Alexander Hanson Brown of Vicksburg, Miss.

Edward Brown Lemon of Sudbury, Mass., a resident member since 1919, was born at Andover, Mass., 22 November 1858, the son of William and Elizabeth Gage (Hall) Lemon, and died at Sudbury 31 December 1919. He was a descendant of James Lemon, through John of Beverly, Mass., and William, his father.

He was educated in the public schools of Andover, Cambridge, and Malden, Mass., and was for many years connected with the Sawyer Woolen Mills of Dover, N. H.

Mr. Lemon was an antiquarian of note, and for twenty-three years was the owner and landlord of the famous Wayside Inn at Sudbury, in which he gathered a remarkable collection of old-fashioned furniture and courteously entertained great numbers of visitors who were drawn thither by the historic associations of the place. He was an interesting lecturer on things ancient, and took great delight in showing the treasures of his private art gallery.

He was an honorary member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and a member of the Bostonian Society, the Boston City Club, and the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities.

He married, 13 December 1877, Cora Elma Prescott, daughter of Israel and Betsey H. (Keay) Prescott, who survives him, together with one son, Edward Prescott Lemon.

Memoirs of the following-named members of the Society may be found as indicated:

ANDREW CARNEGIE, in the REGISTER of October 1919; HENRY ERNEST WOODS, in the REGISTER of January 1920; WILLIAM PAINE SHEFFIELD, in the REGISTER of April 1920.

It is expected that a memoir of HENRY LEE HIGGINSON will appear in the REGISTER of July 1920.

Owing to the large number of letters received by the officers of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, asking for genealogical or other information, to answer which satisfactorily would in many cases require extended investigations, it has become impossible for them to give personal attention to such inquiries, nor is it practicable to refer these letters to any of the assistants in the employ of the Society, because their time is occupied fully by their regular duties. The officers, however, are glad to help those seeking information by calling attention to the expert services of the genealogists, book dealers, printers and publishers, engravers and photographers, manufacturers of paper, etc., who advertise in the following pages. Inquirers should make their own business arrangements with those whose names are given below, as the Society assumes NO responsibility in the matter.

PRICE LIST, 1920

THE REGISTER

The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, established in 1847 and published quarterly, in January, April, July, and October. Each number contains eighty or more octavo pages of valuable and interesting matter concerning the History, Antiquities, Genealogy, and Biography of America, printed on durable paper made especially for the Society, with an engraved portrait. Complete indexes to each volume appear with the January number of the following year. Subscription, $5.00 per year in advance, commencing in January. Current single numbers, $1.00. Supplement to April number, $1.00. Prices of complete sets, odd volumes, and single numbers quoted on application. Unobjectionable advertisements accepted at reasonable rates.

Consolidated Index of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Vols. 1-50. Index of Persons (A to Z), Index of Subjects, and Index of Places. Price for the complete work, bound in cloth, 4 vols., $100.

The Register with its Consolidated Index is indispensable to family historians, genealogists, and all persons seeking information about American families. The number of complete sets in existence is limited, and their value is constantly increasing.

ENGLISH RESEARCH

Genealogical Gleanings in England, by Henry FitzGilbert Waters, A.M. These Gleanings abound in clues, which, if properly followed up, will enable the genealogist to pursue in the mother country investigations which without such aid would be practically impossible. 2 vols., 1643 pages. Cloth. $10.00

Abstracts of Wills in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, at Somerset House, London, England. Register Soame, 1620. The volume contains, in 607 pages, 1366 wills, comprising about 40,000 names of persons and over 10,000 names of places. $6.00

Emigrants. Emigrants from England, 1773–1776. 1913. 206 pages. $4.00

Emigrants. List of Emigrants to America from Liverpool, 1697–1707. 1913. 55 pages. $1.00

Research in England. An essay to aid the student. Lea. 1905. 36 pages. $1.00

VITAL RECORDS

Massachusetts Vital Records. The Births, Marriages, and Deaths recorded in towns in Massachusetts, from their founding to the year 1850, taken from the original records of the town, arranged in alphabetical order, printed on paper made especially for the Society, and bound in cloth. These books are most useful to those seeking genealogical information about ancestors who lived in these towns.

PRICE LIST, 1920

THE SOCIETY

The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, established in 1847 and published quarterly, in January, April, July, and October. Each number contains 80 or more octavo pages of valuable and interesting matter concerning the History, Antiquities, Genealogy, and Biography of America, printed on durable paper made especially for the Society, with an engraved portrait. Complete indexes to each volume appear with the January number of the following year. Subscription, $3.00 per year in advance, commencing in January. Current single numbers, $1.00. Supplement to April number, $1.00. Prices of complete sets, old volumes, and single numbers quoted on application. Undelivered numbers advertised promptly at regular rates.

Consolidated Index of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Vols. 1-50. Index of Persons (4 to 50), Index of Subjects, and Index of Places. Price $3 for complete work, bound in cloth, 4 vols., $15.

The Register with the Consolidated Index is indispensable to family historians, genealogists, and all persons seeking information about American families. The number of complete sets in existence is limited, and their value is constantly increasing.

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCHES IN ENGLAND

Directed and Conducted by

EBEN PUTNAM

More than thirty years experience in genealogical work of every character

Address: Box 3077, Boston, Mass.

Massachusetts Vital Records.—The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has discontinued the purchase and free distribution of printed Vital Records of Massachusetts towns prior to 1850, the act providing for such purchase and distribution having been repealed. The New England Historic Genealogical Society, however, has decided to continue this important series of publications, provided that enough subscriptions are secured to warrant the undertaking. A circular giving full particulars will be sent on request. Address the Committee on Publications, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, Mass.

See also page 32 of the REGISTER of January, 1919.

The New England Historic Genealogical Society needs substantial increases of endowment and income, in order to prosecute its work with vigor and to accomplish the objects for which it was founded. Its officers will gladly confer with anyone desiring to create memorial funds by gift or bequest, the income of which shall be used to promote the objects of the Society.

The New England Historic Genealogical Society is prepared to undertake the compilation and publication in book form of genealogies of American families. Those wishing to arrange for the publication of genealogies already compiled, for the completion of genealogies already begun, or for the entire work of compiling and publishing are invited to confer with the Committee on Publications, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, Mass.

Owing to the large number of letters received by the officers of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, asking for genealogical or other information, to answer which satisfactorily would in many cases require extended investigations, it has become impossible for them to give personal attention to such inquiries, nor is it practicable to refer these letters to any of the assistants in the employ of the Society, because their time is occupied fully by their regular duties. The officers, however, are glad to help those seeking information by calling attention to the expert services of the genealogists, book dealers, printers and publishers, engravers and photographers, manufacturers of paper, etc., who advertise in the following pages. Inquirers should make their own business arrangements with those whose names are given below, as the Society assumes NO responsibility in the matter.

THE REGISTER

The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, established in 1847 and published quarterly, in January, April, July, and October. Each number contains eighty or more octavo pages of valuable and interesting matter concerning the History, Antiquities, Genealogy, and Biography of America, printed on durable paper made especially for the Society, with an engraved portrait. Complete indexes to each volume appear with the January number of the following year. Subscription, $5.00 per year in advance, commencing in January. Current single numbers, $1.00. Supplement to April number, $1.00. Prices of complete sets, odd volumes, and single numbers quoted on application. Unobjectionable advertisements accepted at reasonable rates.

Consolidated Index of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Vols. 1-50. Index of Persons (A to Z), Index of Subjects, and Index of Places. Price for the complete work, bound in cloth, 4 vols., $100.

The Register with its Consolidated Index is indispensable to family historians, genealogists, and all persons seeking information about American families. The number of complete sets in existence is limited, and their value is constantly increasing.

The New England Historic Genealogical Society needs substantial increases of endowment and income, in order to prosecute its work with vigor and to accomplish the objects for which it was founded. Its officers will gladly confer with anyone desiring to create memorial funds by gift or bequest, the income of which shall be used to promote the objects of the Society. The fee for Resident Membership is $10 for each calendar year, the fee for Life Membership is $100, and the fee for Pilgrim Tercentenary Membership, open only until the end of 1920 and transmissible at decease by will or written order, is $300. The REGISTER is sent free to members.

The New England Historic Genealogical Society is prepared to undertake the compilation and publication in book form of genealogies of American families. Those wishing to arrange for the publication of genealogies already compiled, for the completion of genealogies already begun, or for the entire work of compiling and publishing, are invited to confer with the Committee on Publications, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, Mass.

Owing to the large number of letters received by the officers of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, asking for genealogical or other information, to answer which satisfactorily would in many cases require extended investigations, it has become impossible for them to give personal attention to such inquiries, nor is it practicable to refer these letters to any of the assistants in the employ of the Society, because their time is occupied fully by their regular duties. The officers, however, are glad to help those seeking information by calling attention to the expert services of the genealogists, book dealers, printers and publishers, engravers and photographers, manufacturers of paper, etc., who advertise in the following pages. Inquirers should make their own business arrangements with those whose names are given below, as the Society assumes NO responsibility in the matter.

THE REGISTER

The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, established in 1847 and published quarterly, in January, April, July, and October. Each number contains eighty or more octavo pages of valuable and interesting matter concerning the History, Antiquities, Genealogy, and Biography of America, printed on durable paper made especially for the Society, with an engraved portrait. Complete indexes to each volume appear with the January number of the following year. Subscription, $5.00 per year in advance, commencing in January. Current single numbers, $1.00. Supplement to April number, $1.00. Prices of complete sets, odd volumes, and single numbers quoted on application. Unobjectionable advertisements accepted at reasonable rates.

Consolidated Index of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Vols. 1-50. Index of Persons (A to Z), Index of Subjects, and Index of Places. Price for the complete work, bound in cloth, 4 vols., $100.

The Register with its Consolidated Index is indispensable to family historians, genealogists, and all persons seeking information about American families. The number of complete sets in existence is limited, and their value is constantly increasing.

ENGLISH RESEARCH

Genealogical Gleanings in England, by Henry FitzGilbert Waters, A.M. These Gleanings abound in clues, which, if properly followed up, will enable the genealogist to pursue in the mother country investigations which without such aid would be practically impossible. 2 vols., 1643 pages. Cloth. $10.00

Abstracts of Wills in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, at Somerset House, London, England. Register Soame, 1620. The volume contains, in 607 pages, 1366 wills, comprising about 40,000 names of persons and over 10,000 names of places. $6.00

Emigrants. Emigrants from England, 1773–1776. 1913. 206 pages. $4.00

Emigrants. List of Emigrants to America from Liverpool, 1697–1707. 1913. 55 pages. $1.00

Research in England. An essay to aid the student. Lea. 1905. 36 pages. $1.00

VITAL RECORDS

Massachusetts Vital Records. The Births, Marriages, and Deaths recorded in towns in Massachusetts, from their founding to the year 1850, taken from the original records of the town, arranged in alphabetical order, printed on paper made especially for the Society, and bound in cloth. These books are most useful to those seeking genealogical information about ancestors who lived in these towns.

PRICE LIST, 1920

THE REGISTER

The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, established in 1847 and published quarterly, in January, April, July, and October. Each number contains 96 or more octavo pages of valuable and interesting matter concerning the History, Antiquities, Genealogy, and Biography of America, printed on strong white paper made especially for the Society, with an engraved portrait. Complete volumes to each volume appear with the January number of the following year. Subscription, $3.00 per year in advance, commencing in January. Current single numbers, $1.00. Back numbers to April number, $1.00. From that to complete sets, odd volumes and single numbers quoted on application. Contributors receive advertisements accepted at two cents a line.

Consolidated Index of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Vols. 1-50. Index of Persons (A to B), Index of Subjects, and Index of Places. Price for the complete work, bound in cloth, 4 vols., $20.00.

The Register with its Consolidated Index is indispensable to family genealogists, genealogy, and all persons seeking information about American families. The number of complete sets in existence is limited, and their value is constantly increasing.

Owing to the large number of letters received by the officers of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, asking for genealogical or other information, to answer which satisfactorily would in many cases require extended investigations, it has become impossible for them to give personal attention to such inquiries, nor is it practicable to refer these letters to any of the assistants in the employ of the Society, because their time is occupied fully by their regular duties. The officers, however, are glad to help those seeking information by calling attention to the expert services of the genealogists, book dealers, printers and publishers, engravers and photographers, manufacturers of paper, etc., who advertise in the following pages. Inquirers should make their own business arrangements with those whose names are given below, as the Society assumes NO responsibility in the matter.
